STARTLING HITLER DOWNFALL RUMOUR

VON PAPEN IN CONTROL!

NEW YORK SCARE YARNS HIT MARKETS

OFFICIAL DENIAL

Startling rumours of a fresh crop of sensational developments in Germany were given wide publicity in the United States yesterday.

It was stated that Hitler, while remaining as the virtual head of the government, had been overthrown and that Von Papen was in real control.

Another startling story boosted the number of deaths since the night of June 30 to over 2,000, and it was suggested that the revolt had not been terminated but was still causing grave anxiety in the German Government.

News of these alleged fresh difficulties in Germany, which have not been confirmed, caused a serious adverse effect on the stock exchange and the commodity markets, particularly wheat, although they rallied when an official denial was issued.

ECHOES OF JUNE 30

CHANGE IN NAZI ECONOMIC POLICY

STRASSER'S SONS AND HITLER

Berlin, July 19.
An important change in Nazi administration was announced to-day.

Count von Dergold is the new leader of Germany's economic life in succession to Dr. Kessler.

It may be recalled that Herr Hitler has been struggling with Big Business recently following objections to the trend of the Nazi economic policy under Dr. Kessler's direction.

Meanwhile, a small black urn containing the ashes of the late Nazi leader, Gregor Strasser, at one time one of Hitler's friends, has been handed to his widow, but not the gold ring he was wearing on the fateful night of June 30, nor other possessions.

His sons have now returned to Herr Hitler the gold watches which Hitler, as their godfather, had given them.—Reuter.

$30,000,000 Lost In Five Years

U.S. MILLIONAIRE'S ESTATE

New York, July 19.
The late Mr. Harry Payne Whitney, millionaire banker and race-horse owner, left gross estate valued at $72,740,000, over $14,000,000.

The net personalty is valued at $62,808,000.

Owing to the business and industrial depression throughout the United States in the last five years, the estate has shrunk. It is estimated, by at least thirty per cent, as the result of the decline in the value of certain securities which were valued at $64,156,000.

The chief beneficiaries under the will of the famous banker are the widow, Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney, also a keen race-owner, and their three children, Cornelius, Flora and Barbara.—Reuter.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. C.W.F. BOOKER

FATAL COLLAPSE IN ROOM

Many residents will hear with deep regret of the death of Mr. C. W. F. Booker, manager of Messrs. Bishop and Lacey, Ltd., Exchange Building, which occurred suddenly at the Gloucester Building in the early hours of this morning.

The late Mr. Booker had been a resident of Gloucester Building for about a month, and had latterly been in different health. Yesterday he complained of feeling very ill, and it is thought that his condition was aggravated by the heat.

In the early hours of this morning, a night boy on duty saw Mr. Booker go to the lavatory and later heard a sound from his room as if he had collapsed. The manager was called and on the room being entered Mr. Booker was found lying on the floor in a state of extreme collapse.

A naval doctor resident in the building, and others, rendered assistance but despite all that could be done, Mr. Booker succumbed.

The late Mr. Booker, who was a bachelor, came to Hongkong in 1931 from Manchester as a piece-goods expert to join Messrs. Steger and Co. Later he was for a brief time with Messrs. John Manners and Co., but he left them to become manager of Messrs. Bishop and Lacey.

During his residence in the Colony, Mr. Booker made many friends, who will deeply deplore his death. He was a member of the Royal Hongkong Golf Club, being an enthusiastic player, and had figured in many competitions.

Victim of a chopper attack, Cheung Chu, living at 53 Young Choi Street, Shamshui, was admitted to hospital yesterday with a severe scalp wound. His assailant has eluded arrest.

Upton Sinclair

Banned In Germany

UPTON SINCLAIR ON THE "INDEX"

Berlin, July 19.

Upton Sinclair's works have been banned throughout Germany on the orders of Dr. Goebbels, the Minister of Propaganda.

All available copies within the Reich are being confiscated.

No official explanation is forthcoming, but it is assumed that Sinclair's recent strictures of the Hitler Regime are responsible.

Upton Sinclair is a series of vigorous Socialist novels, painting in lurid colours the vice, lawlessness and corruption that permeate many walks of life in the United States.

His books have been banned on many occasions in the United States. His first sensational exposure of the conditions in the Chicago meatyards, "The Jungle," failed to find a publisher and was denied transmission by the Post Office.

The Boston Police banned his 1927 book "Oil," dealing with the scandals of the Harding Administration. Sinclair countered by selling the book openly in the streets of Boston, but the police refused to arrest him.

He is standing this year for the Governorship of California.—Reuter.

FOREIGN LENDING BY BRITAIN

Mr. Neville Chamberlain Indicates Concession

London, July 19.

In the course of a statement made in response to a question as to whether he would consider relaxing the present restrictions on foreign lending, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, said that the "actual amount of foreign lending at the present time would, in no circumstances, be great and that it was easy to form exaggerated views as to the effect of the embargo.

As regards the future, he was satisfied that it would not be in the public interest that the existing restrictions should be removed at present, but even under present conditions, the Government would be ready to consider particular cases, especially those falling under the following heads:—

Firstly, sterling issues by a country which the sterling bloc where the loan was required to increase the sterling assets of that country and so to minimise fluctuations in exchange.

Secondly, sterling issues on behalf of any borrower where the proceeds were calculated mainly to produce a direct benefit to British industry.

CALLED OFF BY COMMITTEE

THE GENERAL STRIKE APPEARS TO HAVE COLLAPSED, DESPITE THE EFFORTS OF THE RADICAL LABOUR WING TO PERSUADE THE LESS MILITANT GROUPS TO CONTINUE THE FIGHT.

A fierce battle of wits occurred at to-day's meeting of the General Strike Committee and at the conclusion the verdict in favour of calling off the general strike was a mere seventeen, votes, 191 to 174. A turnover of nine would have upset a favourable decision.

This hardly reflects the attitude of the men themselves, who have gone back to work, in many cases, on the run, metaphorically.

First reports suggested that the Labour Unions had voted to end the strike. This was interpreted to mean that the longshoremen were going back also, but it was later disclosed that the Strike Committee had merely recommended workers to return, which probably will affect only the sympathy strikes, leaving the longshoremen as before.

STRIKE ORGANISERS' COMMUNIQUE

A unique issued by the Secretary-General of the Strike Committee, indicates that President Roosevelt's National Longshoremen's Board has undertaken that the Maritime Unions shall be fully considered in the arbitration, and that it was as a result of this undertaking that the general strike has been called off.

The General Strike Committee now pledges every resource, financial and moral, towards the termination of the waterfront strike.

RETURNING TO NORMAL

Thousands of sympathy strikers have already returned to work and conditions in the city are rapidly assuming a normal appearance.

The municipal tramways are now working without escorts.

It is a strange thing that in the past twenty-four hours they have carried 300,000 passengers—a record for a single day!

FOOD BLOCKADE RAISED

The food blockade has also been raised completely. Countless lorries laden with supplies have arrived in the strike area and it is regarded as a good sign of the temper prevailing that none of these lorries, although moving without escorts, has been molested.

TROOP WITHDRAWAL REQUESTED

Later. The General Strike Committee have issued a further resolution requesting, in the interests of peace and good will, that all State Troops should be withdrawn from all cities for an indefinite period.

It was also resolved that the Committee will not be dissolved until the President of the Committee decides.

PUBLIC OPINION

It is generally conceded that the strike has been brought to an end by the force of public opinion, as the citizens of San Francisco revolted against taking orders from self-constituted authorities.

The Labour leaders apparently saw their power weakening on all sides and were impressed by the growing public resentment aroused by the discomforts and annoyances attendant on the strike.

STAMPEDE TO WORK

Practically a stampede to work broke out after the news that the strike was over, while the people

ANOTHER FIGHT BREWING

FORCIBLE OPENING OF OREGON

NATIONAL GUARD CALLED IN

Portland, July 19.

Another test of strength between strikers and military forces threatens to develop in Portland, Oregon.

The Governor of the State has decided to support forcible measures for the opening of the port.

It is indicated that the Governor has ordered the mobilization of the National Guard "for the protection of life and property in the event of a strike riot."

It is stated that the Governor was notified by the waterfront employers that they intend to proceed with the wholesale loading of vessels and with the forcible opening of the port for commerce.

The Mayor and other authorities informed the Government that they will be unable to cope with the situation which will be produced by any attempt forcibly to resume the loading and discharging of cargo in the strike-bound waters of Portland.—Reuter.

Mr. Y. C. Koo, the Chinese Government representative, gave the Committee supplementary information on the economic situation in China and on the methods that have been adopted to improve it.—Reuter.

GUARD ALRY.
FATSHAN SING AFFAIR
AT SONS

Jealousy over position of a fellow guard to the Fatshan Sing, a Sikh guard, alleged by the latter to be the reason why Sarwan, a Sikh guard, faced charges ending with the Chief Justice, Mr. A. MacGregor, at the Criminal Court yesterday.

Accused was charged with Thakur Singh, the chest with a revolver, who was proceeding from in to Hongkong on April 12.

Mr. J. A. F. Assistant Attorney General, presided over the trial. The jury was empaneled: Messrs. S. Rossetti (foreman), J. D. Laird, A. E. Abington, Andrew C. Yau-ken, S. E. Green, Chao-few, J. F. Richmond.

Accused did not testify to both counts.

Narrating circumstances leading up to the charge, Mr. Fraser said there were six guards on the boat, including the parties mentioned above, and that Singh, who was temporarily in charge of the guard.

Through Grille.

The quon arose of filling the position of the guard, and the position was put in by Musa Singh (a money-lender, but formerly guard), Ganga Singh (who was supplied by Thakur Singh, apparently accused).

On the question, accused changed sides with the forward guard, and went on to say that Ganga Singh and Thakur Singh later came on board, accused opened the iron grill leading forward and told them, fully, as it later transpired, that the officer wished to speak to them. He then retreated back through the grill. The two men came up to the grill and accused then placed his revolver and shot Thakur.

The wounded man staggered away and was later found, seriously injured, in the starboard side of the vessel.

Ganga Singh was accused and when the Second Officer and the Third Engineer came out of their cabins, he wrested the revolver from Sarwan, who was then put under arrest.

Permanent Injury.

A passing ship was signalled to wire the Hongkong Police to meet the Fatshan at Hongkong, and the Chinese reporter who was on board found a spent bullet on the starboard side, and this was produced to have fallen from the injured man's clothes after penetrating his body.

Thakur Singh was taken to the hospital, where he remained seven and a half weeks, being discharged with a permanent injury to his lung.

The defence was that of "frustrated love" and did not remember the incident.

The Crown's case was, however, that he was quite sane shortly before the shooting, when he changed guard and made his application for the post of Sergeant, and that there was strong presumption that he was sane when he shot Thakur.

Double Dose.

Dr. Thomas, of the Government Civil Hospital, said he saw accused about midnight on the day of the shooting, at the Mental Ward of the hospital. Sarwan was excited and said he had been taking opium for seven years but had the previous day taken a two dollar dose, which was twice his usual amount.

He added that he had shot an Indian guard, because he did not want him to be promoted to three stripes. Accused said he never took opium, and there was no smell of alcohol about him. Accused seemed to have a good recollection of what had happened.

Dr. J. Valentine, of the Government Civil Hospital gave evidence of Thakur's injury and said it was very serious, and almost a fatal one. He had had accused under observation and thought his behaviour perfectly rational. On April 12 he did not think his condition was consistent with his having taken an overdose of opium the previous day.

His Lordship suggested that, if, after the shooting, accused had no recollection of it, but was told of what had happened by others, he might relate their version to the doctors as his own recollection.

Witness agreed that this was possible but his impression was that accused actually did remember the incident himself.

Evidence was then taken, and the hearing was adjourned.

CINEMA SCREENINGS
NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Kay Francis comes on Sunday to the Alhambra in her latest starring picture for Warner Bros., "The House on 56th Street," a colourful drama based on the novel by Joseph Sanley. Miss Francis plays the part of one of the most beautiful and most popular of Broadway butterfly chorus girls whose beauty and charm got her into trouble. The characterization is said to be most dramatic role of her career, the romance and the tragedies in the life of this show girl giving Miss Francis the opportunity to run the gamut in emotional expression. The story centres about the unusual incidents in a mansion on 56th Street, built by a millionaire New York club-buff, for his chorus girl bride. At the height of her happiness, the young wife is torn from husband and home and sent to prison on a charge of murdering a former lover though innocent. Later she returns to the same house, as mistress of Black Jack, a gambler, who takes place in the famous old Casino Theatre, now only a memory, at the time when Floradora was the most popular musical show of the day, at Sherry's and Delmonico's and other rendezvous of the Broadway play boys of the early part of the century. The story then leaps across the years covered by the World War and comes down to modern times, ending up with a spectacular denouement in the 56th Street house. Miss Francis is supported by a sterling cast of notable players including Ricardo Cortez, Gene Raymond, John Halliday, Margaret Lindsay, Frank McHugh, Sheila Terry and William Boyd. Robert Florey directed the picture.

Murder in Trinidad.

Heather Angel has been looking for a new girl friend. Rather lonely following her arrival from England under contract to Fox Film, she finally found a girl to chum with when "Pat" Paterson arrived in Hollywood to appear on now "Pat" Paterson has married, eloped to Yuma, Arizona, with Charles Royer, Fox Film's newly arrived French star. Miss Angel, small brunette, and dainty, is playing her fourth successive leading role in "Murder in Trinidad," now playing at the King's Theatre, which provides Nigel Bruce with his first real introduction in American films, and with Victor Jory, already well established on the screen in the States.

"Spitfire"

Heralded as Katharine Hepburn's best and most unique screen role to date, RKO-Radio Pictures' drama of the Caroline mountaineers, "Spitfire," comes to the King's Theatre next Sunday. An adaptation of "Spitfire," a story of a beautiful mountain "witch" whose naive, temperamental and personality combine wickedness and purity, tirades and beneficent prayers, lies and truth, thefts and philanthropies, hate and all-consuming love. Miss Hepburn is said to give after realising to this, incredibly stimulating character and to bring such dynamic power to her interpretation of this difficult role as no other star could. An excellent supporting cast includes Ralph Bellamy, Robert Young, Louis Mason, Sarah Haden and others. John Cromwell directed.

"Lady Killer"

A picture within a picture may aptly describe James Cagney's latest for Warner Bros., "Lady Killer," which is now at the Queen's Theatre, for in it Cagney appears as a motion picture star. While many in Hollywood recognize in the role that Cagney plays the counterpart of another male star in pictures, who actually rose to screen prominence by the very methods that Cagney uses to attain stardom in "Lady Killer," the important feature about the latest Cagney opus is the fact that in his new role he is called upon to portray as a movie actor the very roles that has led to his present popularity in pictures. In other words, he appears in "Lady Killer" first as a gangster who flees to Hollywood in an effort to get away from his former mates and from the police who desire to question him. Mac Clarke, who two years ago helped Cagney spring to fame in "Public Enemy" by standing for the pushing of a grape-fruit into her face, again is on the receiving end of the typical Cagney maneuver when it comes to handling refractory "moll" sweethearts who refuse to be dropped. Margaret Lindsay plays the role of leading lady to Cagney, the movie star. Others in the cast include Leslie Fenton, Raymond Hatton, Douglas

Dumbrille and George Blackwood. Roy Del Ruth directed.

"Massacre"

Richard Barthelmess' latest First National picture, "Massacre," which is showing at the Alhambra Theatre, brings to the screen a story not only packed with dramatic action and colourful spectacle but a unique romance different from the usual film fare. While it paints with stark realism and uncompromising adherence to facts the conflict of the half savage Redman with the civilization of the whites, it also catches all the picturesque spirit of an ancient race with its quaint and authentic tribal customs, its religious rites and ceremonial dances. Richard Barthelmess gives a virile performance as a young, educated Sioux brave who begins life as a swashbuckling circus rider, egotistically and insolently flaunting his masculine charms before a wealthy white society girl who has lionized him because of her yearning for new thrills. Ann Dvorak plays the role of the Indian maid with a directness and simplicity that is highly commendable, while Claire Dodd is equally fascinating as the blonde and polished society girl who rolls her flirtatious eyes at the Indian brave.

"An Husband's Go"

Invested with a human understanding that delves deeply into the hearts of its people, Fox Film's latest release, "An Husband's Go," will prove to be an unmistakable joy to patrons of the Alhambra Theatre next week.

A story that is as smart and witty as dialogue that is as true and human, "An Husband's Go" as one of the outstanding films of the year. Rachel Crothera who is responsible for such hits as "Let Us Be Gay" and "When Ladies Meet" again proves herself to be a master in the art of writing. Her master from which the picture was taken was a tremendous success on Broadway, and Fox Film has really done credit to itself in producing it so well for the screen. Warner Baxter, in the starring role, gives an even better performance than he did in his last three triumphs. The other members of the cast include Eleanor Lyn and Jay O'Connor. Eleanor Lyn and Jay Ward, acquit themselves with distinction under the able direction of Hamilton MacFadden.

"I Cover the Waterfront"

SOPHIE KERR'S LATEST SUCCESS IN ROMANTIC PROBLEM FICTION "STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

When HOWARD JACKSON, young geology professor, comes to the small middle-western town of Marburg, Kansas, the prettiest girl in town, determined to win his heart. Howard is attracted by Jane's friend, AMY LOWE, but Jane schemes to keep them apart. Then one evening Howard calls on Amy and almost immediately they fall in love. Later that night Jane confronts Howard and accuses him of breaking her heart. When he tries to calm her she interprets his words as a declaration of love and announces their engagement. A day later Howard is trying to explain to Amy what happened when Jane sees them together. She flies into a rage. Howard tells Jane he does not and never did want to marry her and that it is Amy he loves. Jane leaves. Amy admits her love for Howard and agrees to marry him.

CHAPTER VII

Miss Rosa went with Jane to the late afternoon train and waited with her in the big empty station. "I know I ought to go along with you," she said at last, "just for a few days to get you settled." "If you went with me I'd get off at the next station and go somewhere else. I don't want you or anyone else."

"Don't strike out at me, my dear, because of your own suffering," said Miss Rosa. "That doesn't help. I'm doing all I can." Jane went on with cruel intention. "You'll be as glad to get rid of me as I am to go. We've never been very fond of each other, have we, Aunt Rosa? You don't care about anything but playing bridge and having nice fattening meals and making the house look a little better-kept than anybody else's. I suppose you're too old to know how young people feel, really."

"Maybe I am," said Miss Rosa wearily. "Anyway, Jane, I did the best I could with my limitations. I'm very fond of you, even if you don't believe it, and it fairly tears me to see you like this—" "Will you stop nagging me!" "Your train's coming in." She hugged Jane's stiff, resistant shoulders and kissed her on both cheeks. "Dear child, anything you want of me, any time, I'm always here."

And write to me, even if it's nothing but a card—" But Jane had pulled away from the embrace and was hurrying out to the train. The porter swung up her bag. Her trunk was slammed into the baggage car three coaches ahead. Miss Rosa watched, more unhappy and perturbed than she had ever been in her whole life.

All the way back to the house Miss Rosa was miserable with defeat. "I shouldn't have let her go," she thought. "I ought to have insisted that she stay here and face it. But she would surely have done something desperate. There's a kind of power in Jane. She made me let her go off entirely against my better judgment. I don't suppose she has the least idea of studying anywhere. Oh, Lord, what a hard time parents must have!"

Jane, by now some 50 miles away, was for the moment unaware of her advantages. The energy that had started her on this determined flight had gone. She sat crumpled in the seat, seeing nothing but Howard Jackson looking at Amy, hearing nothing but his voice saying to Amy, "I love you."

Never afterward in her life was she able to recall any detail of that journey, how she reached the hotel nor how she spent the first few days of her stay, for she was suspended in pain and unreality. The truth was that she stayed in her room most of the time, lying in bed or sitting by the window, while the management, only partly reassured by messages from Miss Rosa, kept an uneasy watch on her, sending in maids on unnecessary errands, while the housekeeper lingered nervously in the hall for their reports. Jane did not know it. But she did know that after a while she began to come alive and to feel that she must do something.

Accordingly she went out for a walk, looking into shop windows at first blankly, then with a faint interest quickened by the sight of clothes and trinkets superior to anything Marburg could offer. She began to feel a small importance, to see herself as a very attractive, well-dressed, independent young woman with any sort of interesting career she might choose open before her.

Presently she came to the park and strolled in a little way to rest in its greenness. The important feeling subsided, leaving a flatness in its place and great loneliness.

Various other strollers, mostly elderly men, glanced at her with speculative admiration, all of them only too ready and willing to start conversation. Jane saw that and it pleased her. It brought back her feeling of importance and an increased dislike of inactivity.

She must vindicate herself. She must do something quickly to show her superiority to Amy and all the meagre, stupid life of Marburg, and to take Howard Jackson realize what he had lost. A vague, brilliant vision of herself returning to dazzle and to condescend rose in her mind, but she could not evolve any definite guide toward its realization. There must be something she could study with immediate results and she would find out at once.

But the registrar's office of the Columbia summer school was baffled by Jane and bewildered by her. No, she didn't want a course of Chaucer or any other early English literature. No more did she want Romance languages. Or Greek history. Or renaissance art. Or pedagogy of any variety.

One of the secretaries, more observant than the others, had seen the tight nerves, the despairing eagerness behind Jane's apparent aimlessness and took her aside. "Look here," she said kindly, "why do you bother with this sort of thing? It's mostly for teachers, you know. You seem to me, I don't know exactly why, but you do seem to me to be looking for something quite practical, outside the field of education. Why don't you take a course in one of these high-grade secretarial schools and get into some business—publishing or advertising, maybe? My sister went to one and she's done awfully well, got a position as secretary to the editor of a big magazine and worked herself onto the staff. I'll give you a couple of addresses."

It was the first line of direction Jane had found and she probably would not have followed it but one of the schools was near her hotel. She passed it as she went back there and after a moment's hesitation returned and entered. It was a competent place with more than a suggestion of swagger. At once Jane felt herself at ease. She was understood. She caught their possibilities. She liked the very smart frock and make-up, the detached capability of the director, Miss Jardine. In no time at all she was enrolled for as much work as she could induce them to heap upon her. "You simply can't do all these things at once," Miss Jardine told her, breaking through her cool elegance for a human moment.

"Oh, yes I can. I must," Jane replied and was gratified by the impression she was making.

That night she wrote two letters. One was to her aunt, an answer to the letters and telegrams which poor Miss Rosa had been heaping on her ever since her arrival and which Jane, so far, had not noticed. "You needn't worry about me," wrote Jane. "I am perfectly all right. I've settled everything. I went up to the University but they were a lot of old dodos and all they could offer were dead dull courses, mostly a sort of rehash of the Venerable Bede and the Doomsday Book and other antiquated out-of-date stuff, nothing that interested me at all. So I determined to take a course in one of the modern secretarial schools and I am starting to-morrow. Don't get the idea that it's nothing but short hand and typewriting. It's quite different—the sort of work that leads at once to positions in publishing houses or big advertising agencies. I wish you'd send me everything of mine that I didn't bring along—my books and my pillows and pictures and the lacquer box on the table in my room and my large mirror."

She had written that last to make clear to her aunt—and to herself—that she was done with Marburg and was never going back to it.

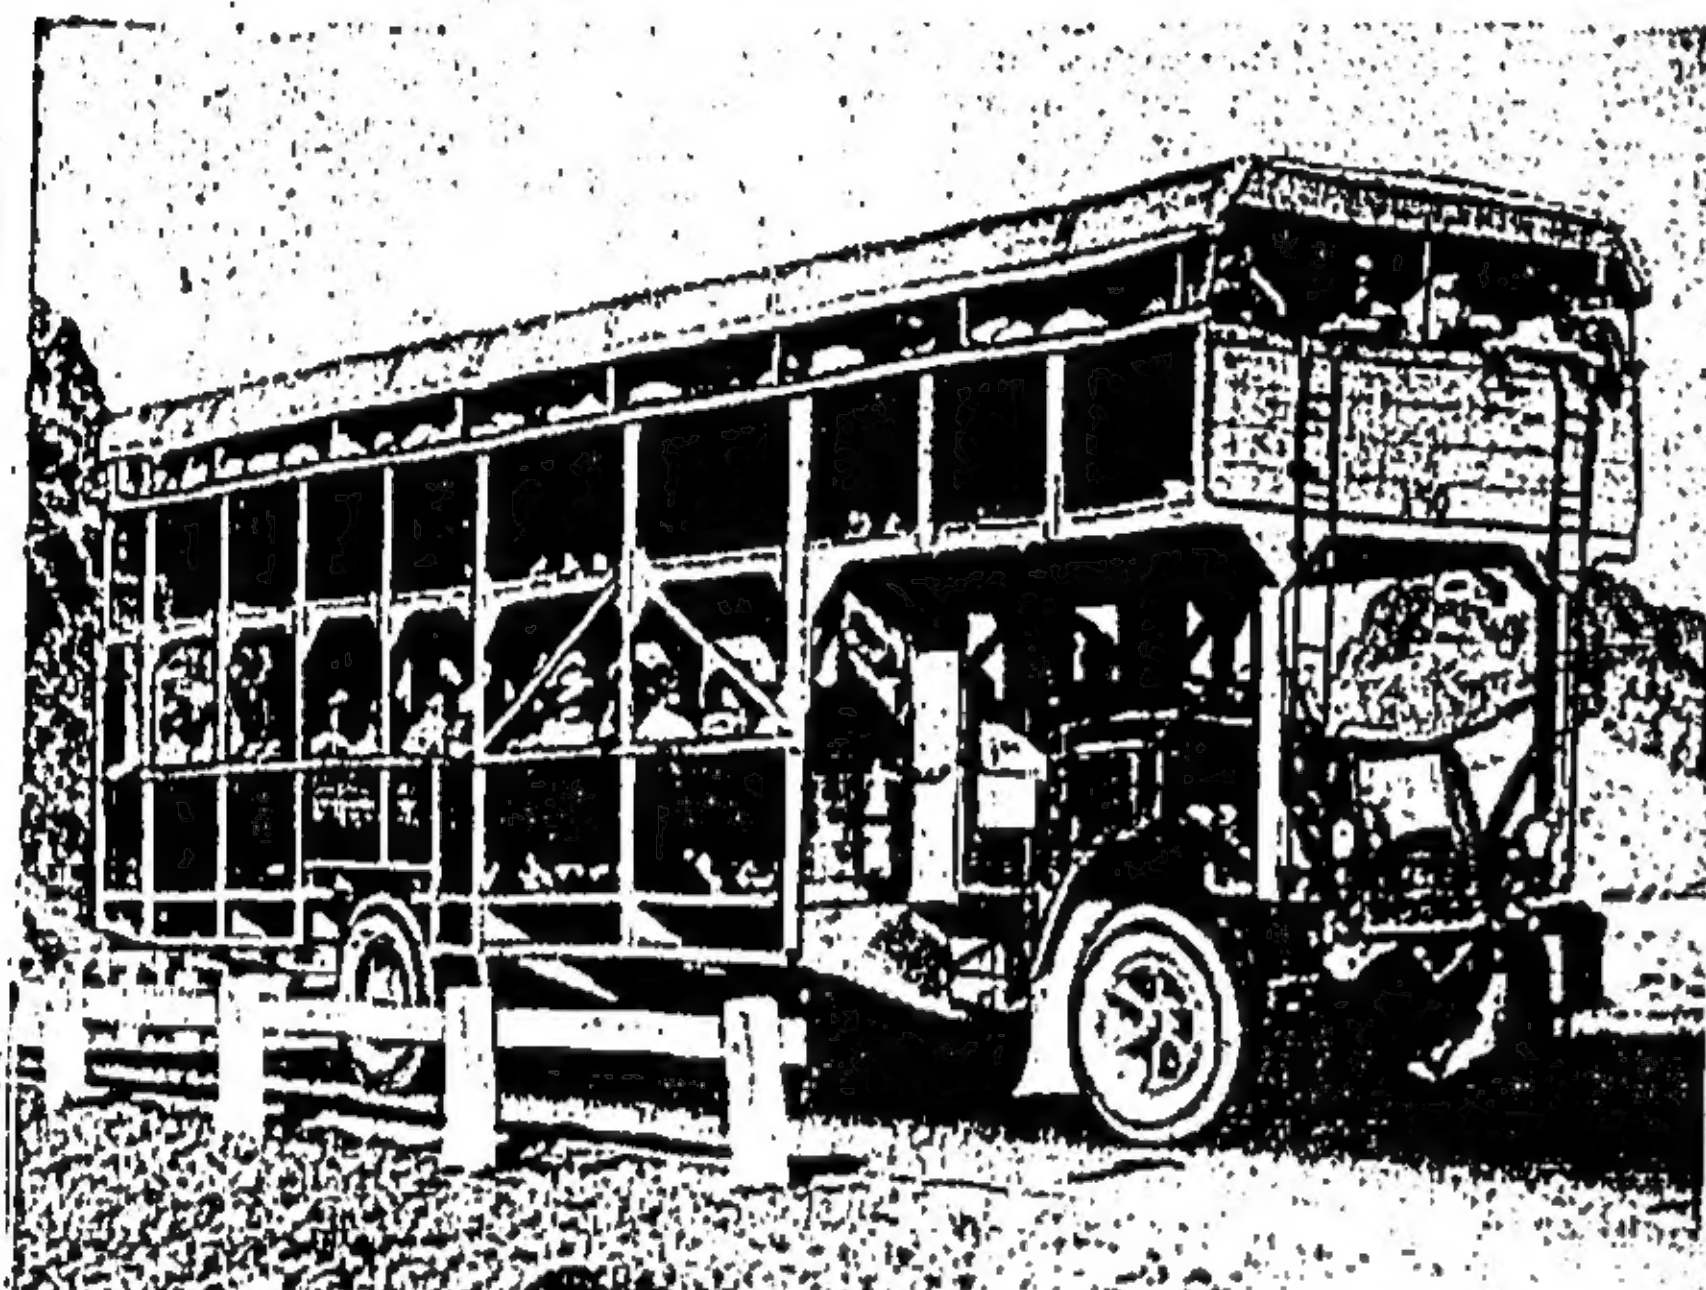

But over the second letter she hesitated. Ever since that morning in the chapel she had been beset with the wish to revenge herself on Amy, spoil her happiness if she could. The letter, ready at last, after many crossings out and changes, was far from consistent but Jane could do no more with it. She copied it in a spontaneous, dashing hand.

"My dear Amy: I've been surprised not to hear from you since I left. It seemed to me that the least you owed me was an explanation if you didn't feel quite up to an apology. But I can see how difficult it would be for you to offer either. Really, Amy, I have been your friend so long and thought I knew you so well, but I never in the world could have suspected you of doing what you have done to me."

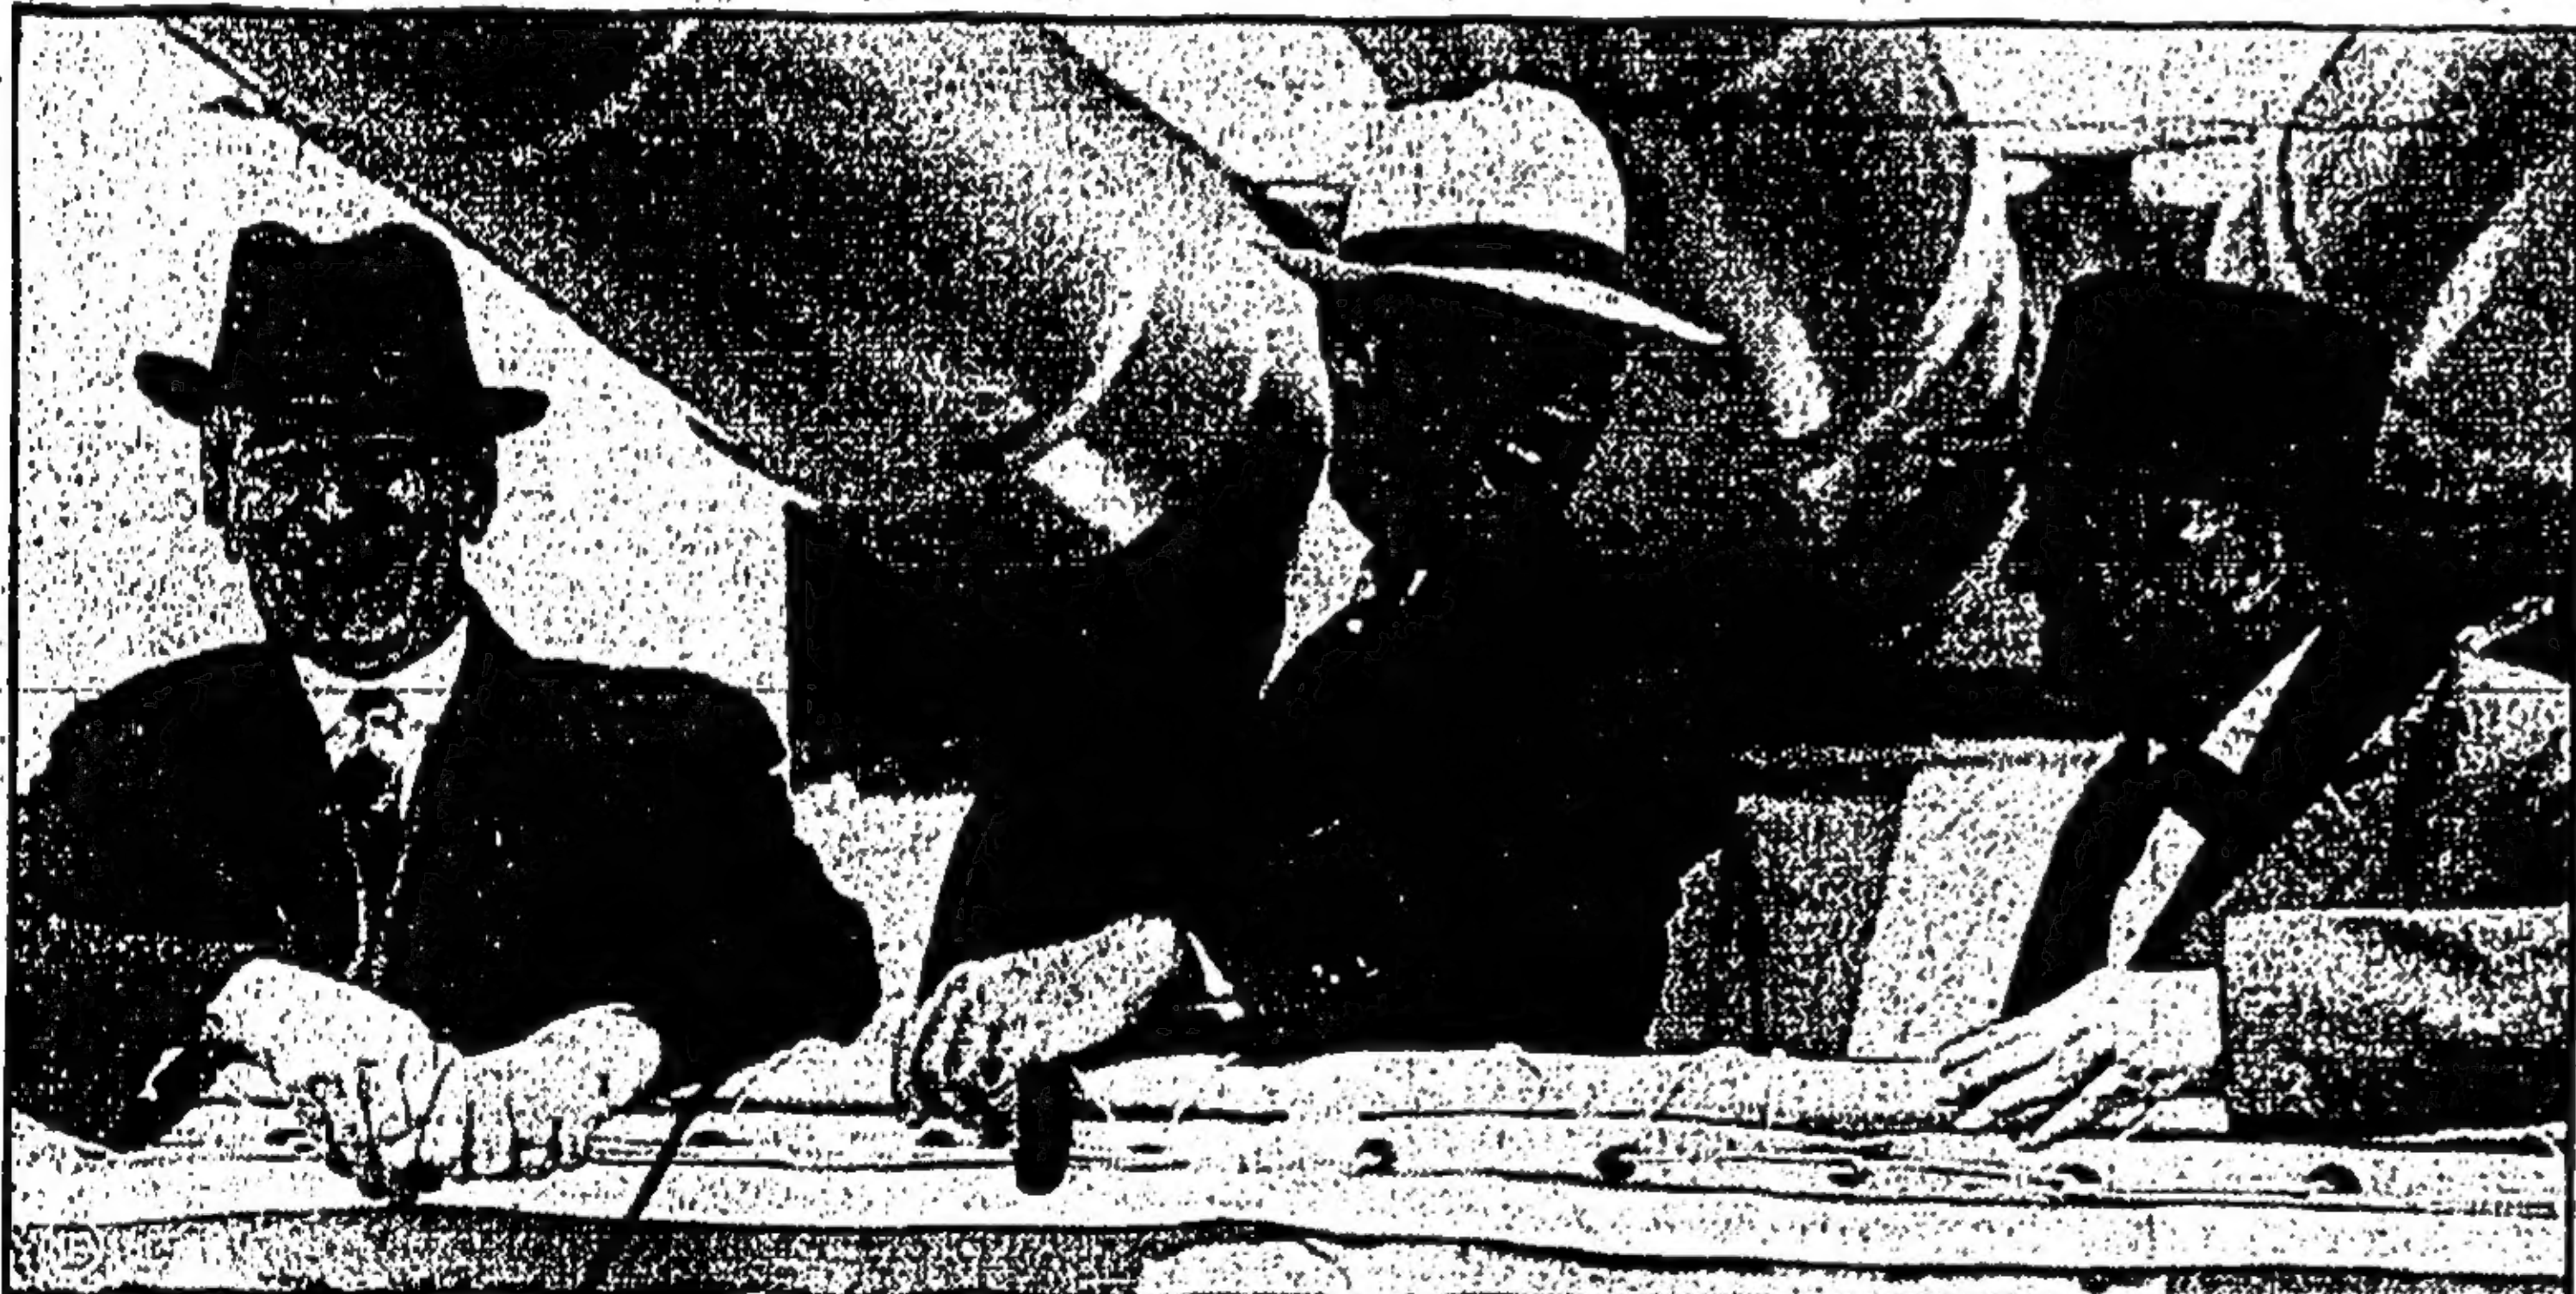

"I want to tell you again that in spite of everything," he may say, Howard Jackson literally pursued me with his attentions and made love to me ardently. Also he certainly did ask me to marry him. I cared for him deeply. I believed in his honour and sincerity and I know him so well that I still believe in them and am still absolutely certain that he cares for me and you have deliberately stepped in to drive us apart. Well, you have succeeded. You have taken away from me the only man I could ever care for—a man who really loved me until you came between us. Fortunately I am strong enough to go on without you, without either of you. But the scar of this wound you have inflicted will always remain."

To Miss Rosa, Jane's letter indicated that Jane was herself again and not utterly broken under the force of her engagement.

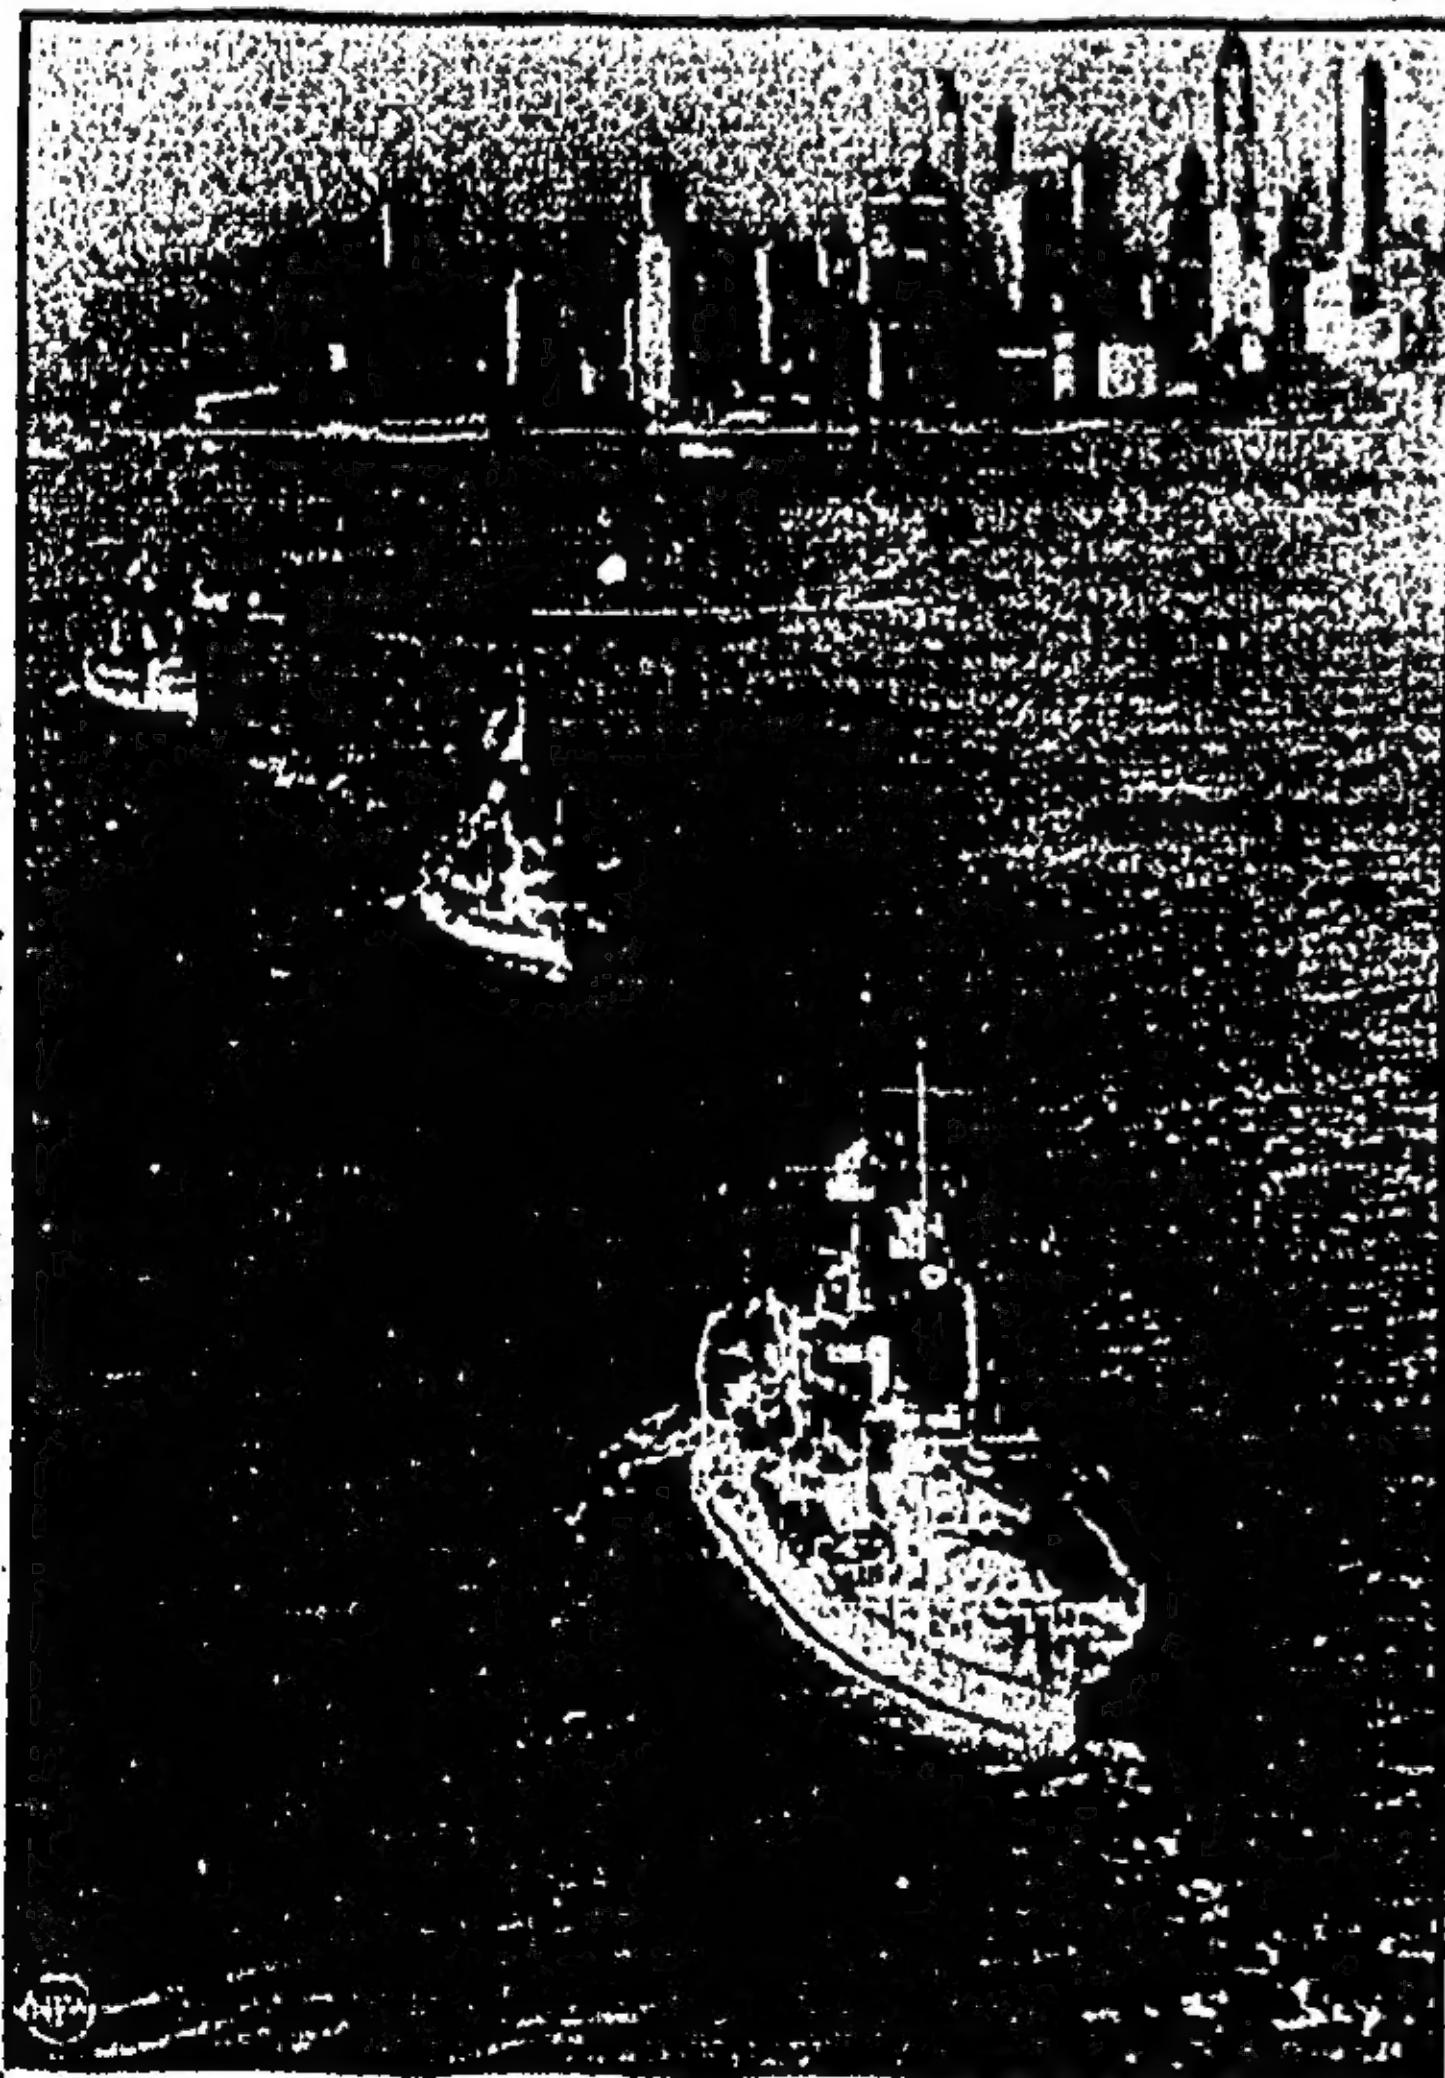

For Amy here was no such comfort. When she saw Jane's letter she did not want to open it; and the actual reading overwhelmed her. She couldn't believe it. How

This bus is said to be the largest passenger bus in the world. It carries 150 passengers and is used on the Boulder Dam project to carry workmen from Boulder City to the Dam site.

As jolly as the jolliest tars in Uncle Sam's navy were President Roosevelt and the two other "big guns" of the great review of the fleet in New York harbour when this striking photo was taken aboard the Indianapolis during manoeuvres. Pictured with the president, centre, who himself was assistant secretary of the navy, are Claude Swanson, left, present secretary of the navy, and Josephus Daniels, right, former secretary of the navy and now ambassador to Mexico.

Man's mightiest creations on sea and land loom impressively in this picture, as New York's colossal skyscrapers look down on the approach of Uncle Sam's fleet. Ships of the line are shown through New York harbour on their anchorage up the Hudson, after President Roosevelt had reviewed the fleet.

In a magnificent spectacle celebrating the greatest U.S. naval review since World War days, Uncle Sam's fleet of battleships, carriers, cruisers and destroyers, sailed down the Hudson in intricate formation, then flew over President Roosevelt's review ship, the Indianapolis, as shown in this impressive picture taken on August 11, 1933, the day the fleet was reviewed.

SAN FRANCISCO STRIKE

EMPLOYERS MEET ON ARBITRATION

San Francisco, July 19.
Shipping company employers opened their conference to-day to consider the Strike Committee's proposal of arbitration.

The Strike Committee passed a resolution advocating arbitration yesterday, despite the protests of the Longshoremen's Union. The Radical Wing insists that the Committee was "packed" with unauthorised delegates who swung the vote in favour of compromise.

The meeting of the employers is highly important in that it is expected to bring about an understanding as to the first steps necessary towards settlement of the general strike.—Reuter.

Washington, Hopeful.

Washington, July 19.
In view of the developments in San Francisco, Washington is inclined to be optimistic.

It is not expected that President Roosevelt will turn back from his holiday in the Pacific aboard the Cruiser Houston, but he has sent a wireless message to Miss Perkins, Secretary of Labour expressing his confidence that common sense methods will evolve an early agreement.—Reuter.

Unauthorized Strike.

Chicago, July 19.
Mr. William Green, President of the American Federation of Labour, has issued a statement that the strike at San Francisco is not authorised by the Federation and has no national labour significance.

This assertion is expected to mitigate the tension elsewhere and prevent any further spread of the walk-out. It may tend to lessen the support the Longshoremen's Union has been given by sympathetic organisations which have joined the strike in the California port.—Reuter.

Strikers Still Support Plan Of Arbitration.

San Francisco, July 19.
A heated meeting of the Strike Committee to-day twice decisively defeated by a majority vote the motion of Harry Bridges, the Australian leader of the extremist section of strikers, for reconsideration of the arbitration recommendation, with a view to prolonging the strike.

Police raids on Communist centres have resulted in about 300 arrests. The District Attorney has asked that all trials of those arrested be delayed until Federal officials can investigate the citizenship of each Radical or Communist with a view to their possible deportation as aliens.

As a result of the Governor of California's appeal to President Roosevelt for action against agitators in the General Strike, Miss Perkins, Secretary of Labour, has instructed the District Immigration Officer at San Francisco to act promptly in any deportation case in which the Immigration Law has been violated.—Reuter.

Crews Work Cargo

San Francisco, July 18.
British steamers calling at San Francisco are loading and unloading freight with their own crews, though a number of ships have omitted their customary call. Tourist traffic has been virtually suspended.

It is estimated that the loss to San Francisco during the seventy-two days on which the longshoremen have been out on strike exceeds $100,000,000.—Reuter.

Guards Open Fire

Portland, Ore., July 19.
Bullets, said to be from the guns of special guards paid by waterfront employers to protect their property, imperilled the Waterfront Strike Investigating Party to-day.

The party, which included Senator Wagner of New York, escaped injury, but a bullet just missed the head of Mr. E. B. Marsh, mediator from the United States Labour Department.

Three guards were arrested.—Reuter.

NORTHERN AFFAIRS.

NO SINO-JAPANESE DAIREN CONFERENCE

Peking, July 19.
On behalf of the Central Government, Mr. Tang Yu-lon, on his arrival here to-day from Nanking, denied reports that Chinese and Japanese delegates are holding a conference at Dairen to discuss North China affairs.

Mr. Tang added that he hoped that General Huang Fu, Chairman of the Peiping Military Council and Pacification Commissioner for North China, would change his mind and not resign, as it was rumoured he intended, from the Commission.—Reuter.

HARBOUR TUNNELS

Residents who have been given to visualising a harbour tunnel linking Hongkong and Kowloon will no doubt have read with deep interest the news of the opening by His Majesty the King of the largest underwater highway in the world, connecting Liverpool with Birkenhead. This mammoth project, which has taken no less than nine years to build, consists of a gigantic tube some forty-six feet in diameter, with smaller branches at each end. Between its shafts, the tunnel is actually less than a mile long, but including its two branches it extends to nearly three miles. A most amazing piece of engineering work, it makes provision for four lines of traffic. It is when we come to consider the cost of such projects that doubts arise whether Hongkong could ever afford to embark on a similar venture for the purpose of linking the island with the mainland. The Mersey tunnel has involved an expenditure of no less a sum than eight millions sterling, or, in terms of Hongkong currency, well over $100,000,000—truly a staggering figure. Admittedly, a harbour tunnel sufficient for local needs would not be nearly the length of the Mersey undertaking, nor would there be a need to cater for four lines of traffic. None the less, if it were to possess the necessary attributes of such an underwater highway, including adequate lighting and ventilation, the cost would, we imagine, be quite prohibitive. Moreover, there is not that necessity, economic and otherwise, locally for such a venture which is to be found in the case of the sister ports of Liverpool and Birkenhead. There are at present adequate means of communication between Hongkong and Kowloon, and these have been materially added to by the provision of the vehicular ferry, which enables goods to be quickly transferred from one side of the harbour to the other. This development alone has automatically removed the need for such fanciful schemes as tunnels and cross-harbour bridges. The Mersey project, as has been indicated, stands in quite another category and, by reason of the special factors prevailing, will

NOTES OF THE DAY

A RICKSHA DANGER

The ricksha coolie and his vehicle have been described as a danger both to mechanical and pedestrian traffic, as well as to the coolie himself. Acceptance of this condemnation immediately places upon the authorities the obligation of properly controlling such a menace. In many respects this work is being well carried out, yet it would appear that the dangers presented by the uncontrolled rush of rickshas and chairs to the entrance of the Star Ferry wharf between 7 and 8 o'clock every morning have entirely escaped the notice of the authorities. Apart from describing figures in the air with his stick, should one of the coolies be foolish enough to come to near him, the constable on point duty at the Ferry shows no interest in the turmoil which goes on around him every ten minutes.

NO CONTROL

Apparently his whole concern is to regulate motor vehicles approaching the wharf simultaneously with the exodus of passengers from the ferry. That accomplished, he can stand back with calm detachment until it is appropriate for motor transport to continue on its way. Meanwhile, a howling, jeering, laughing mob of ricksha pullers, with their two-wheel chariots and dangerous shafts, surround the out-going ferry passengers, impeding their progress, and making positively hazardous the journey from the Ferry to the opposite side of the Praya. Further confusion is wrought by the rickshas being rushed indiscriminately from behind stationary cars, while pedestrians are pestered several yards down the road by the persistent pullers. Should the constable on point duty take it into his head to chase a too-venturesome coolie, there is a wild stampede towards the Post Office, pedestrians being forced to flee to avoid ricksha shafts in the middle of their backs.

INTOLERABLE POSITION

The situation is really intolerable. Whilst allowed such freedom, the ricksha puller is just as dangerous at 7 o'clock in the morning as he is in the full tide of traffic at midday. Business people coming across from Kowloon daily have to suffer discomfort and not a little indignity as a result of the uncontrolled behaviour of these ricksha coolies early in the morning. It is high time the authorities took adequate measures for the amelioration of existing conditions.

"S.F." NOW!

The reader who took us kindly to task over our use of the term "Frisco" as a contraction for San Francisco is still not quite satisfied. We are therefore giving him the whole of this note in which to explain precisely what he feels on the subject. Here are his own words:—"There isn't a San Franciscan at large who lacks feeling his city is being inaccurately discounted when abbreviated to even 'Frisco'. So, in this case, in good clean fair fun, I want to bring your attention to the fact that the initials S.F. would not as seriously mislead your intelligent readers as 'Frisco', nor would they lower a heretofore creditable standard of news reporting. It is a small matter, but 'Frisco' was coined in the pre-Prohibition days of the famous Barbary Coast and Columbus Avenue and used exclusively by deck sailors and transient lumber camp workers who came out of the mountains to spend their six month or yearly earnings on whatever colourful pleasures they found. I am sure none of your intelligent or highbrow readers would care to place themselves in any of the three classes by your allowing them the possibility of reading out loud headlines or columns containing the contraction 'Frisco'. It inevitably does, you know, if anyone 'who's been there' happens to overhear. If you must be brief, there's no other reputable city in the world known as S.F. and no S.F. newspaper ever refers to 'Frisco.'" doubtless become a paying proposition. It is a truly wonderful piece of work, a credit alike to municipal enterprise and to those who designed it and carried out the actual work of construction.

THE RESURRECTION OF CATALONIA

By A. Eddy

Among the national problems of Spain the problem of Catalonia requires the most urgent solution.

The Catalans are a highly developed and individualistic people descending from the Phoenicians, Greeks, Celts and Jews, and are the most typical of that Mediterranean race which has contributed so much to the intellectual and artistic development of Europe.

Temperamentally and physically they differ immensely from the Spaniards, and their language is just as different from Spanish as French or Italian. Their capital, Barcelona, is not only one of the most beautiful and historically interesting cities of Europe to-day, but it was two thousand years ago under Julius Caesar a free city exempted from paying tribute to the Roman Empire. Very few people know that before Spain ever was, Catalonia had given three emperors to Rome, Trajan and Augustus III, being the best known among them, and that the oldest constitution in Europe is not the Magna Charta but the "Usages" promulgated in Barcelona in 1068.

ONCE A GREAT POWER.

Barcelona was at the height of her power from the 13th to the 16th century, her Counts and later Kings conquering the Balearic Islands, Sardinia and Sicily, and extending their domain to the other side of the Pyrenees, now South-eastern France, where a great number of people to-day speak Catalan known under the name of "patois". The fact that 200 out of the 300 ships comprising the united Christian fleet which destroyed the naval power of the Turks in the battle of Lepanto in 1571, were financed by Barcelona is an eloquent proof of the power wielded by the Catalans at that time.

By intermarrying with the ruling house of Aragon which in turn united with that of Castile, the Catalan counts lost their independence and Catalonia became an integral part of Spain. In spite of the continuous rebellions and uprisings against the Spanish yoke, it was only in 1932 that the Catalans were granted autonomy embodied in the so-called "Estatuto" or Home Rule.

The writer had the good fortune of residing in Barcelona when the Catalan deputies finally brought home the Estatuto after generations of unsuccessful efforts and for days and days the rejoicing in Catalonia was indescribable. They recalled with bitterness the rule of the Spaniards especially during the dictatorship of Primo de Rivera when the Spanish officials used to frown upon the sons of Catalonia who had the temerity to address them in Catalan: "Why don't you speak God's language? Don't you know you're in Spain?"

There is a Catalan university functioning in Barcelona to-day and slowly but surely all posts are being filled with Catalans and all textbooks, shop signs, tramway routes, documents, etc., printed in Spanish are being replaced by one printed in Catalan.

WHY INDEPENDENCE IS WITHHELD.

The much sought for Estatuto, however, was not altogether what the Catalans expected as it did not give them absolute financial independence. Catalonia comprises one seventh part of the territory and one sixth of the entire population of Spain and at one time supplied seventy per cent. of the national revenue of the country which is the principal reason why the Spanish Government does not want to grant her financial independence.

Barcelona is not only the largest city, but it is the Manchester and by far the greatest industrial and commercial centre of Spain and her ships have been navigating the seven seas of many centuries.

The Catalans are very thrifty and hard working people who have become prosperous by dint of their tireless energy, same as the Dutch and Swiss, while the Spaniards are gentlemen of leisure and officials who are used to have others work for them and who now find it extremely distasteful to renounce the fruit of the Catalans' labour which they have been accustomed to regard as their historical due.

Although the Estatuto which the Catalans originally demanded called for financial independence, very wisely it did not call for customs autonomy for the reason that the industries and commerce of Barcelona depend to a large extent on Spain, and Catalonia could not take the risk of losing her best customer.

She needs Spain very badly especially because of the present depression which is hitting her very hard and which is eloquently expressed in the fact that there are over 25,000 empty apartments in the city to-day where four years ago the recommendation of senators was necessary to secure a flat.

Will Catalonia and Spain ever come to blows over the Catalan independence? It is very likely that both parties will find it more expedient to come to an understanding or at least to defer the issue in face of the growing menace from the radical elements which are beginning to make the future of both Spain and Catalonia look none too rosy.

The Very Idea!

BUY OUR BODY

By Eddie "Woolworth" Kelly
Whenever Max Baer felt the need for raising a sum of money rapidly, we read in a morning contemporary, it was his custom to sell shares in himself. To-day Max owns only 30 per cent. of himself, the remaining 70 per cent. being variously split up amongst many persons.

THIS man Baer is a bear after our own heart.

We thought of that scheme long ago, but, somehow or the other, the Hongkong public didn't seem to have enough faith in us.

We once endeavoured to sell our whole body to the Hongkong University for vivisection purposes, but the University demanded the body before payment.

Still, the scheme is worth reviving, especially as Maxie seems to have made a success of it.

And, when you come to boil it down, why confine the scheme to ourselves. There are plenty of people in Hongkong who would find the sale of portions of their body a profitable business.

The local medical profession, which has been hard hit by the heat wave, because people no longer catch colds, would jump at the opportunity.

Appendicitis operations would be undertaken free, as the profit from the sale of the appendices would more than compensate for the cost of the operations.

The advertising columns and news paragraphs in local newspapers would be filled with reports and offers of sales.

Something like this, we suppose:
WANTED.—SELL your body to the highest bidder. Top prices paid for old teeth, ingrowing toenails and corns. Save the corns and the kidneys will look after themselves. Don't be misled by other firms offering higher prices. We Pay Cash.

BRITAIN'S AIR POLICY

IMPORTANT STATEMENT
BY MR. BALDWIN

RESTIVENESS IN EUROPE

London, July 19. The Government's air policy was today the subject of an important Commons statement by Mr. Baldwin. Ever since the war, he said, successive British Governments had actively pursued the policy of international disarmament. In their efforts to further this policy, by example as well as precept, they had reduced their own armaments to a dangerously low level, in the hope that others would follow their lead.

But the disarmament negotiations had been drawn out longer than anyone anticipated. The Disarmament Conference opened in February, 1932, and has pursued its labours ever since.

MISGIVINGS.

During these eight and half years, misgivings had arisen from time to time in many quarters at the increasing accumulation of deficiencies in their defensive services, particularly in view of the increased expenditure on armaments in many other countries.

Most of the leaders of all the three parties said Mr. Baldwin, were familiar with the position in its general outline, not only from knowledge acquired while in office, but also from the three-party conference on disarmament in 1931, in the privacy of which all facts of the situation were disclosed in confidence.

GOVERNMENT HOPES.

The Government's policy remained one of international disarmament, and they had by no means abandoned hope of reaching some limitation. They were even now making fresh efforts to break the virtual deadlock that exists at Geneva.

Unfortunately, however, particularly in view of past experience, they could not count on an early result, and in view of their commitments under the League Covenant and the Locarno Treaty, the many symptoms of unrest in Europe and elsewhere, and the failure of other Governments to follow their example by comparable reductions, they had for some time felt that the time had come when the possibility of keeping their armaments at their present low level must be reconsidered in the absence of comparable reductions of other Powers.

This was the situation which the leaders of all parties had foreseen, must sooner or later be reached.

R. A. F. NEEDS.

In the light of these considerations, the whole question of Imperial defence and the part to be played in it by the three defence Services had been for some months under review by the Government. So far as the Royal Air Force was concerned, it was a case of the need for further development, which had time and again been postponed, in addition to the need for making good the deficiencies.

They had come to the conclusion that they could not delay, any longer, measures which would in the course of the next few years bring their Air Forces to a level more closely approaching that of their nearest neighbours.

Mr. Baldwin emphasised that many of the factors which had influenced their decision were still fluctuating and were liable to change. This applied equally to the future of disarmament, and the whole international situation. Consequently their defensive position would have to be kept constantly under review, and they reserved the right to modify or adjust the programme in the light of new factors that might arise.

DETAILS OF INCREASES.

"Subject to this caveat," said Mr. Baldwin, "we have decided on a programme covering the present and four ensuing years, under which the Royal Air Force will be increased by 41 new squadrons, including those already announced in the 1934 programme. Of these, 33 will be allotted to Home defence, raising the existing 42 squadrons at Home to a total of 75 squadrons. The remaining squadrons are for service with the fleet air arm, or abroad.

"The rate at which this programme can be carried out within five years must depend upon various considerations, including finance, which I cannot specify now. We hope, however, to be able to make an unmanageable addition to the estimates in any one year."

Two cases of typhoid and one case of meningitis were reported to the local health authorities on Wednesday.

"ENGLAND ALONE TO DISARM"

Dr. Barnes' Startling
Peace Plan

NO RISK TOO GREAT TO AVOID WAR

A startling plan for promoting disarmament and peace was put forward by the Bishop of Birmingham (Dr. Barnes) at a service in connection with the National Peace Congress which is now being held in Birmingham.

Dr. Barnes said that many, perhaps most, of them would disapprove of his attitude. No risk should be refused by a nation if thereby it could escape participation in war. War was so great an evil that unless the certain alternative be loss of freedom, nothing could excuse it.

"Naturally I am ardently desirous that there should be universal disarmament. But if all attempts to secure such disarmament fail, I would have my own country disarm and for its safety trust to a policy of international righteousness, of co-operation with other nations so dangerous as to seem quixotic.

"Such a programme would plainly be dangerous. It might end in disaster, but any alternative policy, so far as I conceive, would lead ultimately to large scale war, and will put an end to Western European civilisation.

"You will perhaps ask me what I mean by a policy of international righteousness. I would, so far as this country is concerned, reverse the injustice of the Treaty of Versailles. That Treaty was discreditable to the victors. So, for a beginning, I would, so far as such action depended upon ourselves, restore to Germany the Colonies handed at Versailles to our control.

"Then, further, I would give to India self-government withdrawing all control save such as was needed for the maintenance of order during the period of transition.

"Again, in a policy of international righteousness I would include a readiness on the part of our own country—even if no others were to follow our example—to submit all international disputes in which we were involved to some international tribunal, and a promise to abide by the decision given.

"I do not believe that economic rivalries and trade disputes are the main causes of large scale war. Jealousy, national pride, and fear are probably more powerful factors. The nation which renounces armaments would not incite fear nor be offensive to the national pride of other nations.

"Only by mutual trust, co-operation and goodwill, manifested through some such body as the League, can world order be established.

"I know, as does everyone, that as things are at Geneva intrigues behind the scenes discredit the working of the organisation which was President Wilson's legacy to mankind. I do not desire to see the League with an army, a navy, or even an air force of its own. Intrigues to control such a force would be incessant.

"Just as I distrust the use of force by the League of Nations so I doubt alike the effectiveness and the wisdom of so called economic sanctions.

"Whatever some of our military clergy and ministers may say, there was nothing in Christ's teaching that excused the cruelties of war. He believed that non-resistance was a practical ideal for the individual, and no sentence of His can be quoted which implied that the same ideal would not also serve the nation.

"War is of the devil, not of Christ."

ANGLO-AUSTRALIAN FILM PLAN

PRODUCTIONS TO START SOON

For the purpose of making Australian films with the help of British technicians, directors and stars, a new company has been formed called Anglo-Australian Films Proprietary Limited. Production will begin towards the end of the year, states Austral News. The first managing director of this big co-operative effort is Mr. Lorne Webb, who for some years has been active in the British film industry, both as manager of some of the biggest west-end theatres and later in the production side of the work.

Through being knocked down by car No. 275, in Den Voeux Road, a Chinese has been admitted to the Government Civil Hospital with leg injuries.

There will be a Dinner Dance at Repulse Bay Hotel to-day, and a Tea Dance to-morrow at 4.30 p.m. The "Andetonians" Band will be in attendance on both occasions.

"SINS OF THE RICH"

POINTED SERMON
BY DEAN INGE

CALL FOR MEN WITH COURAGE

Dean Inge, preaching at St. Mary's, Bryanston-square, London, referred to "the sins of the rich."

"There is much handshaking in the street," he remarked, "and yet a man who is making his money in the most discreditable manner is not put under suspicion until he is publicly exposed.

"Take the terrible sin of adultery, which is so much committed among the richer class. Is it right that this rich class should be socially forgiven?

"Some Americans complain of the graft and greed, and the appalling wickedness of two or three men. It is not so much that, but a human co-operative movement of several thousands of people. It is a sort of co-operative movement with a limited liability."

MODERN JOHN THE BAPTISTS.

"I am convinced that political remedy will not work," the Dean continued. "Man cannot be made moral by Parliamentary legislation."

What was wanted, he asserted, was a few more John the Baptists, men who could not be bought or silenced except by murder, men who would be the voice of the conscience of the community. Courage and disinterestedness were two necessary qualities that ought to be forthcoming in a free people.

There was plenty to make them uneasy in their own country. The surface of society was decent and comely, but how much wickedness and corruption were hidden under the surface? Were they consenting parties to any abuses, or did they say, "Such is the way of the world?"

Was it not their business not only to keep straight themselves, but to show up, and try to stop any scandals that came before their eyes?

"Unless our country can produce an adequate number of men and women who will put God first, their country second, their class third, and themselves last," Dean Inge concluded, "we shall lose our liberties, and we shall deserve to lose them."

CHINA'S COURTS

EXPERT STUDYING IN WORLD CAPITALS

London, July 19. The representative of the Chinese Judicial Yuan, Mr. Ta Yin-tsen, who arrived in London yesterday, declared when interviewed to-day that his purpose in travelling in Europe was to investigate prisons and judicial systems.

He had already spent, he said, six weeks in Paris, studying the Criminal Code, watching the law courts and the progress of justice, and was of the opinion that while the Code was admirable the procedure was too complicated and based overmuch upon theory.

The Judicial Yuan, he said, had come to the conclusion that the modern Chinese judicial system, which was founded on Continental lines, must be modified by English practices.

The visitor is remaining in England for three weeks, during which time he will interview Lord Sankey, the Lord Chancellor, and Lord Hewart, the Lord Chief Justice.

He will also attend law court proceedings and hopes to interview Sir John Simon, the Foreign Minister.

He expressed admiration of the English system of choosing judges from among trained barristers, and felt that it was preferable to the Continental system. He admitted that Chinese judges were inadequately paid but pointed out that something had already been done to improve their position and give them security of tenure.

He said the Shanghai District Court was born in unfavourable circumstances and inevitable difficulties had resulted. He hoped, he said, that when the new agreement respecting the Court was concluded in 1936, the Powers would consent to relinquish their extrajurisdictional rights.

He will visit Germany, Italy and America, returning to China in November.—Our Own Correspondent.

To-morrow night H.E. the Governor, who will be accompanied by Capt. R. F. Walter, A.D.C., will be the guest of the Commandant and officers of the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps, to dinner at the Corps Headquarters.

SWALLOWING A SIX FOOT CANE

AMAZING NATIVE RITE

Swallowing a piece of bent cane about 5 or 6 feet long is the amazing feat performed by members of a newly discovered tribe in New Guinea.

The story was told Austral News by Mr. W. P. Chinnery, government anthropologist, who is on his way to Geneva to attend a meeting of the Mandates Commission of the League of Nations, as the accredited Australian representative. He considers the cane swallowing which is part of the initiation ceremony of the tribe, as the most astounding act he has ever heard of or witnessed. The witch doctors bend the cane until the ends meet and force it down the lad's throat until only the ends remain projecting out of the mouth. Some natives had been known to swallow two or three pieces.

Mr. Chinnery was unable to discover why or how they did it. "The discovery of the tribe," he said, "had followed the opening during the past 12 months of 4,000 square miles of country in the heart of New Guinea by officers of the district service. The home of the natives was on a vast plateau, 5,000 feet above sea level. They possessed good physique, and were more intelligent than the average New Guinea native. Their method of cultivation had been an eye-opener, because it was far above the standard adopted by natives, who had previously had no contact with white men. They dug their plots with wooden implements, and the gardens were systematically arranged in rows, checkboard fashion. A trench was dug between each row for irrigation purposes. Sweet potatoes, bananas, and yams were grown, and apparently, the natives had used that method of cultivation for generations."

KANGAROO HUNT FOR DUKE

SHOWING HIM STATION LIFE

The Duke of Gloucester will, it is hoped, be able to visit one typical sheep station when he visits Australia for the Melbourne Centenary Celebrations. To that end preparations are in train at the Queensland homestead of Mr. and Mrs. Scott McLeod in the Inglewood district, says Austral News.

A kangaroo hunt, a rodeo and sheep shearing are among the entertainments in contemplation for the Duke there, says Austral News. Mr. McLeod intends to keep back about 5,000 sheep from the ordinary shearing and have a full complement of shearers working "double-board" so that the Duke will see how it is done in the Australian way.

Possibly a hundred kangaroos will be rounded up by hangers in the surrounding bush. The guns will be arranged about a suitable area, and if luck holds good shooting will follow.

CLIMBING SAND HILLS

TRANSPORT UNIT FROM ENGLAND

Interested eyes have been watching the first trial on Australian sandhills of the 16 ton transport unit, a tractor and two trailers, which was brought from England to be tested under Australian conditions.

First results were disappointing. Only by building a track with mallee scrub and taking trailers over the sand one at a time was any progress made, says Austral News. The hills were from 50 yards to half a mile in length with an average gradient of 1 in 10. The half mile one took an hour and 40 minutes to negotiate.

By distributing the load differently the second trial yielded better results and Captain Roscoe of the Overseas Transport Committee, who is in charge, is confident of ultimate success.

CHURCH WILL GO TO BEACHES

SYDNEY ARCHBISHOP'S DECISION

If the beaches will not come to the church, the church will go to the beaches. This is the challenge just issued by Archbishop Mowll, the new Archbishop of Sydney, reports Austral News. His clergy are backing him in his courageous decision and mayors of seaside municipalities have been canvassed on the matter. Some restrictions are indicated but the Archbishop is determined to override all obstacles.

AIR STRENGTH

BRITAIN ADDING TO DEFENCES

London, July 19. Mr. Stanley Baldwin announced in the House of Commons to-day that the Royal Air Force would be increasing its strength during the next four years by a total of 41 new squadrons, including those already announced for the 1934 programme.

Of the new squadrons, 33 would be allotted to Home Defence, raising the existing Home force of 42 squadrons to 75.

Mr. Baldwin announced that the remaining squadrons would be for service with the Fleet Air Arm or on stations abroad.

He added, however, that the Government "is even now making fresh efforts to break the virtual deadlock that exists at Geneva."

Britain, he asserted, has not abandoned hope for an international agreement for the general limitation of armaments.—United Press.

Pacific Manoeuvres

Washington, July 19. It is learned on the best authority that the Navy Department is considering holding the 1935 navy manoeuvres off the Aleutian Islands, in the North Pacific.

IMPORTANT FOURTH TEST BEGINS AT LEEDS TO-DAY

England Has Not Yet Won At Headingley

STRAIN OF OVERSEAS CRICKET TOURS

ADVISABILITY OF INTER-COUNTRY TEST MATCHES DOUBTFUL

SURREY DISCOVERS NEW BATSMAN

EXCITING FINISHES IN COUNTY ENGAGEMENTS

In the authorities' good time the cricket public will be given such information as is necessary and of interest respecting the meeting of the Imperial Cricket Conference at Lord's, writes "Old Ebor" in the Observer. It is understood a provisional programme of future exchanges of visits with overseas teams was drawn up.

This is to be considered at a meeting to be held at Lord's on July 25, which is the first day of the Gentlemen v. Players annual contest at the headquarters of the game.

The programme of interchange of visits last drawn up ends with the appearance of the South Africans in England next summer. There has been a feeling in cricket circles that the last programme placed rather too heavy a demand upon leading players in the home country.

Abundant material exists to send out several teams under the M.C.C. colours each winter, but not to play Tests. These demand the best strength the country can select. Experience in the last few years has shown how great is the physical strain involved in continuous match-play and travelling from one end of the year to another.

Even at the present moment it is fairly obvious that the visit to India last winter, following on consecutive Dominion and home seasons, has had a deteriorating effect on some players' form. A reduction in these tours, or a reasonable time for rest and recuperation between them, will not be unwelcome to players themselves, and, of course, there will be no weakening of the affection with which cricket relations with all parts of the Empire are regarded.

L. B. W. CONTROVERSY.

When information on the foregoing points is forthcoming after next month's meeting, it will interest many cricketers to find if any clue is given as to the general view held, not only in home circles but also abroad, on the long-before-victor controversy. It is known that at a meeting held two or three weeks ago some of the leaders of the game at Lord's were convinced that an amended l.b.w. rule ought to be given a serious trial in first-class cricket at home, and if I am not mistaken, it was decided to recommend that the trial should be given next season. It is an old, but still a vital, controversy of very special importance at a time like the present, when types of both batting and bowling come almost fiercely under discussion.

It suggests a new era in Surrey batting to find a left-hander, as Sandham's opening partner, I refer to Fishlock (L. B.), who filled that position against Somerset and scored 83 in a style which apparently encouraged the belief that further success in the role awaits him.

Fishlock is probably better known among the sports-loving crowds of the metropolis as a professional football player. In the Millwall team, better, in fact, as such than when he played as an amateur with Dulwich Hamlet and with the England Amateur Association team. He had only four innings with the Surrey team last season and made 27 as his highest score in three matches. He is credited with some ability as a slow bowler, but I find that his one wicket cost over 60 runs.

This latest performance with the bat as a Surrey first-wicket man may, and it is hoped will, prove the turning point for him in first-class cricket.

WHY NOT GREGORY?

Among batmen with repeated successes placed to credit it is not strange that we seldom hear of Gregory, of the Surrey eleven, mentioned as worthy the attention of our England team selectors. He was included in the team sent out by the M.C.C. to India last winter, and his selection then took some of the critics by surprise.

Possibly the uninformed consider Gregory to be older than he really is; his appearance suggests he is more than thirty-one, which is his age. But the point of this is that the batting of Gregory this season places him among the highest in first-class cricket. He scored what is described as a very fine innings of 172 for Surrey in the match with Somerset, but previously he had accounted for a contribution of 180. He is one of the growing army of batsmen who have scored a thousand runs this season; further than this, he has already totalled about the like number of runs that he was credited with (over 1,200) in all Surrey's matches last season. Gregory can also be useful as a slow bowler, though, so far as my observation goes, only as a change and then not for long. Believe me, there are more than a few batsmen recommended for attention with qualities in no way superior to those of Robert Gregory.

TONIC CRICKET.

The break in the weather has come in time to prevent heart-break among bowlers. It also has provided a few splendid finishes to matches that had appeared likely to end in tame and aimless draws. What could be finer in the way of thrills, to those fond of or in need of such tonics, than the victory Lancashire achieved over the Nottinghamshire team at Trent Bridge? Two minutes only remained for play when, with the first ball of the last possible over, Lancs won by 101 runs.

Yet, two days earlier, they presented the appearance of a beaten side. Ernest Tyldesley, the young amateur, W. H. L. Lister, with bat and Howwood with the ball had great shares in the victory; but it is also a pleasure to note that the Lancastrian's genial captain, Peter Ekersley, played a real leader's part. Gloucestershire's win over Essex by 8 runs was an even greater transformation.

But when Hammond elects to give himself a birthday present of 164 unfinished, and of the best, why, one can only be sorry for opposing bowlers.

BENEFIT MATCHES.

There are not many benefit matches in the season's first-class list. One that has already taken place is that set aside for Duckworth when Surrey visited Old Trafford.

The visit of the Nottinghamshire eleven to Leeds will be the occasion of the benefit of Maurice Leyland. It will be recognised that Leyland is a cricketer to whom the public outside Yorkshire look with admiration, while inside the county the feeling is warm and intimate.

These benefits are organised in Yorkshire with great enthusiasm. Given fine weather for the match, it is probable the £4,000 realised for the late Roy Kilner will be equalled. Other benefits to come are for Cornford (W.) in the match at Hove against Warwickshire on July 28, and for Hammond at Bristol on August 4. It is safe to say there will be a big bank holiday crowd to see Gloucestershire's match with Hampshire begin on that day.

AUSTRALIAN CYCLIST

Land's End—John O'Groats Record Attacked

Hubert Opperman, the great little Australian cyclist has arrived in London.

It is his first visit to England, and he is full of eagerness to "get on with the job" of attacking the road record from Land's End to John O'Groats.

He is not under any impression that this is an easy record, and he means to establish himself somewhere on the course and spend several weeks training over the actual route.

It is most unlikely, therefore, that he will interrupt this preparation for the purpose of taking part in any track races or similar diversions. When the record job is finished he will return to Australia without delay.

Don Bradman, the wonder batsman, in action. Everybody is wondering if he will emulate his 1930 feat when he plays in the fourth Test match at Leeds to-day. Four years ago he scored 334 against England on the Yorkshire ground.

Tribute To George Duckworth

LETTER FROM D. R. JARDINE

George Duckworth, whose benefit match, Lancashire v. Surrey, was held at Old Trafford has received a letter from D. R. Jardine, in which the former England captain stated:

"I have just heard from Surrey that they are very keen not to disturb the composition of this side. It is difficult at first for a new skipper, and when I applied for a place I felt bound to tell them I was not in practice and was playing on your account, and that I would understand it if they would rather not have me.

"Well, they won a match at Whitson, which is quite above the ordinary Surrey form, so I suppose they want to stick to it if possible. Anyway even for you, I don't think it would be fair to insist on a place. I put off a match at Oxford in order to play.

"Well, George, there is no man who deserves a better benefit than you. You know I don't say things for effect.

"I hope, then, that you get the good luck you so richly deserved. Had I played was going to have asked you if I might take a collection-box round, a thing I have never done before.

"I have sent £5 as my contribution to the Secretary of the Lancashire Club."

JOCKEY DIES AFTER FALL

THROWN WHEN MOUNT HITS RAILS

London. R. James, the jockey, who was thrown from his mount, Good Fish, in the Hurdle Selling Welter Handicap at Beverley, has died in hospital as the result of the injuries he received.

His horse came into contact with the rails rounding the turn into the straight and in falling James struck his head. James had a serious riding accident last year, when at Stockton his mount Glomach slipped in the Roseberry Plate. In 1927 he broke a wrist at Newmarket when Arran Chief came down in a race.

SUCCESS IN INDIA.

He was born at Dunsford, near Exeter, and rode with success at small meetings in the West of England. As the result of this he became apprenticed to the late Walter Griggs.

After completing indentures James became light-weight jockey to Lord George Dundas' stable, and remained with him until last year. He also rode a good deal for R. J. Colling's stable, principally on Northern race-courses. He rode 14 winners last year, but his best season was in 1928 when he won 52 races, finishing eighth in the winning jockeys' list. He gained many successes in India, where he rode during the winter months.

RUTH IMPROVING

SAYS WILL PLAY ON SUNDAY

LATEST BASEBALL RESULTS

New York, July 19. "Babe" Ruth, New York Yankees baseball player, is so rapidly improving from the injuries sustained during a match yesterday, when he was severely struck on the left leg from a drive by Gehrig, that the doctor now says he hopes he will have to keep the "Babe" in bed only two days longer.

Ruth is emphatic about the date of his next appearance on the baseball field, and says he intends to play on Sunday.

Meanwhile the Yankees succeeded in beating Chicago, Red Sox, and the Giants went further ahead with a win against Cincinnati Reds, whom they blanked out. Cleveland Indians noosed out Boston White Sox, and the Senators suffered a similar fate at the hands of St. Louis.

Among the winners in the National League were Brooklyn Dodgers, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.

All-India Side Defeat S. Africa

Played in half a gale at Curries Fountain before a crowd of 4,000 the second football Test between All-India and South Africa resulted in a victory for the visitors by 2-0. The first goal came after 20 minutes, Ramanna tipping the ball into the net.

The second half began in a sharp shower of rain but even with the wind the South Africans were no match for the speedy visitors. Their goal seemed to bear a charm, like and the only scoring was by Lakshminarayana, who shot from well out, putting India two ahead. The game ended with only India in the picture in a heavy down-pour.

Lancashire Come A Cropper

LOSE HEAVILY TO MIDDLESEX

London, July 19. Lancashire, now chief challengers to Sussex for the county cricket championship, came an awful cropper at Lord's to-day, when they were beaten by Middlesex by ten wickets.

Lancashire made two dismal visits to the wicket, being sent back the first time for 144, and the second for 193.

The wicket was obviously none too good, for Middlesex were unable to bat too freely. However, they found it possible to declare at 292 for nine wickets, and were thus left to score 47 to win, which was accomplished without loss.

WILL BRADMAN REPEAT 1930 ACHIEVEMENT?

HOME TEAM HAS NO REASON TO BE DESPONDENT

ANOTHER DRAW IS INDICATED

With hopes buoyed high in the knowledge that not only have they, like Australia, won a Test, but that they had much the better of a drawn game in the third match at Manchester a fortnight ago, England will take the field at Leeds to-day to make a bold effort to record the first English Test victory on the Headingley ground.

So far the honours at Leeds have definitely gone to Australia. Of the half a dozen matches played there since 1899, they have won two and figured in honourable drawn games in the remainder.

To the followers of the game throughout the world one of the chief questions to-day will be whether Don Bradman can accomplish anything like his triumph at Leeds in 1930, when he scored 334.

PROBABLE CONDITIONS.

As nothing has been heard to the contrary, it is to be presumed that the weather has been fine, and that a wicket in the form of a batsman's paradise has been made. Such conditions make the outcome almost inevitably a draw.

Both England and Australia are so strongly endowed with batsmen, and as neither have attacks beyond the average—that is on hard wickets—it seems that without the assistance of an affected wicket, neither team can expect to win.

Even forcibly robbed of Sutcliffe and Allen, England have no need to be despondent. Sutcliffe's fine personality, of course, will be a great loss, while his experience alone is worth much. But there are other batsmen, who, judged on current county form, should be capable of filling the breach.

IMPORTANCE OF TOSS.

Allen's final selection was by no means a certainty. In fact, general surprise was caused by his inclusion in the fifteen from which the team to-day will be chosen. There seems no reason to doubt that Nichols will prove equally as good as Allen, while the selectors have always Farnes, who has been tried, and not found wanting.

But as the teams will not be announced until a few hours before the match, it is a little difficult from this distance, to attempt to forecast.

It is not original to observe that the winning of the toss will provide a big advantage, but it remains perfectly true. At least it gives the team which bats first a fine opportunity of making themselves immune from defeat, and the side not so lucky, can hope only for a kindly glance from the Clerk of the Weather.

The match is of vital importance, and should one team win, it will almost certainly carry with it the right of holding the "Ashes." The countries are on level terms, each with a win, and the other on counter draws.

PREVIOUS MATCHES.

Anything like a repetition of the 1930 match will at least provide some entertaining cricket. That encounter was one of the most historic of all the series.

To England's score of 391, Australia responded with 566, the highest total ever made in Test cricket at Leeds. Of those the one and only Don Bradman scored 334, thus establishing an individual Test record. Naturally there was no chance of a finish, although England definitely had the worst of a drawn game, losing three wickets in their second innings for 96 runs.

In the course of the six Test matches which have been played at Leeds, 5,549 runs have been scored, giving an average of 924 runs per match. The highest match aggregate is 1,141 made in 1921, and next to this comes 1,032 in 1930, 1,042 in 1926 and 1,016 in 1905. The number of wickets which have fallen in these matches is 185, giving an average of a fraction under 80 runs per wicket. Here are the detailed results of the games played at Leeds.

Season. Runs. Wickets. Runs per wicket.

IN BIG LEAGUE GAME TO-MORROW

Result May Make The Title Safe For K.B.G.C.

INDIAN RECREATION CLUB DUE TO VISIT AUSTIN ROAD

The lawn bowls league programme for to-morrow is of unusual interest. The Craigengower teams in the first division clash for the second time and many are wondering if the second string can repeat their early season performance and beat the seniors.

Should they do so, and the Bowling Green negotiate the Kowloon Dock, the latter will be very safely entrenched at the top of the table.

In the second division, Indian Recreation Club, the leaders, visit Kowloon Bowling Green, and although they should be capable of winning, they are presented with no easy task, the Austin Road team revealing a penchant for upsetting the best of sides on their own green.

The games in the second set went with the service until five-all was called, and then the Chinese broke through to win the eleventh, but the Europeans retaliated to level the scores again.

It was then that one saw the real form of Lim Bong Soo, the Malayan singles champion. His side-line drives were perfectly placed and controlled, and gave neither Smith nor Wise any chance, and, with Chong Thut Pitt playing well above himself, they took the next games to square the match.

SINGAPORE TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

ROY SMITH AND WISE AGAIN IN DOUBLES FINAL

MALAYAN PAIR AS OPPONENTS

Singapore, July 12.

The Singapore L.T.A. championships were carried a stage further yesterday afternoon when Chua Choon Leong and Yong Loong Chong and Roy F. Smith and N. S. Wise qualified for the men's doubles final.

S. Abed and W. J. M. Warden were always the superior pair in first set of their match against Chua Choon Leong and Yong Loong Chong. They broke through through Choon Leong's first service and held this advantage throughout the set to win at 6-4.

Abed and Warden combined splendidly. Abed brought off several winning drives down the centre of the court and both players vollied well.

In the next set Loong Chong improved considerably, and gave his partner much better support, with the result that the Chinese pair quickly ran to a lead of 6-0. Warden, whose play had fallen off considerably and who netted several easy returns, staged a recovery and he and Abed fought back hard to take the sixth game, but lost the seventh after duce had been called.

The first four games of the final set were hotly contested but the Chinese pair lasted better, and superior work at the net and overhead gave them the set and match by 6-2.

EUROPEANS' VICTORY.

Roy Smith and N. S. Wise played great tennis to beat Lim Bong Soo and Chong Thut Pitt, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4. Both men were in brilliant form at the net, and rarely missed anything in the air. The honours of the day went to Wise, who has seldom played better.

Roy Smith and his partner settled down quicker than the Chinese pair, and took the first two games without much difficulty, but Bong Soo and Thut Pitt won the next three to take the lead. Smith and Wise recovered the lead at 4-3, but then Wise lost his own service. However, the European pair, thanks to being steadier, took the next two games to win the first set.

The games in the second set went with the service until five-all was called, and then the Chinese broke through to win the eleventh, but the Europeans retaliated to level the scores again.

It was then that one saw the real form of Lim Bong Soo, the Malayan singles champion. His side-line drives were perfectly placed and controlled, and gave neither Smith nor Wise any chance, and, with Chong Thut Pitt playing well above himself, they took the next games to square the match.

MUNICH FESTIVAL

THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY PROGRAMME

When Munich opens its Festival this year it will be the thirtieth anniversary of these famous performances.

The operas of Wagner and Mozart may be heard almost everywhere but the Munich performances are a revelation. They draw their audience from all parts of the world and not for once but to return repeatedly. The Munich performances owe their particular charm to the scrupulous attention devoted to even the smallest detail. No special principal in the cast excels all others. Every single part is carried to perfection, and each performance as a whole is art at its best.

The close touch with the scenic settings that inspired the operas makes Munich ideal for their performance. There will be 33 performances in the 43 days from 5th July to 20th August, including 21 Wagner operas and 12 Mozart operas.

CHINESE WEDDING.

ALOR STAR AND HONGKONG FAMILIES UNITED

Two well-known families were united yesterday when Miss Florence Tong, sixth child of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Tong, became the bride of Dr. Wong Siong-ling, younger son of Dr. and Mrs. Wong Lun, of Kuching, Alor Star.

Both the bride and groom are popular members of the Chinese younger set in Hongkong, the former being a talented pianist, having passed with honours in several Trinity College examinations. The groom is the well-known swimmer who, as an undergraduate of the Hongkong University, created a record, which has not been surpassed, for the 100 Yards Backstroke championship of this Colony. He represented Hongkong in the triangular swimming interport against Shanghai and Tientsin in 1931 at Shanghai.

Mr. Sie Chuen-kin discharged the duties of best man, and Miss Eather Tong acted as bridesmaid.
Little Miss Lam was the flower girl.

A reception was held at the Gloucester Hotel in the afternoon when the happy couple received the felicitations of their many friends.

The honeymoon will be spent at Repulse Bay and later at Kwangsh.

WATER COLOUR PAINTINGS EXHIBITED

Large crowds flocked to the Chinese Y.M.C.A. yesterday for the opening of the Chinese water colour paintings exhibition, which is promoted by the China Artists Institute for the purpose of raising funds to meet the cost of a building for the Institute in Shanghai.

Over 600 paintings are on view, and the majority of them represent landscapes and birds. It is somewhat surprising that there are very few depicting human life, but the few there are show clever and artistic execution, typically Chinese in characterisation. Most of the landscapes are also very exquisitely and finely executed.

The paintings are a collection of the works of about sixty artists all over China, especially Northern artists.

The exhibition will be open until July 24 from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily, including Sunday.

The paintings will also be exhibited in Macao later on.

INQUIRY AT SAMOS.

TURKISH FOREIGN MINISTER EXPRESSES REGRET

Istanbul, July 19.

The British Ambassador, Sir
Percy Lornie, to-day had a frank and friendly discussion with the Turkish Foreign Minister, Tewfik
Rushdi Bey, who expressed great

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

and, but she did take it to her mother.

"Of course it isn't true that Howard asked her to marry him. Mother," she said, "but Jane by this time believes it's true. You know how she is."

"It's a very cruel letter. It sounds a little like 'East Lynne'.
Are you going to write to her?"
"I don't know, but I believe I shall. She's so alone. Do you think I ought not to write?"

Mrs. Lowe was puzzled for an adequate reply. "Amy," she said at last, "if you feel you ought to write to Jane, go ahead and do it.
Only do be careful what you say and don't start a long, painful controversy which will lead to nothing except to keep you unsettled and on edge."

Amy's letter was much shorter than Jane's. She did not take it to her mother to read.

"Dear Darling Jane," (she wrote) "If there is ever anything in the world I can do to show you that I did not intend to make you unhappy or to make up to you for the way you feel, I will do it.
Anything. I am always your friend, no matter what you think.
Amy."

And, having written this, she cried almost as frenziedly as Jane had done.

DEATH OF MR. H. LOPP FOLLOWS COLLAPSE

For many years associated with the rice trade at Saigon, Mr. H.
Lopp, member of a well-known local Chinese family, died yesterday afternoon at his residence at 63 Pokfulam Road, following a sudden collapse. It was only recently that the deceased was compelled to return to Hongkong through ill-health, and the news of his sudden demise will cause much regret to relatives and friends at both ports.

The deceased is survived by the widow and two children; and also by two brothers, one of whom, Mr.
J. Lopp, is employed at Messrs.
Melchers & Co.

The funeral takes place at 11 regret over the Samos incident.

The Turkish Minister suggested that a mixed commission of enquiry should be established, and he felt sure that it would establish the fact that neither party concerned in the incident acted in bad faith.—Reuter.

PRIZES PRESENTED.

LADY SOUTHERN AT KOW-LOON SCHOOL

A happy event for children and parents alike was the annual presentation of prizes of the Kowloon Junior School which was graced by the presence of Lady Southern, wife of the Hon. Colonial Secretary.

Mr. A. O. Brawn was present at the function which was held in the garden of the school and presided over by Mrs. E. N. Clark, Acting Headmistress.

The whole of the staff was present comprising Misses Steele, Benington, Stuart, Whitley, Mrs. Hudson, and Miss Knill.

A delightful programme of fairy scenes and songs opened the proceedings.

Presenting the annual report, Miss Clark said: "Before reading the report I should like to say that we are pleased to welcome Lady Southern to the school."

"The school year began on November 1, 1933 with an enrolment of 109. The maximum enrolment during the year was 116, attendance was good until the present term when numbers were depleted by an epidemic of whooping cough."

"Mr. Sayer, Director of Education and Mr. Brawn, Inspector of English Schools visited us during the year, Dr. Hargreaves, Medical Officer of Schools, inspected some of the pupils. Miss Steele and Miss Benington returned to duty in January, after long leave, and Miss Cooper, Headmistress, called on January 29, when I became acting Headmistress."

Satisfactory work.

"The work, generally, has been satisfactory and the children have been happy. We have had the co-operation of the parents, who appreciated the Mother's Day. The special day allotted to each class proved beneficial to parents and teachers alike."

Seventeen pupils sat for the Royal Drawing Society's Examination, Preparatory Division, in June and results are not known yet.

"We owe thanks to the Y.M.C.A.

for the use of the West Lounge and for help given during the staging of plays, before Xmas; to the Kowloon Cricket Club for the use of the ground on Sports Day and to Mrs. Brawn for distributing and to Mrs. Hoare who gave seedlings and assisted in planting them; to the Misses Ellis for the loan of a gardener for heavy work, and loan of plants; to Kowloon Dock for the loan of flags, and to the Union Church for the loan of chairs."

I should like to thank the staff and Miss Knill, the visiting Drill Mistress, for their full co-operation which has made work a pleasure."

Lady Southern.

Mr. Brawn thanked Mrs. Clark for her report and called on Lady Southern to present the prizes.

Lady Southern said she was much impressed by the entertainment given by the children and with the long prize list.

She was glad to know that many of those present were Brownies of the 1st Kowloon Pack under Miss G. King and in those times when everybody was striving for peace and Brownies were doing their share, she would be glad to welcome any others who would like to join the Pack. In conclusion she wished the school every success.

Lady Southern was presented with a bouquet by two little mites and the children then gave her three hearty cheers.

DIES ON EVEREST

BRITISH OFFICER'S DARING CLIMB

Darjeeling, July 19.
Hope has been abandoned for the life of Capt. Maurice Wilson, the young British officer who attempted to conquer, single-handed, the higher slopes of the storm-girt Mount Everest.

He flew from England to India last year in an aeroplane named for the peak, The Everest. It was his intention to fly over the peak and drop a Union Jack on a spike-weighted staff when he was directly above the summit.

When the authorities forbade his attempt, he decided to climb the peak. He reached the so-called Camp Three, at the beginning of the last perilous ascent to the summit. There he left his porters and continued alone. He carried only a small tent, food and a camera.

He was last seen nearing Camp Five, at a much higher elevation. His porters waited three weeks and have only just returned reporting their conviction that Wilson is dead.—Router Special.

SHIP'S CAPTAIN FOUND SHOT

MASTER OF YUET ON

SUICIDE WHILE IN DOCK

TAIKOO TRAGEDY

Captain Jorgen Bruhn, the master of the river steamer Yuet On, was found shot dead in his cabin at Taikoo Docks this morning.

A Smith-Wesson .38 revolver was in the hands of the dead man and there is little doubt that he took his own life.

The body was found by a cabin-boy at about 7.30 a.m. lying on the bed, face to the ceiling. The revolver was held in Captain Bruhn's left hand with his right thumb on the trigger.

A bullet had penetrated the forehead.

He was last seen alive at 11 o'clock last night, on board the Yuet On which has been in dock at Taikoo for rent for about ten days.

Captain Bruhn had been master of the Yuet On for thirteen to fourteen months and it is understood that he was about to be dismissed, furnishing the apparent motive for the act.

Captain Bruhn leaves a wife and son in Germany, and was about forty-eight years of age.

SAMOS INCIDENT SETTLED

TURKISH SHIP PARTICIPATING

Istanbul, July 20. A peaceful settlement has been arranged of the grave occurrence near the Greek island of Samos when Turkish soldiers on the mainland fired on a British naval skiff, killing Surgeon-Lieut. Robinson, of H.M.S. Devonshire.

There is no indication of malice on either side, states an official communique issued by the Turkish Foreign Ministry, in reference to the Samos incident.

"The two governments have reached a friendly decision to hold a funeral service for Surgeon Lieutenant Robinson over the scene of the incident."

"A Turkish battleship will participate in the ceremony, after which the regrettable incident will be regarded as closed."—Reuter.

Challenge to Heat Wave Record?

HALF-WAY STAGE REACHED

The present wave has a long way to go before it establishes a record for the Colony so far as successive days of high temperatures are concerned.

Enquiries at the Royal Observatory reveal the fact that the record for successive days of heat was set up in 1928, when from July 24 to August 3 inclusive—a period of eleven days—temperatures exceeding 90 were recorded every day.

In July, 1896, there were eight successive days when 90 degrees and beyond were recorded and in July, 1916, seven days.

So far the present spell of heat has yielded temperatures of 90 and over for five successive days. This is not abnormal, according to Mr. C. W. Jeffries, the Director of the Observatory, who states that such spells have frequently been experienced.

The maximum temperature recorded at the Observatory yesterday was 92.1.

DR. ALFRED SZE'S ATTACK ON JAPANESE POLICY

MENACE TO PEACE IN FAR EAST

AGGRANDISEMENT AT ANY TIME

A DOCTRINE OF FORCE

A fierce attack upon Japanese policy in the Far East, with especial reference to her programme in China, is launched by Dr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese Minister in Washington, in a magazine article.

Further territorial aggrandisement may be attempted at any time, it is the Japanese military clique who control affairs consider it is propitious, according to the Minister.

Writing in the North American Review, Dr. Sze asserts that Japan is still unsatisfied with her Far Eastern conquests, and is only awaiting a favourable occasion to augment her gains.

Dr. Sze attacks the principles of the so-called Asiatic Monroe Doctrine, comparing it with the United States' Monroe Doctrine, which he says, is based on principles of self-defence, whereas Japan demands the right to seize additional territory.

MILITARY POWER

Dr. Sze says that Japanese policy is particularly dangerous inasmuch as her Army and Navy are not subject to civil authority and control.

"A nation organised like Japan is always a menace to international peace," says Dr. Sze.

"China will never surrender an inch of her territory or sovereign rights under stress of military force, which she is determined to resist to the best of her ability."—United Press.

Some 30,000 other people are endangered, while it is conservatively estimated that two million are affected by the floods.

So far, the damage is estimated at 200,000,000 zloty.—United Press.

UPTON SINCLAIR ON THE "INDEX"

Berlin, July 19.

Upton Sinclair's works have been banned throughout Germany on the orders of Dr. Goebbels, the Minister of Propaganda.

All available copies within the Reich are being confiscated.

No official explanation is forthcoming, but it is assumed that Sinclair's recent strictures of the Hitler regime are responsible.

Upton Sinclair is the author of a series of vigorous Socialist novels, painting in lurid colours the vice, lawlessness and corruption that permeate many walks of life in the United States.

His books have been banned on many occasions in the United States. His first sensational exposures of the conditions in the Chicago meatyards, "The Jungle," failed to find a publisher and was denied transmission by the Post Office.

The Boston Police banned his 1927 book "Oil," dealing with the scandals of the Harding Administration. Sinclair countered by selling the book openly in the streets of Boston, but the police refused to arrest him.

He is standing this year for the Governorship of California.—Reuter.

DEATH FOR BANDITRY

TRAIN-WRECKERS SENTENCED

SOVIET TRIAL BROADCAST

(Special to "Telegraph")

Moscow, July 19. Listeners-in in Soviet Russia were to-day afforded an opportunity of hearing the proceedings and the fate of the accused in the trial of a number of men and a woman charged with train-wreckers.

It was alleged that they were responsible for several serious mishaps on the Soviet Railways. They were charged with banditry and with holding up and looting trains, and three of them were sentenced to death by shooting.

The plan adopted by the accused was the comparatively simple one of loosening the metals during the night and then to swoop down on the first train to become derailed.

A girl accomplice was sentenced to three years' imprisonment and two other men were sent to gulag for ten years and eight years respectively.—Reuter Special.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. C.W.F. BOOKER

FATAL COLLAPSE IN ROOM

Many residents will hear with deep regret of the death of Mr. C. W. F. Booker, manager of Messrs. Bishop and Lacey, Ltd., Exchange Building, which occurred suddenly at the Gloucester Building in the early hours of this morning.

The late Mr. Booker had been a resident of Gloucester Building for about a month, and had latterly been in different health. Yesterday he complained of feeling very ill, and it is thought that his condition was aggravated by the heat.

In the early hours of this morning, a night boy on duty saw Mr. Booker go to the lavatory and later heard a sound from his room as if he had collapsed. The manager was called and on the room being entered Mr. Booker was found lying on the floor in a state of extreme collapse.

A naval doctor resident in the building, and others, rendered assistance but despite all that could be done, Mr. Booker succumbed.

The late Mr. Booker, who was a bachelor, came to Hongkong in 1901 from Manchester as a piece-goods expert to join Messrs. Stager and Co. Later he was for a brief time with Messrs. John Mannors and Co., but he left them to become manager of Messrs. Bishop and Lacey.

During his residence in the Colony, Mr. Booker made many friends, who will deeply deplore his death. He was a member of the Royal Hongkong Golf Club, being an enthusiastic player, and had figured in many competitions.

ECHOES OF JUNE 30

CHANGE IN NAZI ECONOMIC POLICY

STRASSER'S SONS AND HITLER

Berlin, July 19.

An important change in Nazi administration was announced to-day.

Count von Dergold is the new leader of Germany's economic life in succession to Dr. Kessler.

It may be recalled that Herr Hitler has been struggling with Big Business recently following objections to the trend of the Nazi economic policy under Dr. Kessler's direction.

Meanwhile, a small black urn containing the ashes of the late Nazi leader, Gregor Strasser, at one time one of Hitler's friends, has been handed to his widow, but not the gold ring he was wearing on the fateful night of June 30 nor other possessions.

His sons have now returned to Herr Hitler the gold watches which Hitler, as their godfather, had given them.—Reuter.

$30,000,000 Lost In Five Years

U.S. MILLIONAIRE'S ESTATE

New York, July 19.

The late Mr. Harry Payne Whitney, millionaire banker and race-horse owner, left gross estate valued at $72,740,000, over $14,000,000.

The net personalty is valued at $62,908,000.

Owing to the business and industrial depression throughout the United States in the last five years, the estate has shrunk, it is estimated, by at least thirty per cent. as the result of the decline in the value of certain securities which were valued at $64,155,000.

The chief beneficiaries under the will of the famous banker are the widow, Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney, also a keen race-owner, and their three children, Cornelius, Florn and Barbara.—Reuter.

COLLAPSE OF S. F. STRIKE

MARITIME UNIONS TO FIGHT ON

GEN. JOHNSON BEHIND SCENE

(Special to "Telegraph")

San Francisco, July 19.

The collapse of the general strike is regarded as the worst defeat Labour has experienced for years.

It is learned that, for the present, the recalcitrant maritime unions, led by Harry Bridges, militant longshoremen's leader, will not abide by the General Strike Committee's decision but will remain on strike, aided by the teamsters and one or two other small groups.

After the strike cessation decision had been announced, Bridges said: "The longshoremen and the maritime workers won't go back. We can run our own strike and we will."

BRIDGES IN DANGERS?

There is, however, talk of the possibility of the rank and file depositing Bridges from the leadership when the longshoremen hold their meeting on Saturday. In this event, it is probable that they would agree to arbitration.

Individual unions began to return to work as soon as authorised by their leaders. In a few minutes of the G.S.C. announcement, the theatrical unions returned, opening the theatres.

BOARD'S PROMISE

George Kidwell, Secretary of the General Strike Committee, announced that the resolution ending the sympathy strikes was based on the "promise of the President's Board that the maritime unions will get full consideration in arbitration."

He also said that action was contingent upon the waterfront employers agreeing to arbitrate with the striking maritimes unions, which, it is understood, the employers are ready to do.

SIGNIFICANT TALK

It is significant that the decision to call off the strike followed a long conference of the Committee with General Hugh Johnson, N.R.A. Administrator.

Although the resolution passed is ambiguous about the requirement of waterfront employers that they accept arbitration, the concluding phrase specially and unconditionally advises that all sympathy strikes be called off.—United Press.

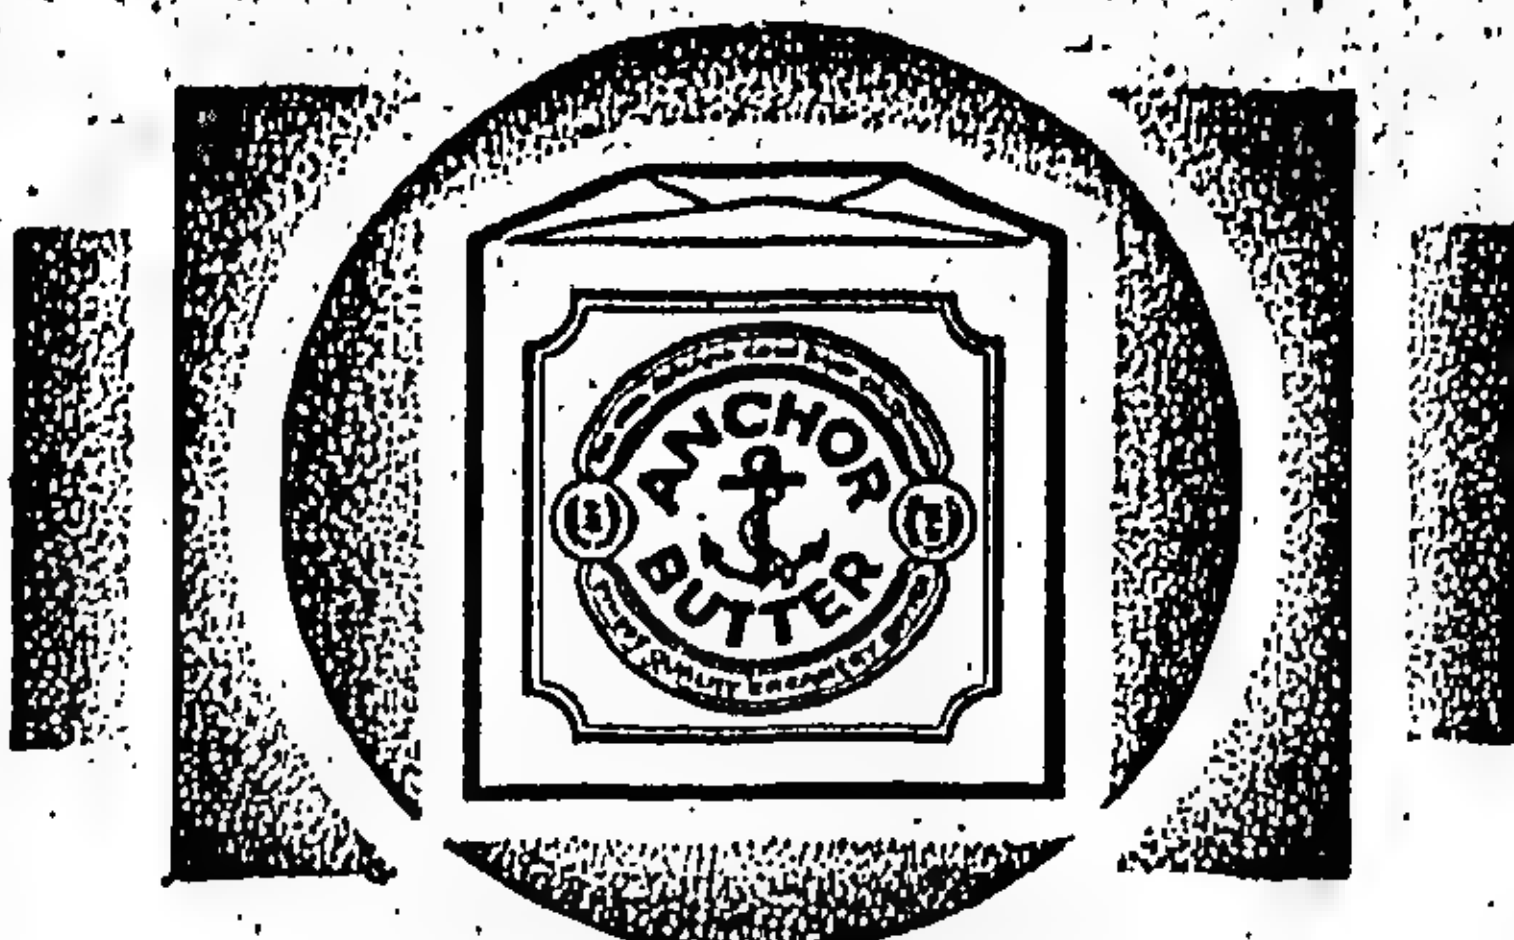

Victim of a chopper attack, Cheung Chu, living at 53 Young Choi Street, Shamshuipo, was admitted to hospital yesterday with a severe scalp wound. His assailant has eluded arrest.

"ENGLAND ALONE TO DISARM"

Dr. Barnes' Startling Peace Plan

NO RISK TOO GREAT TO AVOID WAR

A startling plan for promoting disarmament and peace was put forward by the Bishop of Birmingham (Dr. Barnes) at a service in connection with the National Peace Congress which is now being held in Birmingham.

Dr. Barnes said that many, perhaps most, of them, would disapprove of his attitude. No risk should be refused by a nation if thereby it could escape participation in war. War was so great an evil that unless the certain alternative was loss of freedom, nothing could excuse it.

"Naturally I am ardently desirous that there should be universal disarmament. But if all attempts to secure such disarmament fail, I would have my own country disarm and for its safety trust to a policy of international righteousness, of co-operation with other nations so dangerous as to seem quixotic.

"Such a programme would plainly be dangerous. It might end in disaster, but any alternative policy, so far as I conceive will lead ultimately to large scale war, and will put an end to Western European civilisation.

"You will perhaps ask me what I mean by a policy of international righteousness. I would, so far as this country is concerned, reverse the injustice of the Treaty of Versailles. That Treaty was discreditable to the victors. So, for a beginning, I would, so far as such action depended upon ourselves, restore to Germany the Colonies handed at Versailles to our control.

"Then, further, I would give to India self-government withdrawing all control save such as was needed for the maintenance of order during the period of transition.

"Again, in a policy of international righteousness I would include a readiness on the part of our own country—even if no others were to follow our example—to submit all international disputes in which we were involved to some international tribunal, and a promise to abide by the decision given.

"I do not believe that economic rivalries and trade disputes are the main causes of large scale war. Jealousy, national pride, and fear are probably more powerful factors. The nation which renounces armaments would not incite fear nor be offensive to the national pride of other nations.

"Only by mutual trust, co-operation and goodwill, manifested through some such body as the League, can world order be established.

"I know, as does everyone, that as things are at Geneva intrigues behind the scenes discredit the working of the organisation which was President Wilson's legacy to mankind. I do not desire to see the League with an army, a navy, or even an air force of its own. Intrigues to control such a force would be incessant.

"Just as I distrust the use of force by the League of Nations so I doubt alike the effectiveness and the wisdom of so called economic sanctions.

"Whatever some of our militarist clergy and ministers may say, there was nothing in Christ's teaching that excused the cruelties of war. He believed that non-resistance was a practical ideal for the individual, and no sentence of His can be quoted which implied that the same ideal would not also serve the nation.

"War, is of the devil, not of Christ."

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Ray Francis comes on Sunday to the Alhambra in her latest string picture for Warner Bros., "The House on 50th Street," a colourful drama based on the novel by Joseph Shulley. Miss Francis plays the part of one of the most beautiful and mysterious of Broadway butterfly girls whose beauty and charm get her into trouble. The characterisation is said to be most dramatic role of her career. The romances and the tragedies in the life of this show girl give Miss Francis the opportunity to in the gamut in emotional expression. The story centres about the unusual incidents in a mansion on 50th Street, built by a millionaire New York clubman for his chorus girl bride. At the height of her happiness, the young wife is torn from husband and home and sent to prison on a charge of murdering a former lover though innocent. Later she returns to the same house, as mistress of blackjack games. Colourful scenes take place in the famous old Casino Theatre now only a memory, at the time when Floradora was the most popular musical show of the day. Sherry's and Delmonico's and other rendezvous of the Broadway play boys of the early part of the century. The story then leaps across the years covered by the World War and comes down to modern times, winding up with a spectacular denouement in the 50th Street house. Miss Francis is supported by a sterling cast of notable players including Ricardo Cortez, Gene Raymond, John Hilday, Margaret Lindsay, Frank McHugh, Sheila Terry and William Boyd. Robert Florey directed the picture.

"Murder in Trinidad"

Heather Angel has been looking for a new girl friend. Rather lonely following her arrival from England under contract to Fox Film, she finally found a girl chum with whom "Pat" Paterson arrived in Hollywood to appear on the screen at the same studio. And now "Pat" Paterson has married, eloped to Yuma, Arizona, with Charles Hoyer, Fox Film's newly arrived French star. Angel, small, brassy, and dainty, is playing her fourth successive leading role in "Murder in Trinidad," now playing at the King's Theatre, which provides Nigel Bruce with his first real introduction in American films, and with Victor Jory, already well established on the screen in the States.

"Spitfire"

Heralded as Katharine Hepburn's best and most unique screen role to date, RKO-Radio Pictures' drama of the Carolina mountains, "Spitfire," comes to the King's Theatre next Sunday. An adaptation of the Broadway stage success, "Spitfire," tells the story of a beautiful mountain "witch" whose naive temperament and personality combine wickedness and purity, tirades and beneficent prayers, lies and truth, thefts and philanthropies, hate and all-consuming love. Hepburn is said to give utter realism to this incredibly stimulating character and to bring such dynamic power to her interpretation of this difficult role as no other star could. An excellent supporting cast includes Ralph Bellamy, Robert Young, Louis Vasson, Sara Haden and others. John Cromwell directed.

"Lady Killer"

A picture within a picture may aptly describe James Cagney's latest for Warner Bros., "Lady Killer," which is now at the Queen's Theatre, for in it Cagney appears as a motion picture star. While many in Hollywood recognize in the role that Cagney plays the counterpart of another main star in pictures, who actually rose to screen prominence by the very methods that Cagney uses to attain stardom in "Lady Killer," the important feature about the latest Cagney opus is the fact that in his new role he is called upon to portray a movie actor the very roles that has led to his present popularity in pictures. In other words, he appears in "Lady Killer" first as a gangster who flees to Hollywood in an effort to get away from his former mates and from the police who were to question him. Mac Clarke, who two years ago helped Cagney spring to fame in "Public Enemy" by standing for the pushing of a grape-fruit into her face, again is on the receiving end of the typical Cagneying managements comes to handling refractory "moll" sweethearts who refuse to be dropped. Margaret Lindsay plays the role of leading lady to Cagney, the movie star. Others in the cast include Leala Fenton, Raymond Hatton, Douglas

WATER LEVELS.

The River Conservancy Commission for Kwangtung Province notifies that the height of water in English feet in the West, North and East Rivers is as follows:

	July 18	July 19

North River at Tai-yuen	6.4	6.7
North River at Samshui	15.6	16.8
East River at Sheklung	3.3	3.7

Dumbille and George Blackwood, Roy Del Ruth directed.

"Massacre"

Richard Barthelmess' latest First National picture, "Massacre," which is showing at the Alhambra Theatre, brings to the screen a story not only packed with dramatic action and colourful spectacle but a unique romance different from the usual film love fare. While it paints with stark realism and uncompromising adherence to facts the conflict of the half savage Redman with the civilization of the whites, it also catches all the picturesque spirit of an ancient saga with its quaint and authentic tribal customs, its religious rites and ceremonial dances. Richard Barthelmess gives a virile performance as a young, educated Sioux brave who begins life as a swashbuckling circus rider, egotistically and insolently flaunting his masculine charms before a wealthy white society girl who has looked him because of her yearning for new thrills. Ann Dvorak plays the role of the Indian maid with a directness and simplicity that is highly commendable, while Claire Dodd is equally fascinating as the blonde and polished society girl who rolls her flirtatious eyes at the Indian brave.

"As Husbands Go"

Invested with a human understanding that delves deeply into the hearts of its people, Fox Film's latest release, "As Husbands Go," will prove to be an unmistakable joy to patrons of the Alhambra Theatre next week. A story that is true and human, that delves into the heart of the matter, "As Husbands Go" is one of the outstanding films of the year. Rachel Crothers who is responsible for such hits as "Let Us Be Gay" and "When Ladies Meet," again proves herself to be a master in the art of writing. Her play from which the picture was taken was a tremendous success on Broadway, and Fox Film has really done credit to itself in producing it so well for the screen. Warner Baxter, in the starring role, gives an even better performance than he did in his last three triumphs. The other members of the cast, Warner Oland, Catharine Doucet, G. P. Huntley, Jr., Frank O'Connor, Eleanor Lynn and Joy Ward, merit themselves with distinction under the able direction of Hinnilton MacFadden.

"I Cover the Waterfront"

This picture, at the Lee Theatre, is the story of a newspaper-reporter in an American Pacific Coast town. Chief industry seems to be smuggling Chinese and "hoes." Ben Lyon plays the reporter. The late Ernest Torrence is the boss and Claudette Colbert is the daughter. Some of the photography is superb, particularly the water-front "shots." A picture well worth seeing.

When HOWARD JACKSON, young secretary of the Marburg firm, comes to the small middle-western town of Marburg, Jane Terry, the prettiest girl in town, determines to win his heart. Howard is attracted by Jane's friend, AMY LOWE, but Jane schemes to keep them apart. Then one evening Howard calls on Amy and almost immediately they fall in love.

Later that night Jane confronts Howard and accuses him of breaking her heart. When he tries to calm her the interview ends with a declaration of love and announces their engagement.

A day later Howard is trying to explain to Amy what happened when Jane sees them together. She flies into a rage. Howard tells Jane he does not and never did want to marry her and that it is Amy he loves. Jane leaves. Amy admits her love for Howard and agrees to marry him.

CHAPTER VII

Miss Rosa went with Jane to the late afternoon train and waited with her in the big empty station. "I know I ought to go along with you," she said at last, "just for a few days to get you settled."

"If you want with me I'd get off at the next station and go somewhere else. I don't want you or anyone else."

"Don't strike out at me, my dear, because of your own suffering," said Miss Rosa. "That doesn't help. I'm doing all I can."

Jane went on with cruel intention. "You'll be as glad to get rid of me as I am to go. We've never been very fond of each other, have we, Aunt Rosa? You don't care about anything but playing bridge and having nice fattening meals and making the house look a little better-kept than anybody else's. I suppose you're too old to know how young people feel, really."

"Maybe I am," said Miss Rosa wearily. "Anyway, Jane, I did the best I could with my limitations. I'm very fond of you, even if you don't believe it, and it fairly tears me to see you like this."

"Will you stop nagging me?"

"Your train's coming in." She hugged Jane's stiff, resistant shoulders and kissed her on both cheeks. "Dear child, anything you want of me, any time, I'm always here."

And write to me, even if it's nothing but a card."

But Jane had pulled away from the embrace and was hurrying out to the train. The porter swung up her bag. Her trunk was slammed into the baggage car three coaches ahead. Miss Rosa watched, more unhappy and perturbed than she had ever been in her whole life.

All the way back to the house Miss Rosa was miserable with defeat. "I shouldn't have let her go," she thought. "I ought to have insisted that she stay here and face it. But she would surely have done something desperate. There's a kind of power in Jane. She made me let her go off entirely against my better judgment. I don't suppose she has the least idea of studying anywhere. Oh, Lord, what a hard time parents must have!"

Jane, by now some 50 miles away, was for the moment unaware of her advantages. The energy that had started her on this determined flight had gone. She sat crumpled in the seat, feeling nothing but Howard Jackson looking at Amy, hearing nothing but his voice saying to Amy, "I love you."

Never afterward in her life was she able to recall any detail of that journey, how she reached the hotel nor how she spent the first few days of her stay, for she was suspended in pain and unreality. The truth was that she stayed in her room most of the time, lying in bed or sitting by the window, while the management, only partly reassured by messages from Miss Rosa, kept an uneasy watch on her, sending in maids on unnecessary errands, while the housekeeper lingered nervously in the hall for their reports. Jane did not know it, but she did know that after a while she began to come alive and to feel that she must do something.

Accordingly she went out for a walk, looking into shop windows at first blankly, then with a faint interest quickened by the sight of clothes and trinkets superior to anything Marburg could offer. She began to feel a small importance, to see herself as a very attractive, well-dressed, independent young woman with any sort of interesting career she might choose open before her.

Presently she came to the park and strolled in a little way to rest in its greenness. The important feeling subsided, leaving a flatness in its place and great loneliness.

Various other strollers, mostly elderly men, glanced at her with speculative admiration, all of them only too ready and willing to start conversation. Jane saw that and it pleased her. It brought back her feeling of importance and an increased dislike of inactivity.

She must vindicate herself. She must do something quickly to show her superiority to Amy and all the meagre, stupid life of Marburg, and to take Howard Jackson realize what he had lost. A vague, brilliant vision of herself returning to dazzle and to condescend rose in her mind, but she could not evolve any definite guide toward its realization. There must be something she could study with immediate results and she would find out at once.

But the registrar's office of the Columbia summer school was baffled by Jane and bewildered by her. No, she didn't want a course of Chaucer or any other early English literature. No more did she want Romance languages. Or Greek history. Or renaissance art. Or pedagogy of any variety.

One of the secretaries, more observant than the others, had seen the tight nerves, the despairing eagerness behind Jane's apparent aimlessness and took her aside. "Look here," she said kindly, "why do you bother with this sort of thing? It's mostly for teachers, you know. You seem to me, I don't know exactly why, but you do seem to me to be looking for something quite practical, outside the field of education. Why don't you take a course in one of these high-grade secretarial schools and get into some business—publishing or advertising, maybe? My sister went to one and she's done awfully well, got a position as secretary to the editor of a big magazine and worked herself onto the staff. I'll give you a couple of addresses."

It was the first line of direction Jane had found and she probably would not have followed it but one of the schools was near her hotel. She passed it as she went back there and after a moment's hesitation returned and entered. It was a competent place with more than a suggestion of swaggar. At once Jane felt herself at ease. She was understood. She caught their possibilities. She liked the very smart frock and make-up, the detached capability of the director, Miss Jardine. In no time at all she was enrolled for as much work as she could induce them to heap upon her. "You simply can't do all these things at once," Miss Jardine told her, breaking through her cool elegance for a human moment.

"Oh, yes I can. I must," Jane replied and was gratified by the impression she was making.

That night she wrote two letters. One was to her aunt, an answer to the letters and telegrams which poor Miss Rosa had been heaping on her ever since her arrival and which Jane, so far, had not noticed. "You needn't worry about me," wrote Jane. "I am perfectly all right. I've settled everything. I went up to the University but they were a lot of old dodos and all they could offer were dead dull courses, mostly a sort of rehash of the Venerable Bodo and the Doomsday Book and other antiquated out-of-date stuff, nothing that interested me at all. So I determined to take a course in one of the modern secretarial schools and I am starting to-morrow. Don't let the idea that it's nothing but short hand and typewriting. It's quite different—the sort of work that leads at once to positions in publishing houses or big advertising agencies. I wish you'd send me everything of mine that I didn't bring along—my books and my pillows and pictures and the lacquer box on the table in my room and my large mirror."

She had written that last to make clear to her aunt—and to herself—that she was done with Marburg and was never going back to it.

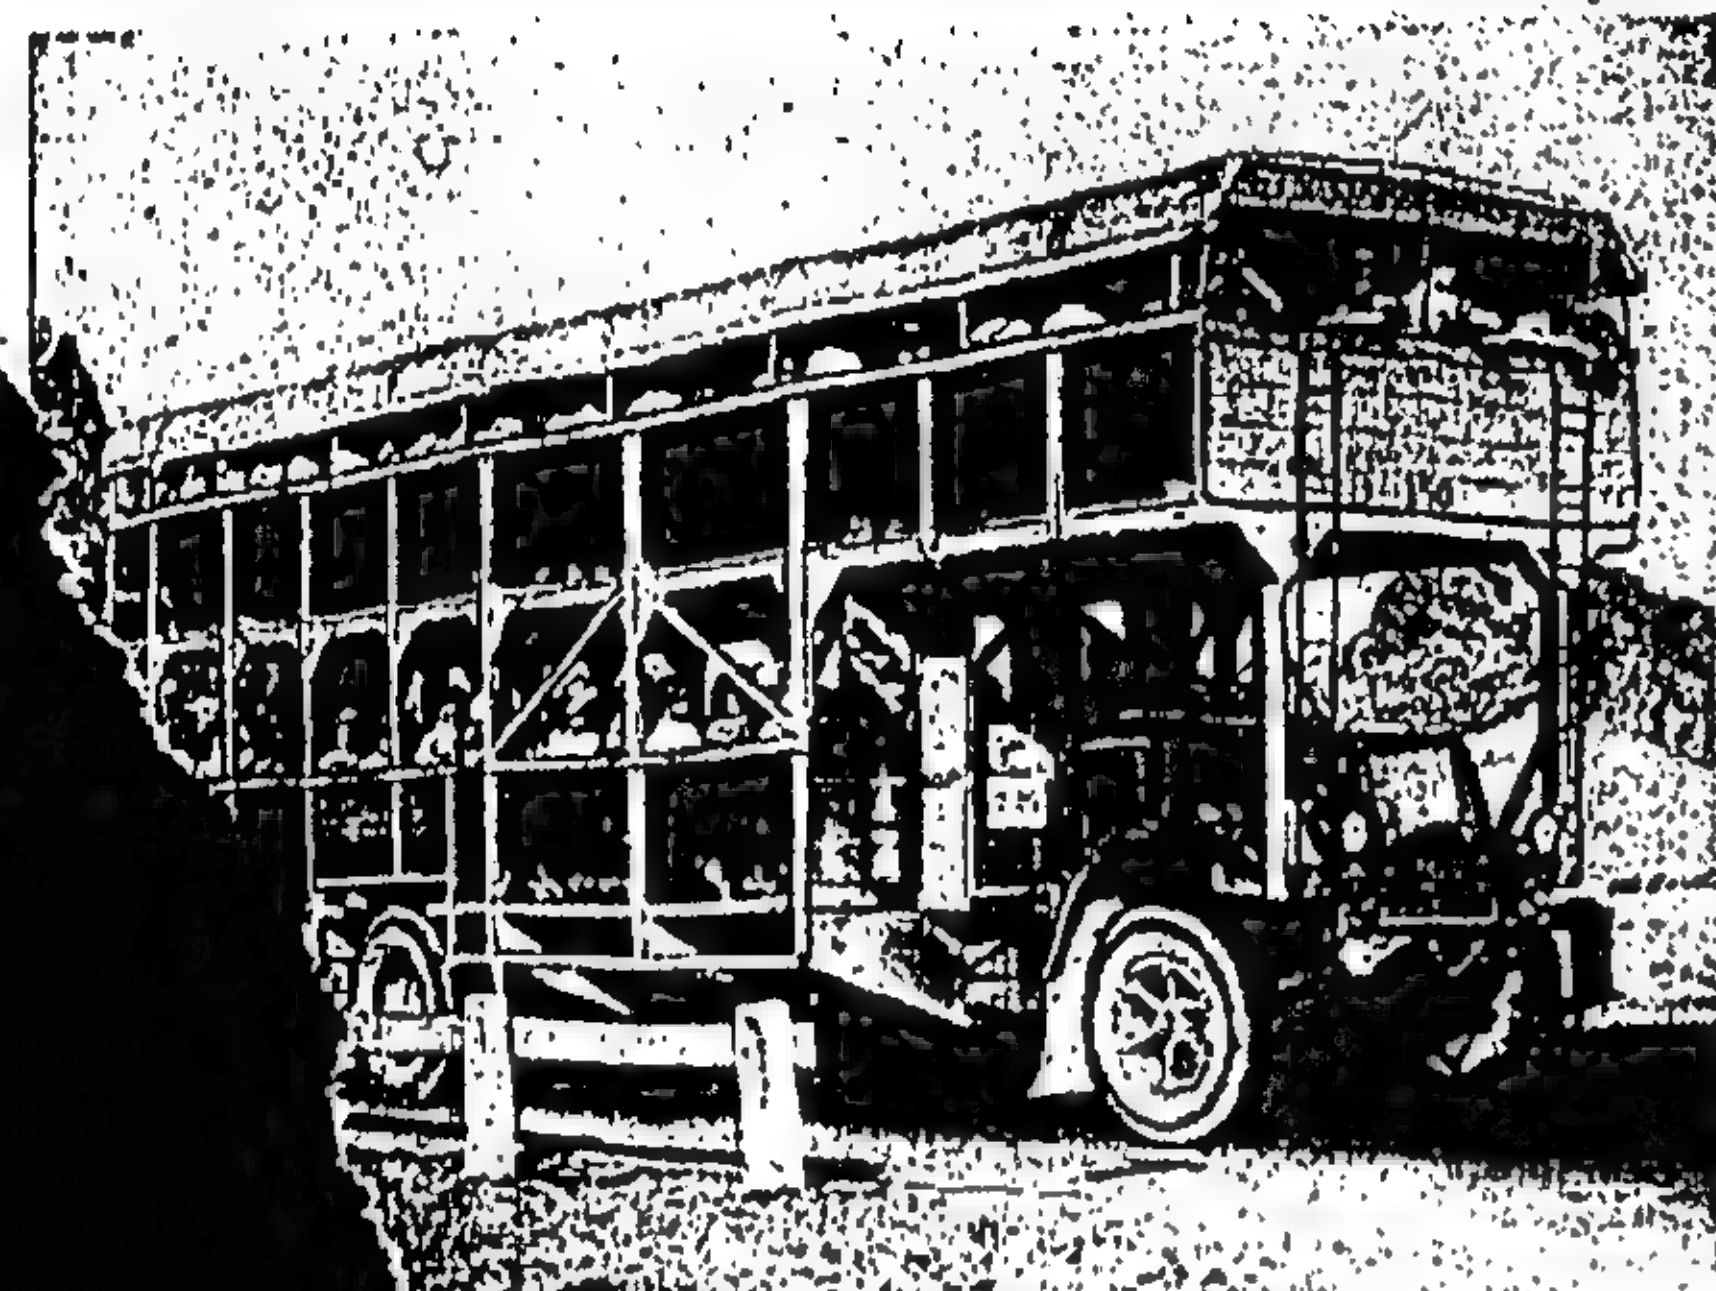

But, over the second letter she hesitated. Ever since that morning in the chapel she had been beset with the wish to revenge herself on Amy, apoll her happiness if she could. The letter, ready at last, after many crossings out and changes, was far from consistent but Jane could do no more with it. She copied it in a spontaneous, dashing hand.

"My dear Amy: I've been surprised not to hear from you since I left. It seemed to me that the least you owed me was an explanation if you didn't feel quite up to an apology. But I can see how difficult it would be for you to offer either. Really, Amy, I have been your friend so long and thought I knew you so well, but I never in the world could have suspected you of doing what you have done to me."

"I want to tell you again that in spite of everything he may say, Howard Jackson literally pursued me with his attentions and made love to me ardently. Also he certainly did ask me to marry him. I cared for him deeply. I believed in his honour and sincerity and I know him so well that I still believe in them and am still absolutely certain that he cares for me and you have deliberately stepped in to drive us apart. Well, you have succeeded. You have taken away from me the only man I could ever care for—a man who really loved me until you came between us. Fortunately I am strong enough to go on without you, without either of you. But the scar of this wound you have inflicted will always remain."

To Miss Rosa, Jane's letter indicated that Jane was herself again and not utterly broken under the force of her engagement.

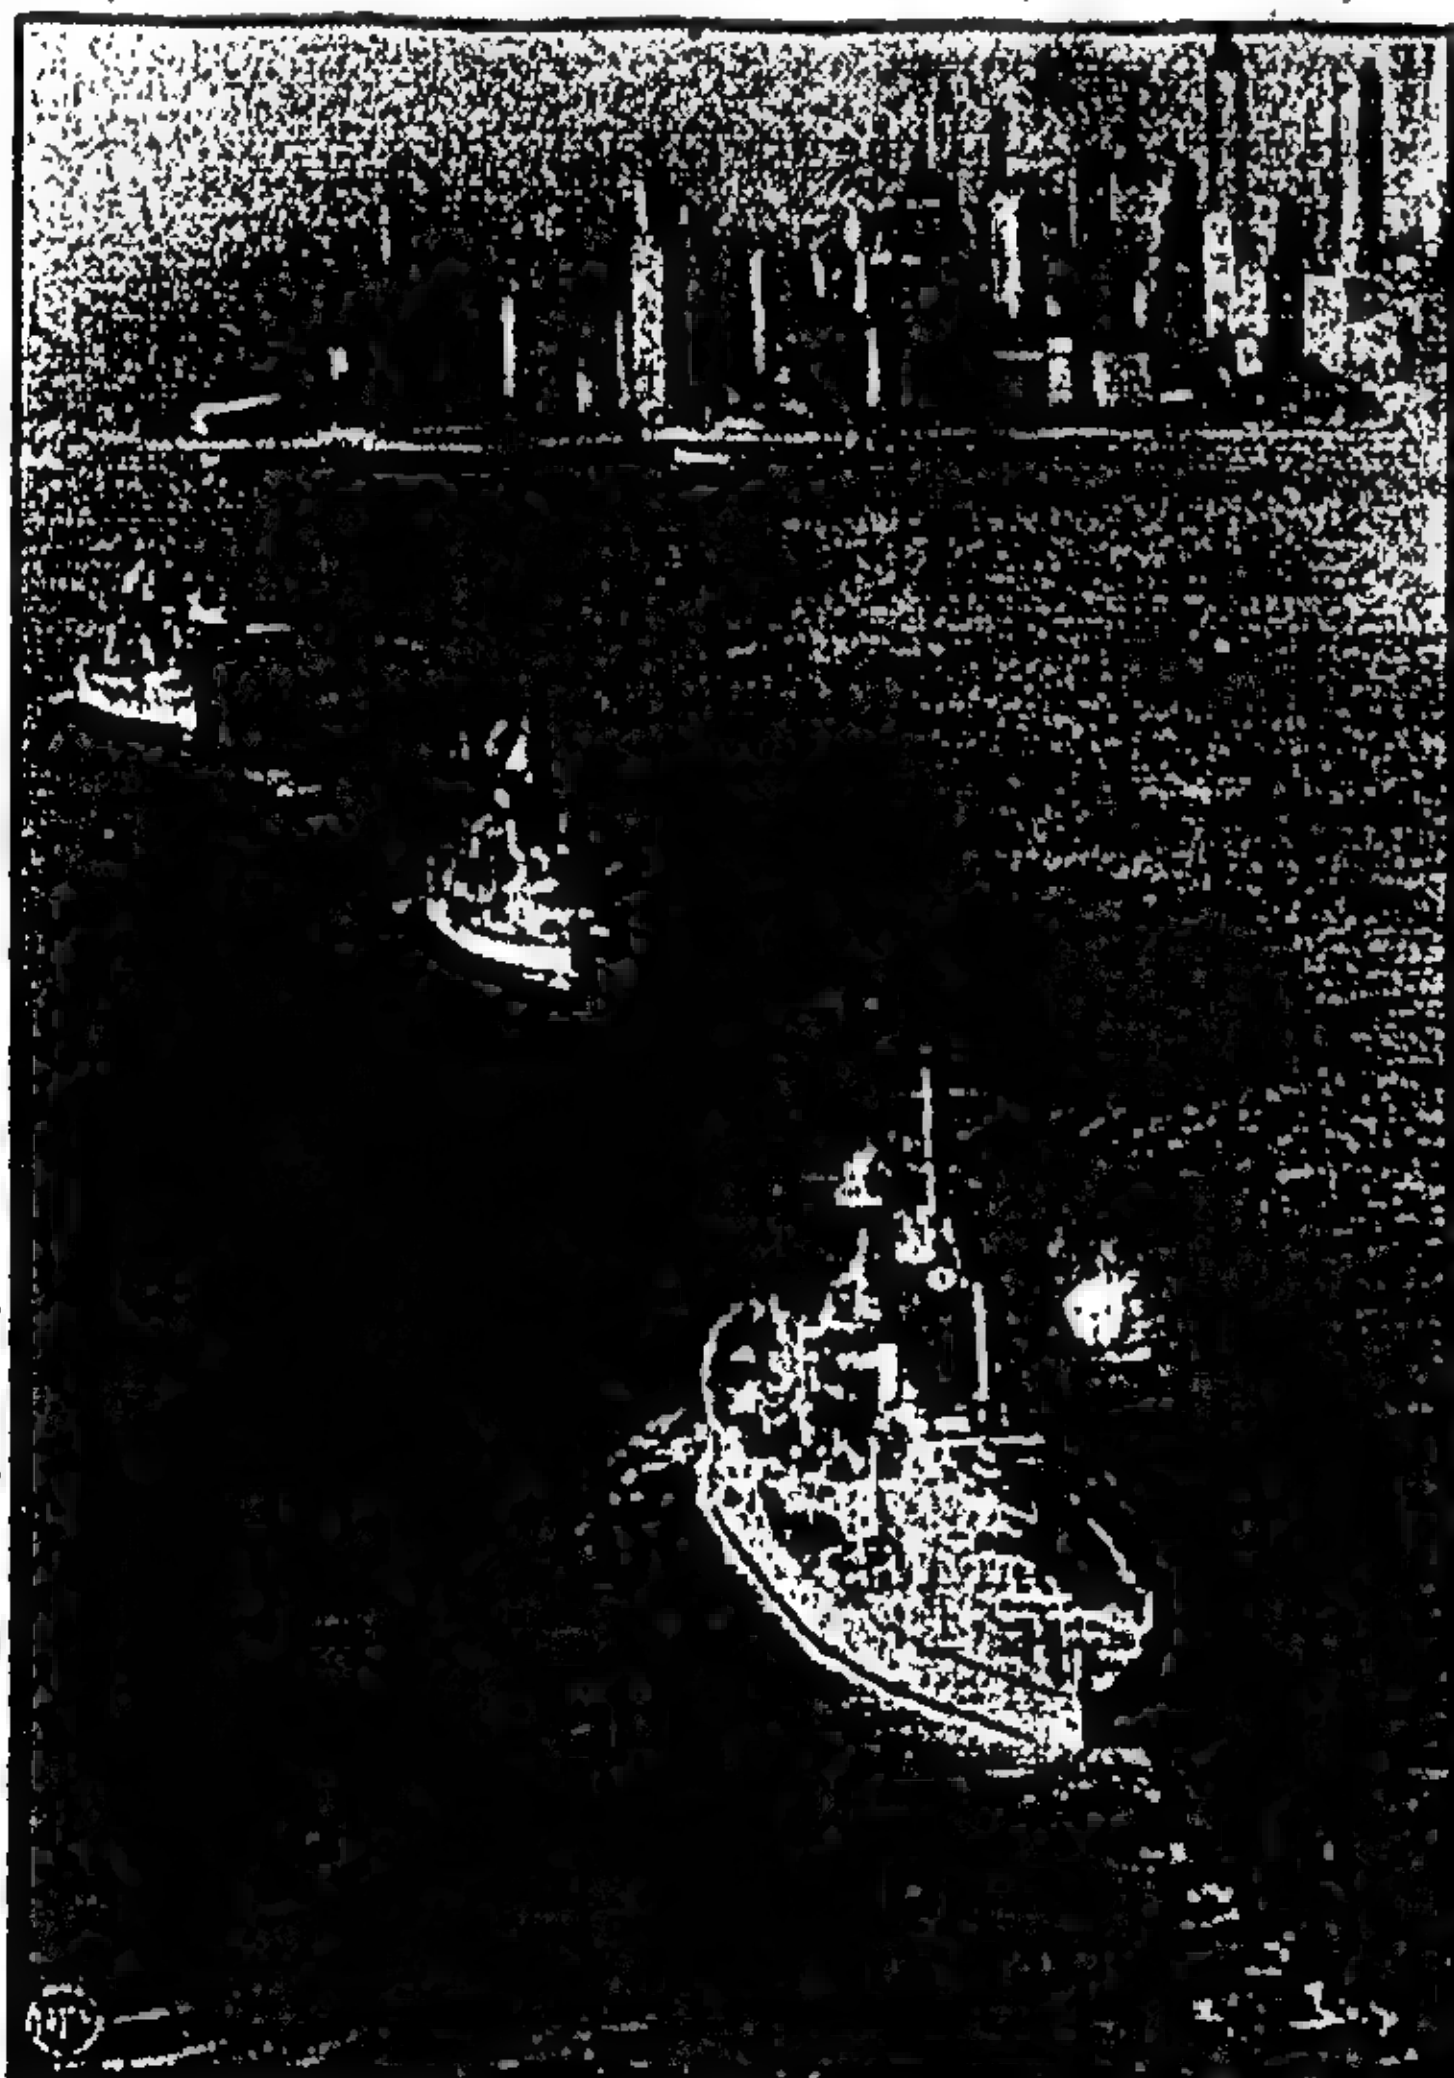

For Amy here was no such comfort. When she saw Jane's letter she did not want to open it, and the actual reading overwhelmed her. She couldn't show it to Howard. (Continued on Page 10.)

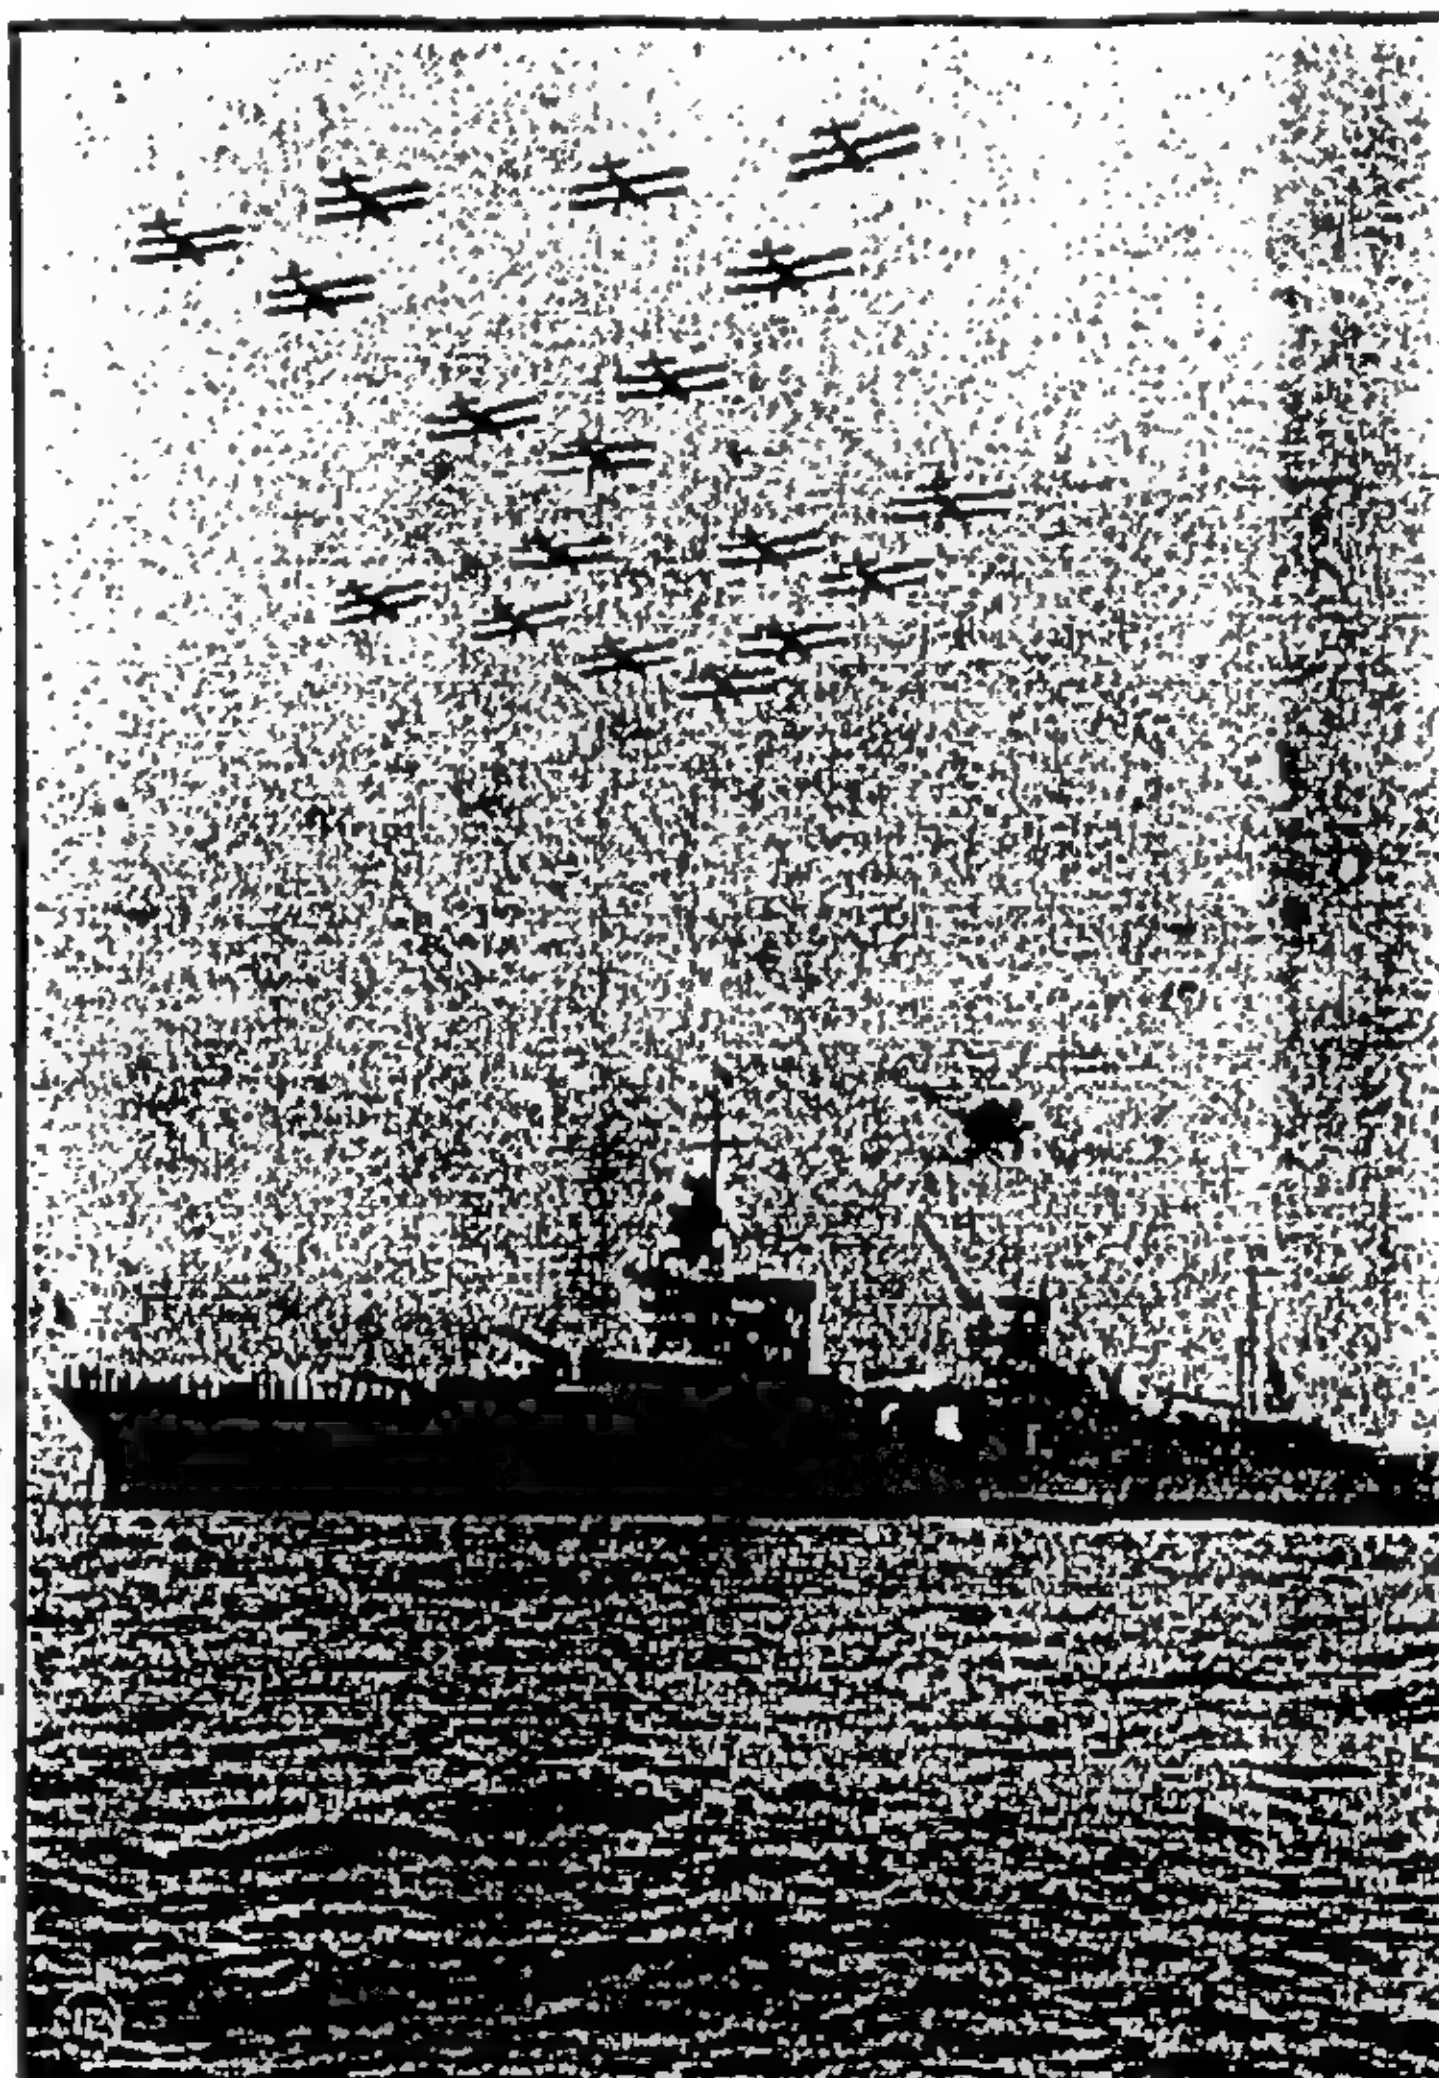

said to be the largest passenger bus in the world. It carries and is used on the Boulder Dam project to carry men from Boulder City to the Dam site.

As jolly as the jolliest tars in Uncle Sam's navy were President Roosevelt and the two other "big gun" of the great review of the fleet in New York harbour when this striking photo was taken aboard the Indianapolis during manoeuvres. Pictured with the president, centre, who himself was assistant secretary of the navy, are Claude Swanson, left, present secretary of the navy, and Josephus Daniels, right, former secretary of the navy and now ambassador to Mexico.

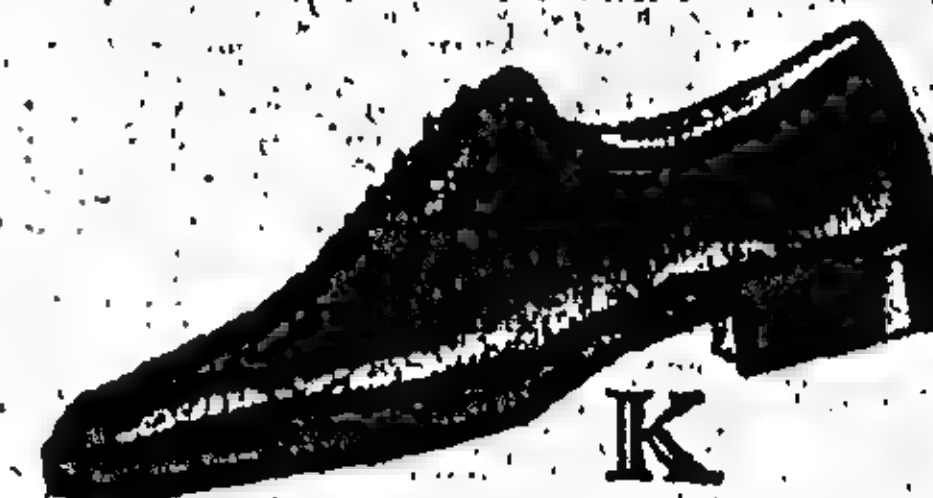

Man's mightiest creations on sea and land loom impressively in this picture, as New York's colossal skyscrapers look down on the approach of Uncle Sam's fleet. Ships of the line are shown steaming before lower Manhattan's battlements in their progress through New York harbour, on their anchorage up the Hudson, after President Roosevelt had reviewed the fleet.

In a magnificent spectacle climaxing the greatest U. S. naval review since World War days, Uncle Sam's fighting planes from the carriers Saratoga and Lexington soared, dipped, and wheeled in intricate formation then flew over President Roosevelt's reviewing ship, the Indianapolis, as shown in this impressive picture taken off Ambrose lightship, New York harbour.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S MARKET IRREGULAR

According to Messrs. Swan Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was irregular yesterday. The Wall Street Journal reports:—The market went upward, due to optimism over the coast strike but eased off due to selling of commodities, especially wheat, due to rumours of fresh difficulties in Germany and that the death-roll in the recent revolt in estimated at 2,000 people and that Von Papen is in control of the country. However, official denial of the rumours strengthened commodities and wheat somewhat but stocks held lower due to the absence of buying demand. Marks were up as much as half a Cent in relation to the Dollar which experts attributed to Russia buying Marks for commercial purposes. Curb stocks were easier but bonds were steady.

Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz's New York office cable report: The market showed a firm tone in spite of the weakness of a few individual issues. Business done: 610,000. Bank Clearings amounted to $5,103,000,000, compared with $5,584,000,000 for the corresponding week of last year. Bankers' Acceptances outstanding on June 30th amounted to $534,193,000, a decrease of $34,597,000 from the month of May, reflecting the continued tendency towards cheaper credit. According to the Inter States Commerce Commission, passenger revenue on Class "A" railroads for the first five months of the year amount to $139,636,000, compared with $119,621,000 for the same period of last year. The net income of the Continental Can Company for the year ended June 30th amounted to $9,000,000, which is equal to $5.16 per share, as compared with a net income of $5,431,000, which is equal to $3.13 per share, for the preceding year. Wholesale gasoline prices in the Mid-Continent area have been advanced by half a Cent per gallon. This improvement in the price structure is ascribed to the successful operation of the Gasoline Pool which was organized recently in order to stabilize the market. The Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, and other leading marketers of gasoline, have raised the gasoline retail price in Upper New York State from One to 3 1/2 Cents per gallon. These increases in the price mark the termination of the local price wars. Messrs. Montgomery Ward showed a net profit of $633,000 for the month of June, as compared with a net loss amounting to $302,000 for the corresponding period of last year. Favourable factors: Settlement of the Detroit and Akron strikes. The San Francisco strike is apparently approaching a compromise. The approved contract with the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America of sizeable short-covering the upturn should continue. Unfavourable factors: There is still greatly restricted interest on the part of traders. Grain: News was sensationally bullish. Corn crop losses continue under the scorching heat-wave in the West and the South-west and the situation favours buying on declines. Spring wheat and corn are deteriorating owing to the drought. In the corn Belt there are rains in Illinois and Indiana. The weather in the rest of the Belt is clear and hot.

Cotton: Lower on a report of showers at one point east of Texas and on unfavourable developments in Germany. Coincident with this is the slackening of Trade buying, which acts top-heavy on advances but the drought news continues to be the main factor. In the cotton belt, the weather in the East is fair, with scattered showers in the Central belt. In Oklahoma, weather conditions are fair. In East Texas conditions are fair to partly cloudy and unsettled. In the East coast and West Texas, the weather is fair, but cloudy over some parts. The weather is warmer in the extreme South and West portion of the Belt tonight.

Rubber: The market was very steady on Trade and foreign buying. Actuals are firm above exchange rates. Sugar: Firm, with a better demand for Spots. Dow-Jones Averages:

SKEET.

The most fascinating, most exasperating form of artificial target shooting so far invented.

A SQUAD AT STATION NO. 8

Skeet is a practical form of wing shooting where the shooter has an opportunity to test his skill any month of the year on a series of shots similar to those encountered in hunting.

Our skeet ground at Tai Lam Chung, 16 mile post on the Castle Peak Road, is now open to the public, every day, any hour. Cartridges can be purchased from our store by license holders and targets can be purchased on the grounds.

CENTRAL BRITISH SCHOOL

YEAR OF GOOD PROGRESS

TRIBUTE TO STAFF

"We desire and we plan that all our pupils, boys and girls, should develop the physical side of their education on the most modern and broad lines of which we are capable. I wish parents and guardians to understand that, unless adequate reason for the contrary are adduced, drill, swimming and games are compulsory."

At the Central British School prize distribution at St. Andrew's Church Hall this morning, Mr. J. Ralston, Headmaster, made the above statement in the course of his report.

The prizes were presented by Mr. G. R. Sayer, Director of Education, who was supported on the platform by Mrs. J. Ralston, Mr. and Mrs. T. Rowell and Mrs. R. A. D. Forrest.

GOOD PROGRESS.

In the course of his report, Mr. Ralston said:

"We have now reached the end of another school year; and, though we have had about seven weeks less than the usual time in which to undertake the annual curriculum, I am pleased to report normal progress and success in all departments of the school's activities. The attendance and conduct have been satisfactory and the health of staff and pupils uniformly good."

"This is the first occasion on which I have presided at the prize-giving ceremony of Central British school and I wish to say now, even at the risk of your judging me insincere in the light of many stern criticisms of work and behaviour, that it has given me the very greatest pleasure to have been with you all during the last seven months. In the masters and mistresses without exception I have found such a body of helpers as I have not known before—who give of themselves constantly and unsparringly for the welfare of the school. It is too much perhaps to hope that you boys and girls appreciate this fully now; but it is certain that in days to come you will to some extent realize just how much and thought was expended upon you in C.B.S."

YOUTH AND AGE.

"Speech Days are probably the only occasion on which I allow myself to be sentimental and, looking at those young eager faces before me, I am aware of forty years on, growing older and older. For you there is a mountain of labours behind you and a seemingly infinite stretch of holidays ahead. Never again in post-school life will you experience the same fine careless rapture. I hope your holiday will more than fulfil your utmost expectations."

"In all well-conducted enterprises periodical halts are called, and here this morning we cast off the responsibility of our routine labours and pause to take stock, to assess the progress we have made and to contemplate the numerous problems that lie ahead. To ensure success there must be, and I feel sure that at the present time there is, close and sympathetic co-operation between the administrative authorities, teachers, parents and pupils. We all look forward to the time, now not far distant, when our efforts and association will centre round the new and commodious Central British School premises destined to be erected in the near future."

"Success in our undertaking—the scholastic training of the European children of Hongkong—also entails the consideration of physical, moral and intellectual aspects. Pupils have individual sides to their natures and we have to develop to the best advantage the capacities with which each is endowed. Sir Kynaston Studd, who presented the prizes at Mill Hill School last year, said, 'If you have not physical fitness you will never be mentally sound. You may be brilliant but you will never be sound.'"

COMPULSORY GAMES.

"We desire and we plan that all our pupils, boys and girls, should develop the physical side of their education on the most modern and broad lines of which we are capable. I wish parents and guardians to understand that, unless adequate reason for the contrary are adduced, drill, swimming and games are compulsory. During the year just completed the usual organized games and matches against other schools were indulged in and our annual field and swimming sports held. The House system continues to assist by providing that healthy competition and rivalry which is so essential a preparation for adult life."

"Mr. Sayer, the Director of Education, is going to distribute

MAGISTRATE ISSUES WARNING

"The maximum penalty for this is $250," was the warning sounded by Mr. Hamilton in the Central Police Court this morning when he imposed a fine of $50, or one month's hard labour, on Li Sui-nau, 23, coolie who admitted having brought a dog from Kowloon to Hongkong without a permit from the Colonial Veterinary Surgeon. Sub-Inspector Dredge stated the dog was a brown and white puppy. Defendant told the police that he got the dog from a man aboard a junk. Enquiries were made and this was verified. Mr. Hamilton—The worst type of dogs are those from junks. If these people choose to take dogs about, the fine will be made heavier and heavier. There were two deaths from hydrophobia in the last fortnight.

the prizes and scholarship certificates, but before I request him to do so I wish to congratulate the winners. They have done well. They have gained their reward and to-day is theirs in full measure. To those of you who have not been so successful, and that means most of you, I would say, 'Do not be unduly depressed.' You have encouragement in the knowledge that many of the greater men and women of the world were not prize-winners at school."

C.B.S. IDEALS.

"School examinations have so far not been entirely successful in discovering the children who will make good in the great world later on. That does not mean that all the failures among you will eventually become famous. But the world necessarily demands many varied services from its citizens and, if you maintain the ideals that have been set before you in Central British School, I feel confident that you will, each one of you, contribute your quota to the sum total of human endeavour and happiness."

"In conclusion, I desire to tender thanks to the following:—The Chairman and Committee of St. Andrew's Society for two J. R. M. Smith Scholarships; instead of one as is usual; the Manager of the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Company for much appreciated assistance during the year; and also for the two annual Dock Company Scholarships; Lieutenant-Colonel H. B. L. Dowling, O.B.E., for his annual History prizes; Mr. Ezra Abraham for two Mathematical prizes in place of the 'Ezra Abraham Scholarship' for which no pupil was eligible; to Rev. Mr. Higgs for the use of this hall; and lastly to Mr. Sayer for so kindly attending and giving away the prizes."

MR. SAYER'S SPEECH.

"Following Mr. Ralston's report, Mr. Sayer presented the prizes and, at the conclusion, thanked Mr. Ralston for asking him to do so, and, in particular, to listen to his satisfactory report on the activities of the Central British School."

Mr. Sayer continued:—Your tribute to your staff made particularly pleasant hearing. It was a generous tribute and one which I believe having heard the same from quite independent sources."

"In reference to Sir Kynaston Studd and the subject of physical fitness. You possibly left it to me to point the moral, for Sir Kynaston Studd, in his youth, was one of England's best cricketers and, in later years, when he became Lord Mayor of London, he realized that it is not really essential to wander about with a stick or bag over your shoulder to rise to the highest peaks of eminence in commercial life."

Mr. Sayer congratulated the winners of prizes and scholarships and concluded by wishing all the pupils a pleasant summer holiday."

SHIP SHOOTING INCIDENT

MORE EVIDENCE AT SESSIONS

The trial of Sarwan Singh on charges of wounding with intent, and wounding, Thakur Singh, a fellow Sikh guard, by shooting him through the chest, on the a.s. Fatshan on April 12, was continued before the Chief Justice, Mr. A. D. A. MacGregor, this morning. Accused, who denied the charges, was stated to be jealous of rivalry for the position of Sergeant of the Guard."

Mr. J. A. Fraser, Assistant Attorney General, represented the Crown, and the following jury was empanelled: Messrs. C. S. Roselet (foreman), J. D. Kinnauld, A. E. Ahlong, Andrew Cheung Yau-ken, S. E. Green, Chou Poyow, J. F. Richmond."

The Second Officer, Mr. J. F. Pollett, told the court this morning that in the late afternoon he was in his cabin when he heard a shot followed by a scuffle and another shot. He ran out and found Gazar Singh struggling with accused. Witness went to his assistance and accused gave in and was disarmed."

Mr. Judge, Second Engineer, corroborated.

APPLIED FOR JOB.

Mr. J. M. McWilliams, Chief Officer, said accused handed him a letter of application for the job of Sergeant and made a verbal request at the same time. With regard to the message with which accused duped Thakur and Gazar Singh into coming forward, witness denied having sent any message at all."

Capt. W. T. Hodge gave formal evidence and two sailors boys said they heard a shot fired."

Hazar Singh said he was temporarily in charge of the guard at the time of the incident. Accused first wanted Singh to be No. 1, but a meeting was held at which it was desired to keep the position for one of the present constituted guard. Witness was with Thakur Singh when accused shot him and he immediately accused with him and struggled for possession of the revolver. The weapon was pointing at him, but fired for the second time."

Acting Sub-Inspector O'Donnell gave formal evidence. Accused was found guilty. Sentence will be passed on Monday."

STONE-YARD FRACAS

COOLIES WARNED BY BENCH

The Ningpo and Hakka coolies who were arrested after the fight in Messrs. Logan and Amps' stone-yard in Pokwawan last week were all bound over in the sum of $25, when they were brought before Mr. Wynne-Jones again at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. "Understand this: if you are up here again, you will not only lose this bond of $25, but you will go to prison as well," warned his Worship."

There were seven Ningpo men and eight Hakka men in Court. Two failed to appear and had their bail of $25 each forfeited. Four men are still in hospital."

ANGLO-AUSTRALIAN FILM PLAN

PRODUCTIONS TO START SOON

For the purpose of making Australian films with the help of British technicians, directors and stars, a new company has been formed called Anglo-Australian Films Proprietary Limited. Production will begin towards the end of the year, states Austral News. The first managing director of this big co-operative effort is Mr. Lorne Webb, who for some years has been active in the British film industry, both as manager of some of the biggest west-end theatres and later in the production side of the work."

SPOON-FED PUBLIC.

GERMANY'S BAN AGAINST FOREIGN NEWSPAPERS

Berlin, July 19. A dozen important foreign newspapers, to which Germans have lately been turning more and more to glean news of the happenings in their own country, have now been banned."

The forbidden publications include the London Daily Telegraph, Le Matin, Le Temps, and Le Journal, all of Paris, Der Reichspost, of Vienna, El Heraldo, of Madrid and Bohemia, of Prague. Reuter."

LADY MOTORIST FINED

DODWELL AND CO. ALSO SUMMONED

Miss Noreen Cooper was fined $5 by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning for driving car No. 419 on Taiipo Road at 6.15 p.m. on July 1, without an appropriate driver's licence. She pleaded guilty."

His Worship:—Have you got a licence now?

Defendant:—No.

His Worship:—Have you got a learner's licence?

Defendant:—No. I have no car to drive now."

His Worship:—You seem to have had one that day. Arising out of this case, the manager of the Motor Department of Messrs. Dodwell & Co. was summoned for failing to notify a change of ownership of car No. 419 and allowing an unlicensed driver to drive it."

CAR HIRED OUT.

Traffic Inspector Saunders said the car was bought by Messrs. Dodwell and Co. but they did not notify the police. With regard to the other charge, Dodwell's did not hire the car to Miss Cooper, but to a man who was not a licensed driver, and who later allowed Miss Cooper to drive the car."

In the circumstances, his Worship held that Dodwell's could not be held responsible for allowing Miss Cooper to drive the car. They were wrong in hiring it to the man who took the car out originally, but this point was not before his Worship."

The second charge was dismissed and a fine of $5 was imposed on the first."

OTHER CASES.

For not having a number plate on his car, E. Rochna, of Messrs. Wallace Harper and Co., was fined $10."

W. Buehner, of No. 33 Cumberland Road, was fined $3 for failing to show a red lamp in the rear of his car."

A. A. Gerrard, who was summoned for driving car No. 2669 on Castle Peak Road without a licence on June 23, was fined $5."

NORTHERN AFFAIRS.

Peking, July 19.

On behalf of the Central Government, Mr. Tang Yu-jen, on his arrival here to-day from Nanking, denied reports that Chinese and Japanese delegates are holding conference at Dairen to discuss North China affairs."

Mr. Tang added that he hoped that General Kuang-Fu, Chairman of the Peking Military Council and Pacification Commissioner for North China, would change his mind and not resign, as it was rumoured he intended, from the Commissionership.—Reuter."

RUBBER DUTIES.

BATAVIA ANNOUNCES LOWER SCALE

Batavia, July 19. The Government has fixed an export duty on native rubber on the basis of ten cents per half kilogram of dry rubber, compared with a previous tariff of eight cents."

The duty will come into force for exports of wet rubber on August 1 and for dry rubber on September 16.—Reuter."

The St. George's Riding Academy is holding, next month, a competition tournament for the benefit of its pupils, the prizes to consist of silver cups and trophies. The event should prove a great attraction. Included in the competition are two games invented by Lieut.-Col. D. G. Kozlisk, "Ball-play" and "Polo-Goir". The games are as exciting to watch as they are thrilling for the rider to play. There will also be the popular game of "Fox-play."

There's food for thought in many a social.

"SINS OF THE RICH"

POINTED SERMON BY DEAN INGE

CALL FOR MEN WITH COURAGE

Dean Inge, preaching at St. Mary's, Bryanston-square, London, referred to "the sins of the rich."

"There is much handshaking in the street," he remarked, "and yet a man who is making his money in the most discreditable manner is not put under suspicion until he is publicly exposed."

"Take the terrible sin of adultery, which is so much committed among the rich class. Is it right that this rich class should be specially forgiven?"

"Some Americans complain of the graft and greed, and the appalling wickedness of two or three men. It is not so much that, but a human co-operative movement of several thousands of people. It is a sort of co-operative movement with a limited liability."

"I am convinced that political remedy will not work," the Dean continued. "Man cannot be made moral by Parliamentary legislation."

What was wanted, he asserted, was a few more John the Baptists, men who could not be bought or silenced except by murder, men who would be the voice of the conscience of the community. Courage and disinterestedness were two necessary qualities that ought to be forthcoming in a free people."

There was plenty to make them uneasy in their own country. The surface of society was decent and comely, but how much wickedness and corruption were hidden under the surface? Were they consenting parties to any abuses, or did they say, 'Such is the way of the world?'

Was it not their business, but to show up, and try to stop any scandals that came before their eyes?"

SWALLOWING A SIX FOOT CANE

AMAZING NATIVE RITE

Swallowing a piece of bent cane about 3 or 4 feet long is the amazing feat performed by members of a newly discovered tribe in New Guinea."

The story was told Austral News by Mr. W. P. Chinnery, government anthropologist, who is on one of the Mandates Commission of the League of Nations, as the accredited Australian representative. He considers the cane swallowing ceremony of the tribe, as the most astounding act he has ever heard of or witnessed. The witch doctors bend the cane until the ends meet and force it down the man's throat until only the ends remain projecting out of the mouth. Some natives had been known to swallow two or three pieces."

Mr. Chinnery was unable to discover why or how they did it. "The discovery of the tribe," he said, "had followed the opening during the past 12 months of 4,000 square miles of country in the heart of New Guinea by officers of the district service. The home of the natives was on a vast plateau, 6,000 feet above sea level. They possessed good physique, and were more intelligent than the average New Guinea native. Their method of cultivation had been an eye-opener, because it was far above the standard adopted by natives, who had previously had no contact with white men. They dug their plots with wooden implements, and the gardens were systematically arranged in rows, checkboard fashion. A trench was dug between each row for irrigation purposes. Sweet potatoes, bananas, and yams were grown, and apparently, the natives had used that method of cultivation for generations."

Only by building a track with malice scrub and taking trailers over the sand one at a time was any progress made, says Austral News. The hills were from 50 yards to half a mile in length with an average gradient of 1 in 10. The half mile one took an hour and 40 minutes to negotiate."

By distributing the load differently the second trail yielded better results, and Captain Roscoe of the Overseas Transport Committee, who is in charge, is confident of ultimate success."

has now reached $111,257. Of this $28,200 is for prize money, $2,200 for golf, $22,434 cycling, and $1,373 for yachting. The value of trophies, in addition, will total more than $2,000."

KANGAROO HUNT FOR DUKE

SHOWING HIM STATION LIFE

The Duke of Gloucester will, it is hoped, be able to visit one typical sheep station when he visits Australia for the Melbourne Centenary Celebrations. To that end preparations are in train at the Queensland homestead of Mr. and Mrs. Scott McLeod in the Inglewood district, says Austral News. A kangaroo hunt, a rodeo and sheep shearing are among the entertainments in contemplation for the Duke there, says Austral News. Mr. McLeod intends to keep back about 5,000 sheep from the ordinary shearing and have a full complement of shearers working "double-board" so that the Duke will see how it is done in the Australian way."

Possibly a hundred kangaroos will be rounded up by beaters in the surrounding bush. The guns will be arranged about a suitable area, and if luck holds good shooting will follow."

CLIMBING SAND HILLS

TRANSPORT UNIT FROM ENGLAND

Interested eyes have been watching the first trial on Australian sandhills of the 15 ton transport unit, a tractor and two trailers, which was brought from England to be tested under Australian conditions."

First results were disappointing. Only by building a track with malice scrub and taking trailers over the sand one at a time was any progress made, says Austral News. The hills were from 50 yards to half a mile in length with an average gradient of 1 in 10. The half mile one took an hour and 40 minutes to negotiate."

The Very Idea!

BUY OUR BODY

By Eddie "Woolworth" Kelly
Whenever Max Baer felt the need for raising a sum of money rapidly, we read in a morning contemporary, it was his custom to sell shares in himself. To-day Max owns only 30 per cent. of himself, the remaining 70 per cent. being variously split up amongst many persons.

THIS man Baer is a bear after our own heart. We thought of that scheme long ago, but somehow or the other, the Hongkong public didn't seem to have enough faith in us.

We once endeavoured to sell our whole body to the Hongkong University for vivisection purposes, but the University demanded the body before payment.

Still, the scheme is worth re-considering, especially as Maxie seems to have made a success of it.

And, when you come to boil it down, why confine the scheme to ourselves. There are plenty of people in Hongkong who would find the sale of portions of their body a profitable business.

The local medical profession, which has been hard hit by the heat wave, because people no longer catch colds, would jump at the opportunity.

Appendicitis operations would be undertaken free, as the profit from the sale of the appendices would more than compensate for the cost of the operations.

The advertising columns and news paragraphs in local newspapers would be filled with reports and offers of sales.

Something like this, we suppose: WANTED—SELL your body to the highest bidder. Top prices paid for old teeth, ingrowing toenails and corns. Save the corns and the kidneys will look after themselves. Don't be misled by other firms offering higher prices. We Pay Cash.

FOR SALE IMMEDIATE POSSESSION—1900 Model wife. Splendid condition, sound in every limb. Only had one owner, carefully driven since new. New set of teeth this year. Numerous extras thrown in. Owner obtaining new model and will consider any reasonable offer.

THE RESURRECTION OF CATALONIA

By A. Eddy

Among the national problems of Spain the problem of Catalonia requires the most urgent solution.

The Catalans are a highly developed and individualistic people descending from the Phoenicians, Greeks, Celts and Jews, and are the most typical of that Mediterranean race which has contributed so much to the intellectual and artistic development of Europe.

Temperamentally and physically they differ immensely from the Spaniards, and their language is just as different from Spanish as French or Italian. Their capital, Barcelona, is not only one of the most beautiful and historically interesting cities of Europe to-day, but it was two thousand years ago under Julius Caesar a free city exempted from paying tribute to the Roman Empire. Very few people know that before Spain ever was, Catalonia had given three emperors to Rome, Trajan and Augustus III, being the best known among them, and that the oldest constitution in Europe is not the Magna Charta but the "Usatges" promulgated in Barcelona in 1068.

ONCE A GREAT POWER.

Barcelona with the hinterland of Catalonia was at the height of her power from the 13th to the 16th century, her Counts and later Kings conquering the Balearic Islands, Sardinia and Sicily, and extending their domain to the other side of the Pyrenees, now South-eastern France, where a great number of people to-day speak Catalan known under the name of "patois". The fact that 200 out of the 300 ships comprising the united Christian fleet which destroyed the naval power of the Turks in the battle of Lepanto in 1571, were financed by Barcelona is an eloquent proof of the power wielded by the Catalans at that time.

By intermarrying with the ruling house of Aragon which in turn united with that of Castille, the Catalans lost their independence and Catalonia became an integral part of Spain. In spite of the continuous rebellions and uprisings against the Spanish yoke, it was only in 1932 that the Catalans were granted autonomy embodied in the so-called "Estatuto" or Home Rule.

The writer had the good fortune of residing in Barcelona when the Catalan deputies finally brought home the Estatuto after generations of unsuccessful efforts and for days and days the rejoicing in Catalonia was indescribable. They recalled with bitterness the rule of the Spaniards especially during the dictatorship of Primo de Rivera when the Spanish officials used to frown upon the sons

"Instead of going to the country this summer, we're going to spend our vacation right out here."

NOTES OF THE DAY

A RICKSHA DANGER

The ricksha coolie and his vehicle have been described as a danger both to mechanical and pedestrian traffic, as well as to the coolie himself. Acceptance of this condemnation immediately places upon the authorities the obligation of properly controlling such a menace. In many respects, this work is being well carried out, yet it would appear that the dangers presented by the uncontrolled rush of rickshas and chairs to the entrance of the Star Ferry wharf between 7 and 8 o'clock every morning have entirely escaped the notice of the authorities. Apart from describing figures in the air with his stick, should one of the coolies be foolish enough to come to near him, the constable on point duty at the Ferry shows no interest in the turmoil which goes on around him every ten minutes.

NO CONTROL

Apparently his whole concern is to regulate motor vehicles approaching the wharf simultaneously with the exodus of passengers from the ferry. That accomplished, he can stand back with calm detachment until it is appropriate for motor transport to continue on its way. Meanwhile, a howling, jeering, laughing mob of ricksha pullers, with their two-wheel chariots and dangerous shafts, surround the out-going ferry passengers, impeding their progress, and making positively hazardous the journey from the Ferry to the opposite side of the Praya. Further confusion is wrought by the rickshas being rushed indiscriminately from behind stationary cars, while pedestrians are pestered several yards down the road by the persistent pullers. Should the constable on point duty take it into his head to chase a too-venturesome coolie, there is a wild stampede towards the Post Office, pedestrians being forced to flee to avoid ricksha shafts in the middle of their backs.

INTOLERABLE POSITION

The situation is really intolerable. Whilst allowed such freedom, the ricksha puller is just as dangerous at 7 o'clock in the morning as he is in the full tide of traffic at midday. Business people coming across from Kowloon daily have to suffer discomfort and not a little indignity as a result of the uncontrolled behaviour of these ricksha coolies early in the morning. It is high time the authorities took adequate measures for the amelioration of existing conditions.

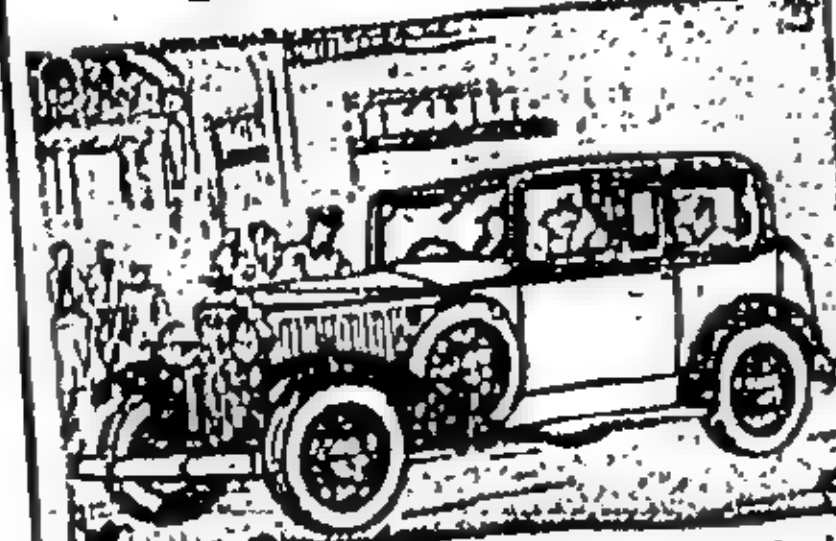

"S.F." NOW!

The reader who took us kindly to task over our use of the term "Frisco as a contraction for San Francisco is still not quite satisfied. We are therefore giving him the whole of this note in which to explain precisely what he feels on the subject. Here are his own words: "There isn't a San Francisco at large who lacks feeling for his city being inaccurately discounted when abbreviated to even 'Frisco'. So in this case, in good clean fair fun, I want to bring your attention to the fact that the initials S.F. would not as seriously mislead your intelligent readers as 'Frisco', nor would they lower a heretofore creditable standard of news reporting. It is a small matter but 'Frisco' was coined in the pre-Prohibition days of the famous Barbary Coast and Columbus Avenue and used exclusively by deck sailors and transient lumber camp workers who came out of the mountains to spend their six month or yearly earnings on whatever colourful pleasures they found. I am sure none of your intelligent or highbrow readers would care to place themselves in any of the three classes by your allowing them the possibility of reading out loud headlines or columns containing the contraction 'Frisco'. It inevitably does, you know, if anyone who's been there happens to overhear. If you must be brief, there's no other reputable city in the world known as S.F. and no S.F. newspaper ever refers to 'Frisco'."

doubtless become a paying proposition. It is a truly wonderful piece of work, a credit alike to municipal enterprise and to those who designed it and carried out the actual work of construction.

HARBOUR TUNNELS

Residents who have been given to visualising a harbour tunnel linking Hongkong and Kowloon will no doubt have read with deep interest the news of the opening by His Majesty the King of the largest underwater highway in the world, connecting Liverpool with Birkenhead. This mammoth project, which has taken no less than nine years to build, consists of a gigantic tube some forty-six feet in diameter, with smaller branches at each end. Between its shafts, the tunnel is actually less than a mile long, but including its two branches it extends to nearly three miles. A most amazing piece of engineering work, it makes provision for four lines of traffic. It is when we come to consider the cost of such projects that doubts arise whether Hongkong could ever afford to embark on a similar venture for the purpose of linking the island with the mainland. The Mersey tunnel has involved an expenditure of no less a sum than eight millions sterling, or, in terms of Hongkong currency, well over $100,000,000—truly a staggering figure. Admittedly, a harbour tunnel sufficient for local needs would not be nearly the length of the Mersey undertaking, nor would there be a need to cater for four lines of traffic. None the less, if it were to possess the necessary attributes of such an underwater highway, including adequate lighting and ventilation, the cost would, we imagine, be quite prohibitive. Moreover, there is not that necessity, economic and otherwise, locally for such a venture which is to be found in the case of the sister ports of Liverpool and Birkenhead. There are at present adequate means of communication between Hongkong and Kowloon, and these have been materially added to by the provision of the vehicular ferry, which enables goods to be quickly transferred from one side of the harbour to the other. This development alone has automatically removed the need for such fanciful schemes as tunnels and cross-harbour bridges. The Mersey project, as has been indicated, stands in quite another category and, by reason of the special factors prevailing, will

SAN FRANCISCO GENERAL STRIKE COLLAPSES

SAN FRANCISCO, JULY 19.

THE GENERAL STRIKE APPEARS TO HAVE COLLAPSED, DESPITE THE EFFORTS OF THE RADICAL LABOUR WING TO PERSUADE THE LESS MILITANT GROUPS TO CONTINUE THE FIGHT.

A fierce battle of words occurred at to-day's meeting of the General Strike Committee and at the conclusion the verdict in favour of calling off the general strike was a mere seventeen votes, 191 to 174. A turnover of nine would have upset a favourable decision.

This hardly reflects the attitude of the men themselves, who have gone back to work, in many cases, on the run, metaphorically.

First reports suggested that the Labour Unions had voted to end the strike. This was interpreted to mean that the longshoremen were going back also, but it was later disclosed that the Strike Committee had merely recommended workers to return, which probably will affect only the sympathy strikes, leaving the longshoremen as before.

STRIKE ORGANISERS' COMMUNIQUE

An official communique issued by the Secretary-General of the Strike Committee indicates that President Roosevelt's National Longshoremen's Board has undertaken that the Maritime Unions shall be fully considered in the arbitration, and that it was as a result of this undertaking that the general strike has been called off.

The General Strike Committee now pledges every resource, financial and moral, towards the termination of the waterfront strike.

RETURNING TO NORMAL

Thousands of sympathy strikers have already returned to work and conditions in the city are rapidly assuming a normal appearance.

The municipal tramways are now working without escorts. It is a strange thing that in the past twenty-four hours they have carried 300,000 passengers—a record for a single day!

FOOD BLOCKADE RAISED

The food blockade has also been raised completely. Countless lorries laden with supplies have arrived in the strike area and it is regarded as a good sign of the temper prevailing that none of these lorries, although moving without escorts, has been molested.

TROOP WITHDRAWAL REQUESTED

The General Strike Committee have issued a further resolution requesting, in the interests of peace and good will, that all State Troops should be withdrawn from all cities for an indefinite period. It was also resolved that the Committee will not be dissolved until the President of the Committee decides.

PUBLIC OPINION. It is generally conceded that the strike has been brought to an end by the force of public opinion, as the citizens of San Francisco revolted against taking orders from self-constituted authorities. The Labour leaders apparently saw their power weakening on all sides and were impressed by the growing public resentment aroused by the discomforts and inconveniences attendant on the strike.

STAMPEDE TO WORK

Practically a stampede to work broke out after the news that the strike was over, while the people not directly concerned but affected in various ways by the paralysis brought about exuberantly discussed the good news in the streets.—Reuter.

POLICE FIRE AT FUGITIVE

SEQUEL TO ALLEGED THEFT

The police were compelled to fire yesterday, it is stated, on a Chinese who was found in suspicious circumstances in a Shatin iron mine.

The man, Foo Yau, a villager of Tai-po Ku, was disabled by a gunshot wound when attempting, it is alleged, to make his escape with an article which he had stolen from the mine. Previously, a warning shot was fired into the air but was not heeded by the fugitive. He was conveyed to the Kowloon Hospital and is being detained in a police ward.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

ENVY MAKES US SEE WHAT WILL SERVE TO ACCUSE OTHERS, AND NOT PERCEIVE WHAT WILL JUSTIFY THEM.—Bishop Wilson.

Through being knocked down by car No. 275, in Des Voeux Road, a Chinese has been admitted to the Government Civil Hospital with leg injuries.

Choi Man-ching, 27, was sentenced to nine months for returning from banishment by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. Defendant was banished only last April for 10 years and was found in Kowloon on July 18.

A life banishment, Leung Wah-po, was sentenced to one year's hard labour by Mr. Hamilton in the Central Police Court this morning for returning to the Colony. It was stated that defendant made applications to return in 1923 and 1925, but both were refused.

Two cases of typhoid and one case of meningitis were reported to the local health authorities on Wednesday.

There will be a Dinner Dance at Repulse Bay Hotel to-day, and a Tea Dance to-morrow at 4.30 p.m. The "Andetonians" Band will be in attendance on both occasions.

To-morrow night H.E. the Governor, who will be accompanied by Capt. R. F. Walter, A.D.C., will be the guest of the Commandant and officers of the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps, to dinner at the Corps Headquarters.

Sentence of six months was passed on Wong Kau, 38, who was charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning for returning from banishment. It was stated that defendant was banished in 1932 for 10 years and was arrested on July 8.

ANOTHER FIGHT BREWING

FORCIBLE OPENING OF OREGON

NATIONAL GUARD CALLED IN

Portland, July 19.

Another test of strength between strikers and military forces threatens to develop in Portland, Oregon.

The Governor of the State has decided to support forcible measures for the opening of the port.

It is indicated that the Governor has ordered the mobilization of the National Guard "for the protection of life and property in the event of a strike riot."

It is stated that the Governor was notified by the waterfront employers that they intend to proceed with the wholesale loading of vessels and with the forcible opening of the port for commerce.

The Mayor and other authorities informed the Government that they will be unable to cope with the situation which will be produced by any attempt forcibly to resume the loading and discharging of cargo in the strike-bound waters of Portland.—Reuter.

COURT COMMENT ON CASE

REMARK WITHDRAWN BY MAGISTRATE

A withdrawal of a comment he made at the previous proceeding in the case against Francis Lee, charged with having driven an M. G. Midget belonging to Mr. B. A. Proulx, without a licence, and without permission of the owner, was made by Mr. Hamilton this morning.

The Magistrate said there had been a great deal of misunderstanding. He was misled by certain information he received, and he now thought he was somewhat unfair to the Lee family in criticising their conduct.

Mr. Hugh Jones, who is appearing for Francis Lee, said that the remarks were taken to heart by the Lee family, and he was glad they had been withdrawn.

Mr. Hamilton further said that if there seemed any reflection on the firm, he would state that there were no such reflection.

Mr. Hamilton adjourned the case to July 24, remarking that Dr. Valentine would give evidence with regard to defendant's condition.

ATTEMPTED THEFT OF PURSE

MAN GETS A MONTH'S IMPRISONMENT

The attempted theft of a purse from the pocket of an unemployed seaman led to Ko Kji, 31, unemployed, being sentenced to one month's imprisonment by Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Police Court this morning.

Detective-Sergeant Goodwin said the complainant, Tong Ying, has just arrived by the Mongkok ferry, and was walking along under the verandah in Comaught Road Central when he noticed the defendant and two other men following him. Defendant drew level on his left side, and when he attempted to take the purse, the complainant grabbed his hand. The other two men ran away.

Defendant alleged that previously the complainant in company with several others had demanded tea money from him.

BRITAIN'S AIR POLICY

IMPORTANT STATEMENT BY MR. BALDWIN

RESTIVENESS IN EUROPE

London, July 19.

The Government's air policy was to-day the subject of an important Commons statement by Mr. Baldwin. Ever since the war, he said, successive British Governments had actively pursued the policy of international disarmament. In their efforts to further this policy, by example as well as precept, they had reduced their own armaments to a dangerously low level, in the hope that others would follow their lead.

But the disarmament negotiations had been drawn out longer than anyone anticipated. The Disarmament Conference opened in February, 1932, and has pursued its labours ever since.

MISGIVINGS

During these eight and half years, misgivings had arisen from time to time in many quarters at the increasing accumulation of deficiencies in their defensive services, particularly in view of the increased expenditure on armaments in many other countries.

Most of the leaders of all the three parties, said Mr. Baldwin, were familiar with the position in its general outline, not only from knowledge acquired while in office, but also from the three-party conference on disarmament in 1931, in the privacy of which all facts of the situation were disclosed in confidence.

GOVERNMENT HOPES

The Government's policy remained one of international disarmament, and they had by no means abandoned hope of reaching some limitation. They were even now making fresh efforts to break the virtual deadlock that exists at Geneva.

Unfortunately, however, particularly in view of past experience, they could not count on an early result, and in view of their commitments under the League Covenant and the Locarno Treaty, the many symptoms of unrest in Europe and elsewhere, and the failure of other Governments to follow their example by comparable reductions, they had for some time felt that the time had come when the possibility of keeping their armaments at their present low level must be reconsidered in the absence of comparable reductions of other Powers. This was the situation which the leaders of all parties had foreseen must sooner or later be reached.

R. A. F. NEEDS

In the light of these considerations, the whole question of Imperial defence and the part to be played in it by the three defence Services had been for some months under review by the Government. So far as the Royal Air Force was concerned it was a case of the need for further development, which had time and again been postponed, in addition to the need for making good the deficiencies.

They had come to the conclusion that they could not delay, any longer, measures which would in the course of the next few years bring their Air Forces to a level more closely approaching that of their nearest neighbours.

Mr. Baldwin emphasised that many of the factors which had influenced their decision were still fluctuating and were liable to change. This applied equally to the future of disarmament and the whole international situation. Consequently their defensive position would have to be kept constantly under review, and they reserved the right to modify or adjust the programme in the light of new factors that might arise.

DETAILS OF INCREASES

"Subject to this caveat," said Mr. Baldwin, "we have decided on a programme covering the present and four ensuing years, under which the Royal Air Force will be increased by 41 new squadrons, including those already announced in the 1934 programme. Of these, 33 will be allotted to Home defence, raising the existing 42 squadrons at Home to a total of 75 squadrons. The remaining squadrons are for service with the fleet air arm, or abroad.

"The rate at which this programme can be carried out will in five years must depend upon various considerations, including finance, which I cannot specify now. We hope, however, so to space out the work as not to make any unmanageable addition to the estimates in any one year."

"SAFE" DRIVING

ISSUE RAISED IN TRAFFIC CASE.

H. L. Decker, of the Texas Company (China) Ltd., was summoned before Mr. Hamilton this morning, for driving a car at a dangerous speed in Hennessy Road and Fleming Road on June 28.

It was alleged that defendant was driving at 40 miles an hour. Mr. Decker said he always drove safely. He was not watching his speedometer at the time. He had been driving for 22 years and had never met with an accident.

Mr. Hamilton cautioning defendant, said it was impossible to drive at 40 miles an hour in Hennessy Road owing to the "jumpy" nature of the road, and that he was driving at 22 years and had never met with an accident.

Wong Kam-chuen was fined $10 for driving at 35 miles an hour in Main Street, Shaukiwan, towards Repulse Bay.

Li Shok-sham was also fined $10 for driving at 30 miles an hour in Main Street.

IMPORTANT FOURTH TEST BEGINS AT LEEDS TO-DAY

England Has Not Yet Won At Headingley

STRAIN OF OVERSEAS CRICKET TOURS

SURREY DISCOVERS NEW BATSMAN

EXCITING FINISHES IN COUNTY ENGAGEMENTS

In the authorities' good time the cricket public will be given such information as is necessary and of interest respecting the meeting of the Imperial Cricket Conference at Lord's, writes "Old Ebor" in the Observer. It is understood a provisional programme of future exchanges of visits with overseas teams was drawn up.

This is to be considered at a meeting to be held at Lord's on July 25, which is the first day of the Gentlemen v. Players annual contest at the headquarters of the game.

The programme of interchange of visits last drawn up ends with the appearance of the South Africans in England next summer. There has been a feeling in cricket circles that the last programme placed rather too heavy a demand upon leading players in the home country.

Abundant material exists to send out several teams under the M.C.C. colours each winter, but not to play Tests. These demand the best strength the country can select. Experience in the last few years has shown how great is the physical strain involved in continuous match-play and travelling from one end of the year to another.

Even at the present moment it is fairly obvious that the visit to India last winter, following on consecutive Dominion and home seasons, has had a deteriorating effect on some players' form. A reduction in these tours, or a reasonable time for rest and recuperation between them, will not be welcome to players themselves, and of course, there will be no weakening of the affection with which cricket relations with all parts of the Empire are regarded.

L. B. W. CONTROVERSY.

When information as to the future of the L.B.W. rule is forthcoming after next month's meeting, it will interest vast numbers of the cricket community to find, if any clue is given as to the general view held, not only in home circles but also abroad, on the long-beforcet controversy. It is known that at a meeting held two or three weeks ago some of the leaders of the game at Lord's were convinced that an amended L.B.W. rule ought to be given a serious trial in first-class cricket at home, and if I am not mistaken, it was decided to recommend that the trial should be given next season. It is an old, but still a vital, controversy of very special importance at a time like the present, when types of both batting and bowling come almost fiercely under discussion.

It suggests a new era in Surrey batting to find a left-hander, as Sandham's opening partner. I refer to Fishlock (L. B.), who filled that position against Somerset and scored 63 in a style which apparently encouraged the belief that further success in the role awaits him.

Fishlock is probably better known among the sports-loving crowds of the metropolis as a professional football player. In the Millwall team; better, in fact, as such than when he played as an amateur with Dulwich Hamlet and with the England Amateur Association team. He had only four innings with the Surrey team last season and made 27 as his highest score in three matches. He is credited with some ability as a slow bowler, but I find that his one wicket cost over 60 runs.

WHY NOT GREGORY?

Among batsmen with repeated successes placed to credit it is not strange that we seldom hear of Gregory, of the Surrey eleven, mentioned as worthy the attention of our England team selectors? He was included in the team sent out by the M.C.C. to India last winter, and his selection then took some of the critics by surprise.

Possibly the uninformed consider Gregory to be older than he really is; his appearance suggests he is more than thirty-one, which is his age. But the point of this note is that the batting of Gregory this season places him among the highest in first-class cricket. He scored what is described as a very fine innings of 172 for Surrey in the match with Somerset, but previously he had accounted for a contribution of 180. He is one of the growing army of batsmen who have scored a thousand runs this season; further than this, he has already totalled about the like number of runs that he was credited with (over 1,200) in all Surrey's matches last season. Gregory can also be useful as a slow bowler, though, so far as my observation goes, only as a change and then not for long. Believe me, there are more than a few batsmen recommended for attention with qualities in no way superior to those of Robert Gregory.

TONIC CRICKET.

The break in the weather has come in time to prevent heart-break among bowlers. It also has provided a few splendid finishes to matches that had appeared likely to end in tame and aimless draws. What could be finer in the way of thrills, to those fond of or in need of such tonics, than the victory Lancashire achieved over the Nottinghamshire team at Trent Bridge? Two minutes only remained for play when, with the first ball of the last possible over, Lancs won by 101 runs.

Yet, two days earlier, they presented the appearance of a beaten side. Ernest Tydesley, the young amateur, W. H. Lister, with bat and Heywood with the ball had great shares in the victory; but it is also a pleasure to note that the Lancastrian's genial captain, Peter Wadsworth, played a real leader's part. Gloucestershire's win over Essex by 8 runs was an even greater transformation.

But when Hammond elects to give himself a birthday present of 164 unfinished, and of the best, why, one can only be sorry for opposing bowlers.

BENEFIT MATCHES.

There are not many benefit matches in the season's first-class list. One that has already taken place is that set aside for Duckworth when Surrey visited Old Trafford.

The visit of the Nottinghamshire eleven to Leeds will be the occasion of the benefit of Maurice Leyland. It will be recognised that Leyland is a cricketer to whom the public outside Yorkshire look with admiration, while inside the county the feeling is warm and intimate.

These benefits are organised in Yorkshire with great enthusiasm. Given fine weather for the match, it is probable the £4,000 realised for the late Roy Kilner will be equalled. Other benefits to come are for Cornford (W.) in the match at Hove against Warwickshire on July 28, and for Hammond at Bristol on August 4. It is safe to say there will be a big bank holiday crowd to see Gloucestershire's match with Hampshire begin on that day.

AUSTRALIAN CYCLIST

Land's End—John O' Groats Record Attacked

Hubert Opperman, the great little Australian cyclist has arrived in London.

It is his first visit to England, and he is full of eagerness to "get on with the job" of attacking the road record from Land's End to John O' Groats.

He is not under any impression that this is an easy record, and he means to establish himself somewhere on the course and spend several weeks training over the actual route.

It is most unlikely, therefore, that he will interrupt this preparation for the purpose of taking part in any track races or similar diversions. When the record job is finished he will return to Australia without delay.

Don Bradman, the wonder batsman, in action. Everybody is wondering if he will emulate his 1930 feat when he plays in the fourth Test match at Leeds to-day. Four years ago he scored 334 against England on the Yorkshire ground.

Tribute To George Duckworth

LETTER FROM D. R. JARDINE

George Duckworth, whose benefit match, Lancashire v. Surrey, was held at Old Trafford last night, has received a letter from D. R. Jardine, in which the former England captain stated:

"I have just heard from Surrey that they are very keen not to disturb the composition of this side. It is difficult at first for a new skipper, and when I applied for a place I felt bound to tell them I was not in practice and was playing on your account, and that I would understand it if they would rather not have me.

"Well, they won a match at Whitsun, which is quite above the ordinary Surrey form, so I suppose they want to stick to it if possible. Anyway even for you, I don't think it would be fair to insist on a place. I put off a match at Oxford in order to play.

"Well, George, there is no man who deserves a better benefit than you. You know I don't say things for effect. "I hope, then, that you get the good luck you so richly deserved. Had I played was going to have asked you if I might take a collection-box round, a thing I have never done before.

"I have sent £5 as my contribution to the Secretary of the Lancashire Club."

JOCKEY DIES AFTER FALL

THROWN WHEN MOUNT HITS RAILS

R. James, the jockey, who was thrown from his mount, Good Fish, in the Hurn Selling Welter Handicap at Beverley, has died in hospital as the result of the injuries he received.

His horse came into contact with the rails rounding the turn into the straight and in falling James struck his head. James had a serious riding accident last year, when at Stockton his mount Glomach slipped in the Roseberry Plate. In 1927 he broke a wrist at Newmarket when Arran Chief came in a race.

He was born at Dunsford, near Exeter, and rode with success at small meetings in the West of England. As the result of this he became apprenticed to the late Walter Briggs.

After completing indentures James became light-weight-jockey to Lord George Dundas's stable, and remained with him until last year. He also rode a good deal for R. J. Colling's stable, principally on Northern race-courses. He rode 14 winners last year, but his best season was in 1928 when he won 52 races, finishing eighth in the winning jockeys' list. He gained many successes in India, where he rode during the winter months.

RUTH IMPROVING

SAYS WILL PLAY ON SUNDAY

New York, July 19.

"Babe" Ruth, New York Yankees baseball player, is so rapidly improving from the injuries sustained during a match yesterday, when he was severely struck on the left leg from a drive by Gehrig, that the doctor now says he hopes he will have to keep the "Babe" in bed only two days longer.

Ruth is emphatic about the date of his next appearance on the baseball field, and says he intends to play on Sunday.

Meanwhile the Yankees succeeded in beating Chicago Red Sox, and the Giants went further ahead with a win against Cincinnati Reds, whom they blanked out. Cleveland Indians nosed out Boston White Sox, and the Senators suffered a similar fate at the hands of St. Louis.

Among the winners in the National League were Brooklyn Dodgers, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.

INTERNATIONAL SOCCER

All-India Side Defeat S. Africa

Played in half a gale at Curries Fountain before a crowd of 4,000 the second football Test between All-India and South Africa resulted in a victory for the visitors by 2-0. The first goal came after 20 minutes, Ramanna tipping the ball into the net.

The second half began in a sharp shower of rain but even with the wind the South Africans were no match for the speedy visitors. Their goal seemed to bear a charm of life and the only scoring was by Lakshminarayan, who shot from well out, putting India two ahead. The game ended with only India in the picture in a heavy down-pour.

Lancashire Come A Cropper

LOSE HEAVILY TO MIDDLESEX

London, July 19.

Lancashire, now chief challengers to Sussex for the county cricket championship, came an awful cropper at Lord's to-day, when they were beaten by Middlesex by ten wickets.

Lancashire made two dismal visits to the wicket, being sent back the first time for 144, and the second for 193.

The wicket was obviously none too good, for Middlesex were unable to bat too freely. However, they found it possible to declare at 202 for nine wickets, and were thus left to score 47 to win, which was accomplished without loss.—Reuter.

C.B.A. ENTERTAIN C.R.C.

Craigiepower and the Kowloon Cricket Club, two of the leading teams in the "C" Division of the lawn tennis league meet this afternoon on the latter's courts, and the fixture promises some entertaining tennis.

Central British will welcome Chinese Recreation Club, and are looking forward to the match with rare confidence. The improvement in the C.B.A. has been a feature of this season's tennis in the "C" Division, and the Kowloon club are looking forward to giving their Chinese rivals a good game.

South China, leading challengers to the C.R.C., should win comfortably against the Indian Recreation Club whom they entertain, and points are indicated for the Kowloon, Kowloon Dock and Kowloon Bowling Green, all of whom are on their own courts.

The full programme is:

REVERSE FOR THE C.B.A.

Heavily Beaten By South China

The Central British Association sustained an unexpectedly heavy defeat when they visited South China on Wednesday, losing by 7½ sets to 1½.

F. Angus and J. Ferguson won a set for the C.B.A., and went close to capturing a second. Gurevitch and J. King secured the other half point.

WILL BRADMAN REPEAT 1930 ACHIEVEMENT?

HOME TEAM HAS NO REASON TO BE DESPONDENT

ANOTHER DRAW IS INDICATED

With hopes buoyed high in the knowledge that not only have they, like Australia, won a Test, but that they had much the better of a drawn game in the third match at Manchester a fortnight ago, England will take the field at Leeds to-day to make a bold effort to record the first English Test victory on the Headingley ground.

So far the honours at Leeds have definitely gone to Australia. Of the half a dozen matches played there since 1899, they have won two and figured in honourable drawn games in the remainder.

To the followers of the game throughout the world one of the chief questions to-day will be whether Don Bradman can accomplish anything like repeating his triumph at Leeds in 1930, when he scored 334.

PROBABLE CONDITIONS.

As nothing has been heard to the contrary, it is to be presumed that the weather has been fine, and that a wicket in the form of a batsman's paradise has been made. Such conditions make the outcome almost inevitably a draw.

Both England and Australia are so strongly endowed with batsmen, and as neither have attacks beyond the average—that is on hard wickets—it seems that without the assistance of an affected wicket, neither team can expect to win.

Even forcibly robbed of Sutcliffe and Allen, England have no need to be despondent. Sutcliffe's fine personality of course, will be a great loss, while his experience alone is worth much. But there are other batsmen, who, judged on current county form, should be capable of filling the breach.

IMPORTANCE OF TOSS.

Allen's final selection was by no means a certainty. In fact, general surprise was caused by his inclusion in the fifteen from which the team to-day will be chosen. There seems no reason to doubt that Nichols will prove equally as good as Allen, while the selectors have always Farnes, who has been tried, and not found wanting.

But as the teams will not be announced until a few hours before the match, it is a little difficult from this distance, to attempt to forecast.

It is not original to observe that the winning of the toss will provide a big advantage, but it remains perfectly true. At least it gives the team which bats first a fine opportunity of making themselves immune from defeat, and the side not so lucky can hope only for a kindly glance from the Clerk of the Weather.

The match is of vital importance, and should one team win, it will almost certainly carry with it the right of holding the "Ashes." The countries are on level terms, each with a win, and the other on counter drawn.

PREVIOUS MATCHES.

Anything like a repetition of the 1930 match will at least provide some entertaining cricket. That encounter was one of the most historic of all the series.

To England's score of 391, Australia responded with 568, the highest total ever made in Test cricket at Leeds. Of these the one and only Don Bradman scored 334, thus establishing an individual Test record. Naturally there was no chance of a finish, although England definitely had the worst of a drawn game, losing three wickets in their second innings for 98 runs.

In the course of the six Test matches which have been played at Leeds, 5,549 runs have been scored, giving an average of 924 runs per match. The highest match aggregate is 1,141 made in 1921, and next to this comes 1,052 in 1930, 1,042 in 1926 and 1,015 in 1905. The number of wickets which have fallen in these matches is 186, giving an average of a fraction under 30 runs per wicket.

Here are the detailed results of the games played at Leeds.

Season	Eng.	Aust.	Result
1899	220	172	"no wicket down"
1905	12	256	drawn
1905	301	108	"5 wickets down"

1905	112	105	Aust. won
1905	87	207	"130 runs"
1921	230	407	"7 wickets down"
1926	223	519	Aust. won 219
1926	234	494	"5 wickets down"

NOT DESERTING TENNIS

MRS. MOODY AND HER FUTURE

London. Several American tennis players have been in the news lately. In the first place the Californian Lawn Tennis Association announced that Mrs. Helen Wills Moody would probably not play first class tennis again but would devote herself to painting, at which she is already expert.

This remark, which came to Europe via the Paris "Mid", no sooner got into circulation than it was promptly ridiculed by Mrs. Moody herself. She said she could not understand the Californian L. T. A. assuming that she was deserting tennis. There was no truth at all in the rumour. She declared she intended to re-start playing just as soon as she felt fit enough to do so.

FRANKIE PARKER. Roscoe Maples, President of the Northern California Tennis Association, also denied the retirement story, saying that he knew positively Mrs. Moody would resume lawn tennis as soon as she could. "The date of her return rests in the lap of the gods," he concluded.

Another player who will not be seen in action outside of his own country this year is Frankie Parker, the 17-year-old tennis prodigy who is ranked eighth in the current American ranking list. He was to have crossed the Atlantic this summer, but now it has been decided not to send him.

Mercer Beasley, the famous American coach, who controls Parker's tennis movements, thinks that Parker is too young and must gain more experience before he plays in England.

"Frank will not go abroad this year," Beasley said. "He will at least have that to look forward to."

CRAIGENGOWER LAWN-BOWLS TEAMS CLASH AGAIN

IN BIG LEAGUE GAME TO-MORROW

Result May Make The Title Safe For K. B. G. C.

INDIAN RECREATION CLUB DUE TO VISIT AUSTIN ROAD

The lawn bowls league programme for to-morrow is of unusual interest. The Craigengower teams in the first division clash for the second time and many are wondering if the second string can repeat their early season performance and beat the seniors.

Should they do so, and the Bowling Green negotiate the Kowloon Dock, the latter will be very safely entrenched at the top of the table.

In the second division, Indian Recreation Club, the leaders, visit Kowloon Bowling Green, and although they should be capable of winning, they are presented with no easy task, the Austin Road team revealing a penchant for upsetting the best of sides on their own green.

The full programme, together with some of the teams, follows.

BOWLS TITLES

Gill Wins Easily From Simpson

CLOSE MATCHES

Several matches in the Singles Championship of the Lawn Bowls competition were decided yesterday. The biggest victory was obtained by W. Gill, of the Craigengower Cricket Club, who easily accounted for W. C. Simpson, of the Kowloon Cricket Club, by 21 shots to two on the 10th head. Gill scored regularly on 14 heads, and the match terminated on the 10th head. He now meets L. R. Whant on the Talook R.C. green next Wednesday.

On the same green, R. Duncan, of the Kowloon Bowling Green, defeated C. Strange, of the Portuguese player winning on the 22nd head by 21 shots to 16. The winner scored on 11 heads, recording three threes, while the loser registered two threes.

On the Police R.C. green J. S. Landolt, of the Craigengower C.C. met a club-mate in J. Cavanagh and won by 21-18. The winner secured a commanding lead at the end of the 12th head when his score was 15 shots to five but he failed to hold the advantage during the latter stages. He scored only one shot whilst his opponent chalked up twelve and on the 20th head Cavanagh led by 18-17. Landolt qualified for the next round by scoring a four on the 21st head.

F. J. Jones and A. W. Grimmit eliminated M. J. Medina and A. E. Coates from the Pairs Championship by 27 shots to seven, the match being played on the Talook R.C. green.

SINGAPORE TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

ROY SMITH AND WISE AGAIN IN DOUBLES FINAL

Singapore, July 12.

The Singapore L.T.A. championships were carried a stage further yesterday afternoon when Chua Choon Leong and Yong Loong Chong and Roy F. Smith and N. S. Wise qualified for the men's doubles final.

S. Abed and W. J. M. Warden were always the superior pair in first set of their match against Chua Choon Leong and Yong Loong Chong. They broke through Chua Leong's first service and held this advantage throughout the set to win at 6-4.

Abed and Warden combined splendidly. Abed brought off several winning drives down the centre of the court and both players vollied well.

In the next set Loong Chong improved considerably, and gave his partner much better support, with the result that the Chinese pair quickly ran to a lead of 6-0. Warden, whose play had fallen off considerably and who netted several enay returns, staged a recovery and he and Abed fought back hard to take the sixth game, but lost the seventh after deuce had been called.

The first four games of the final set were hotly contested but the Chinese pair lasted better, and superior work at the net and overhead gave them the set and match by 6-2.

EUROPEANS' VICTORY.

Roy Smith and N. S. Wise played great tennis to beat Lim Bong Soo and Chong Thut Pitt, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4. Both men were in brilliant form at the net, and rarely missed anything in the air. The honours of the day went to Wise, who has seldom played better.

Roy Smith and his partner settled down, quicker than the Chinese pair, and took the first two games without much difficulty, but Bong Soo and Thut Pitt won the next three to take the lead. Smith and Wise recovered the lead at 4-3, but then Wise lost his own service. However, the European pair, thanks to being steeper, took the next two games to win the first set.

The games in the second set went with the service until five-all was called, and then the Chinese broke through to win the seventh, but the Europeans retaliated to level the scores again.

It was then that one saw the real form of Lim Bong Soo, the Malayan singles champion. His side-line drives were perfectly placed and controlled, and gave neither Smith nor Wise any chance, and, with Chong Thut Pitt playing well above himself, they took the next games to square the match.

THUTT PITT TIRES.

Wise and Smith were the fresher pair when the final set started and although they lost the first game they took the next three in a row.

Thut Pitt was obviously very weary and the majority of the work fell to Bong Soo whose finely-placed drives and steadiness overhead won the fifth game for his side. Smith and Wise took the next game but threw away the sixth owing to faulty overhead work.

The Chinese pulled up to 4-5 on Bong Soo's service, but with Smith serving extremely well, Wise brought off four perfect smashes to win the set and match for his side.

It was certainly one of the finest doubles matches seen on the S.C.C. for some time and thoroughly appreciated by the large crowd of spectators.

H.K. Ho and K. F. Lui (S.C.A.A.) beat Whitley and Blyth 6-1; beat Angus and Ferguson 7-5; beat Gurevitch and King 6-2.

P. K. Kwok and C. N. Tsang (S.C.A.A.) beat Whitley and Blyth 4-1; lost to Angus and Ferguson 4-6; drew with Gurevitch and King 6-6.

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

ard, but she did take it to her mother.

"Of course it isn't true that How-ard asked her to marry him, Mother," she said, "but Jane by this time believes it's true. You know how she is."

"It's a very cruel letter. It sounds a little like 'East Lynne.' Are you going to write to her?"

"I don't know, but I believe I shall. She's so alone. Do you think I ought not to write?"

Mrs. Lowe was puzzled for an adequate reply. "Amy," she said at last, "if you feel you ought to write to Jane, go ahead and do it, only do be careful what you say, and don't start a long, painful controversy which will lead to nothing except to keep you unsettled and on edge."

Amy's letter was much shorter than Jane's. She did not take it to her mother to read.

"Dear Darling Jane," (she wrote) "If there is ever anything in the world I can do to show you that I did not intend to make you unhappy or to make up to you for the way you feel, I will do it. Anything. I am always your friend, no matter what you think, Amy."

And, having written this, she cried almost as frenziedly as Jane had done.

CHURCH WILL GO TO BEACHES

SYDNEY ARCHBISHOP'S DECISION

If the beaches will not come to the church, the church will go to the beaches. This is the challenge just issued by Archbishop Mowll, the new Archbishop of Sydney, reports Austral News. His clergy are backing him in his courageous decision and mayors of seaside municipalities have been canvassed on the matter. Some restrictions are indicated but the Archbishop is determined to override all obstacles.

FOREIGN LENDING BY BRITAIN

Mr. Neville Chamberlain Indicates Concession

London, July 19.

In the course of a statement made in response to a question as to whether he would consider relaxing the present restrictions on foreign lending, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, said that the actual amount of foreign lending at the present time would, in no circumstances, be great and that it was easy to form exaggerated views as to the effect of the embargo.

As regards the future, he was satisfied that it would not be in the public interest that the existing restrictions should be removed at present, but even under present conditions, the Government would be ready to consider particular cases, especially those falling under the following heads:—
Firstly, sterling issues by a country within the sterling bloc where the loan was required to increase the sterling assets of that country and so to minimise fluctuations in exchange.

Secondly, sterling issues on behalf of, borrower where the proceeds were calculated mainly to produce a direct benefit to British industry.
